President Starts U. S. Global Aid Program Rolling

RFC Ordered To Advance 1.1 Billion Dollars

Carrier Task Force Will Visit Norway

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — President Truman started the $6,098,000,000 global aid program rolling today by ordering the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance $1,105,000,000 at once.

This will release United States dollars, reconstruction supplies and in some cases arms to 15 European countries, Turkey, Western Germany, Trieste and China—all areas where the administration is determined to keep Communism out.

At the same time it was announced that a United States carrier task force will be sent late this month to Norway, in the strategically important Scandinavian area of reported new Russian pressure.

Both developments came as high government officials gave increased attention to the question of military backing for the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program—hub of the entire foreign aid system.

Billion For European Recovery

Mr. Truman signed an order telling RFC to make these sums available:

$1,000,000,000 for the European recovery program (ERP). Additional funds, up to the authorized $4,300,000,000 limit, must be voted separately by Congress.

$50,000,000 for military assistance to Greece and Turkey. Congress has authorized a total of $275,000,000 for these countries.

$50,000,000 for China. Congress has sanctioned up to $463,000,000 to help the Chinese government, including $125,000,000 for direct military aid in the war against the Chinese Communists.

$5,000,000 for Trieste—one-fourth of the total approved by Congress for the strife-riddled "free territory" between Italy and Yugoslavia.

No ERP Supplies On Way Yet

The State Department said ERP supplies for Western Europe are being collected at many ports for shipment as soon as possible.

It corrected, however, an earlier announcement saying the first such supplies already are on their way in three ships to France and Italy.

These cargoes, Press Officer Roger Tubby said, were purchased from the $522,000,000 stopgap fund voted last December for France, Italy and Austria.

The warcraft going to Scandinavia are the 27,000-ton Essex class carrier, Valley Forge; the 6,000-ton antiaircraft cruiser Fresno; and four destroyers. They will visit Bergen, Norway, from April 29 to May 2, after three of them pay a visit to Southern England from April 18 to 26.

Their Norwegian trip, the Navy said, will be "in continuation of the Navy's policy of making visits to friendly countries for the promotion of good will and the furtherance of friendly relations."

Mediterranean Visits Revealed

It was in similar terms that the Navy described last year's visits of United States carriers and other war craft to Greek, Turkish and other Mediterranean points of conflict between Russian and the West.

Supreme Court Declines To Hear Rubinstein

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The Supreme Court declined today to hear an appeal from Serge M. Rubinstein, one-time Wall Street "boy wonder" who has been convicted of draft dodging.

The decision left the Russian-born internatoional financier in prison to finish out a two and one-half year term. It also affirmed a $50,000 fine imposed when the reputed multi-millionaire was ordered to prison on charges of making false statements to his draft board.

Rubinstein had got himself deferred in the draft on grounds that he was essential to the war effort of a number of companies in which he was an official. The government proved to a jury's satisfaction that his claim was phoney.

Russian Atomic Plan Tossed Out By Committee

Abandons Its Effort To Agree On Control

LAKE SUCCESS, April 5 (AP) — A United Nations committee today discarded Russia's atomic plan as inadequate and abandoned, in failure, its effort to agree on world-wide atomic control.

By a vote of 9 to 2, the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission decided formally to throw out Russia's proposals.

The commission is expected to meet later this month. Its two main committees, the working committee and the control group, have reached what several delegates called a dead end. The commission, and eventually the United Nations Assembly in Paris next fall, must decide what comes next.

USSR Wants Bombs Scrapped

The core of the Russian plan centered around a provision that the United States immediately scrap its bombs before any international control system could be set up. The Soviet Union also said there could not be unlimited inspection inside her borders in any hunt for pact violators.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, and Vassily A. Tarasenko, of the Soviet Ukraine, voted against dropping the Russian plan.

Tarasenko charged that what he called militaristic and reactionary circles in the United States are trying to break up attempts to control atomic energy.

Delegates of the United States, France, Britain, China, Belgium, Argentina, Syria, Colombia and Canada voted that there is no longer any use talking about the Russian plan.

Proposals Called Inadequate

The majority also approved a statement that Russian proposals ignore the existing technical knowledge of the problem of atomic energy control; do not provide an adequate basis for the effective international control of atomic energy and the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons; and therefore do not conform to the assignment laid down by the first United Nations Assembly.

The Atomic Energy Commission was created by a unanimous vote in London in January, 1946. It was told to seek a world control scheme. The commission met on June 14, 1946.

Bernard M. Baruch, for the United States, proposed a world atomic development authority which would regulate atomic energy for peace.

Baruch opposed any veto on atomic punishments. He said the Man, 43, Charges His Father Stole Wife's Affection

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 5. (AP)—A 43-year-old son today sued his well-to-do 61-year-old father for $200,000, charging his wife's affections were stolen by the older man.

William Consiglio brought an alienation of affections suit in Superior Court against his father, Louis, president and treasurer of the Interstate Buses Corporation.

The son contended the affections of his 33-year-old wife Phyllis were "unjustly gained" by the father and that the older man "enticed" her to live with him.

Order Restored In Egyptian City After 20 Killed

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, April 5.—(AP)—A strike by 3,000 policemen in this great port city today unleashed a reign of terror by the underworld in which 20 persons were killed and more than 100 buildings looted and set on fire.

Unofficial estimates said property damage would amount to millions of dollars. No official figure was available.

Order was restored by nightfall. A 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. curfew was imposed on the city and hundreds of troops patrolled the streets.

In Cairo tonight the government issued an ultimatum for striking police to return to work tomorrow or be dismissed. It applied to police in Alexandria, Cairo and in the Suez Canal region, which were also affected by the strike.

Strikers' spokesmen in the capital said they would not meet demands of the ultimatum. Army riflemen surrounded strikers' headquarters. Nearly 1,000 police officers, men and cadets remained inside. Troops refused to let anyone enter or leave.

The strike resulted in demands from opposition quarters that Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha resign. The police asked higher pay and better working conditions.

Nokrashy Pasha supplemented the government ultimatum with a special warning to non-commissioned police in Alexandria. He said military tribunals would try those who urged participation in the rioting.

Troops were called out when the police struck. Seven police strikers and 13 civilians died as the soldiers' guns blazed during the day. Official tabulations showed 40 persons seriously wounded.

Nokrashy Pasha hurried here by plane from Cairo, but was unable to persuade police representatives to meet with him to discuss mediation.

600,000 Men In Russian Navy, Sullivan Reports

ATLANTA, April 5. (INS)—Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan said tonight that there are about 600,000 men in the Russian navy — more than 100,000 above the total United States naval personnel.

The Navy Chief also indicated that American naval forces at present are far from able to carry out an effective defense against Russia's newest submarines.

Sullivan, in Atlanta to deliver an Army Day address, spoke at a news conference.

Greek Efforts Fail

ATHENS, April 5 (AP)—The foreign ministers of Greece and Turkey said tonight preliminary Greek efforts to develop a bloc of Mediterranean basin countries had not been successful.

Krupp Officials Acquitted; Ruling May Set Precedent

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 5 (AP)—A United States tribunal today acquitted Germany's gun maker, Alfried Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, and 11 other directors of the Krupp munitions combine of plotting aggressive war.

The defendants still face two other war crimes charges—plunder and spoilation of conquered nations, and deportation, exploitation and abuse of slave labor.

Originally they were indicted on four counts. The two on which they were acquitted charged them with committing crimes against peace and participating in a conspiracy against peace. The court did not announce its reasons for dismissing the two charges.

It was the first ruling on whether a German industrialist can be held criminally guilty for helping Adolf Hitler build his powerful war machine. The directors of the giant I. G. Farben chemical combine also were accused, like the Krupp directors, with plotting aggressive war. No verdict has been reached yet in the Farben trial.

Friedrich Flick and Bernhard Weiss, the only German industrialists thus far convicted in war crimes proceedings were not charged with crimes against peace.

Thus today's ruling in the Krupp case may establish a major precedent for dealing with industrialists who helped arm Germany.

Presiding Judge H. C. Anderson, Jackson, Tenn., announced the acquittal decisions after a four-hour conference of the court. The reasoning behind the verdict may not be known until the formal opinion is made public April 19.

Fighting, Shots Punctuate Coal Pension Strike

Lewis Gives No Sign Of Obeying Directive

PITTSBURGH, April 5 (AP) — Swinging fists and the crackle of pistol shots fired into the air today marked the 22-day national soft coal pension walkout.

Some 500 roving pickets resorted to forceful measures in West Virginia, the leading bituminous coal producing state, to advise non-union strip mines to remain closed.

This state's 120,000 United Mine Workers joined the rest of the 400,000 unionists in the nation in ignoring a government order to return to work.

Truck Driver Bruised

A truck driver reported he was bruised in a free-for-all between 100 pickets and employes of a non-union strip mine of the Grafton Coal Company. C. E. Compton, president of the firm, said "three or four" shots were fired as pickets stormed a tipple and disabled it by ripping out electric controls.

Compton added that pickets told employes "we will return to blow this place sky high" if it does not cease operations. Fifty to sixty truckloads of coal were dumped and tires on some trucks were cut, he claimed.

Barbour County Prosecutor W. T. George, Jr., disclosed steps were taken to issue warrants naming pickets in the clash, which occurred at Bear Mountain. Compton declared "both the company and its employes are determined to work."

Police Sent To Trouble Area

State police were dispatched to Bear Mountain and other West Virginia areas visited by the roving pickets.

The state troopers reported 300 to 400 pickets appeared at the Johnson Coal Company property near McWhorter, W. Va., and attempted to pull several workers from a railroad car they were loading. About a dozen men suffered bruises in the resulting fist-fight.

Quiet prevailed at other bituminous pits accross the nation. The wailing work call of a siren at a United States Steel Corporation mine at Bridgesville, Pa., brought no coal diggers. It was the same story in Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama, Virginia, and other coal states, big and little.

Lewis Remains Silent

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Stonily silent, John L. Lewis gave no immediate sign tonight of obeying a court order to end the nation-wide walkout of soft coal miners.

At the end of the 22nd day of the walkout, which was punctuated by violence in West Virginia, United Mine Workers lawyers announced they planned no legal moves tonight.

They had conferred all day, preparing for whatever legal steps Lewis desires to take.

Military Wants Network Of Bases In Aleutians

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — America's armed forces want an extensive network of Army, Navy and air bases on the United States islands nearest Soviet Russia.

The area is in the Aleutian island chain stretching westward from Alaska.

While the services only said "routine" when asked for explanation of their moves to get control of the area, the islands' dual role in World War II makes the aim obvious. They were:

(A) The scene of the one Japanese thrust at the American mainland.

(B) The base from which retaliatory strikes were launched at the Japanese Kruiles, now under Russian control.

Bill To Exempt Some Newspaper Vendors From Security Act Vetoed

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — An attempt will be made in Congress to override President Truman's veto today of a bill to exempt some vendors of newspapers and magazines from the Social Security Act.

"I think it stands a good chance of being passed over the President's veto," Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.), author of the bill, told reporters.

The measure which the President turned down today was similar to one he vetoed last August. Backers of the measure said it was designed to exempt vendors who are independent contractors.

In declining to sign the Gearhart bill today, the President said in a formal veto message:

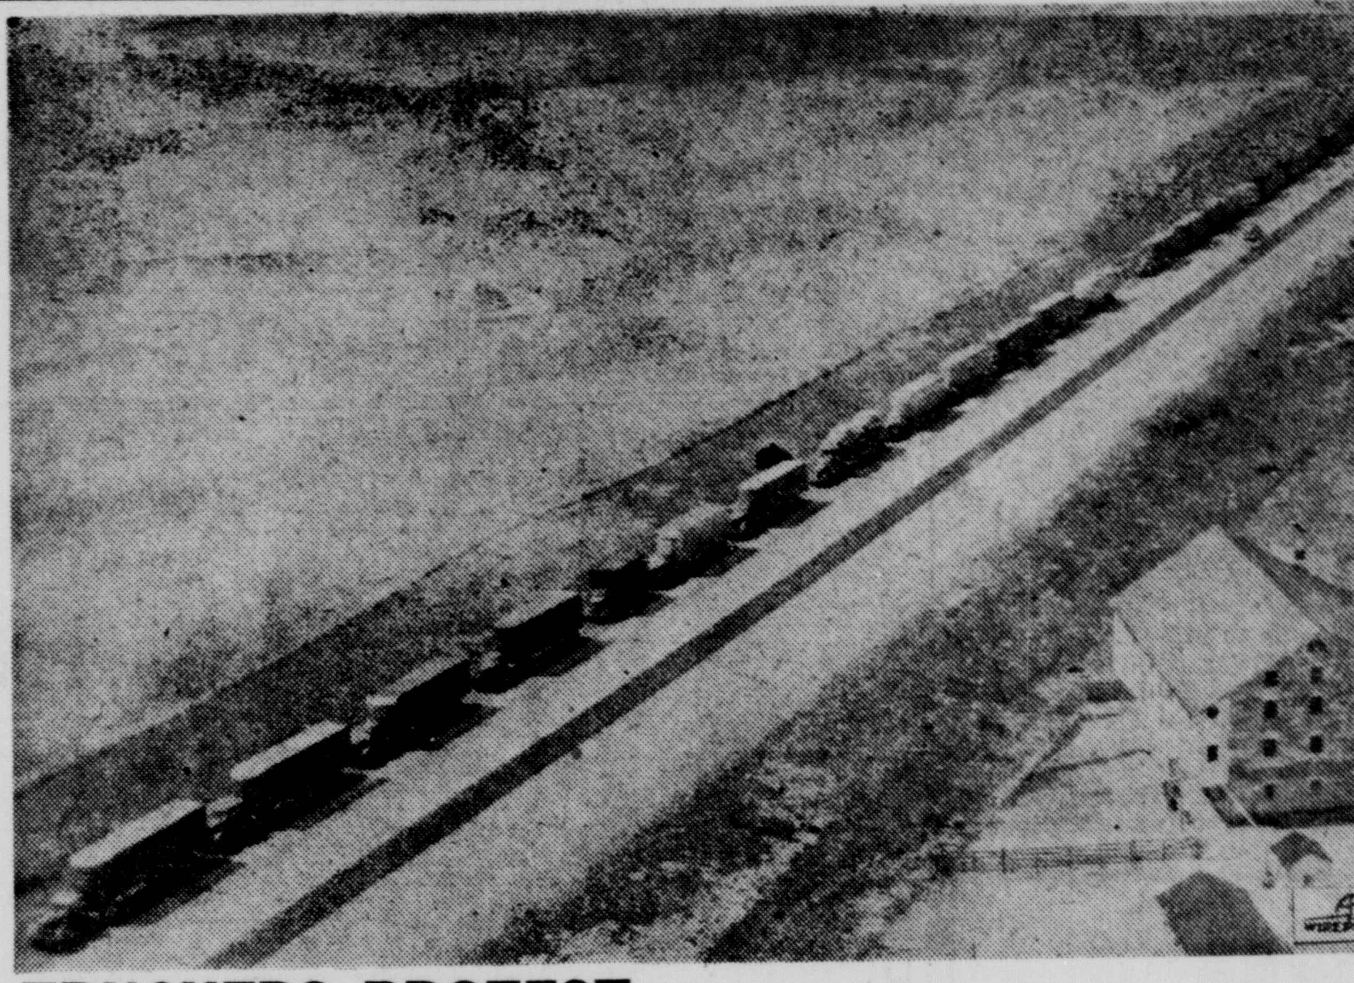
"It proposes to remove the protection of the social security law from persons now entitled to its benefits. Thus it raises the fundamental question of whether or not we shall maintain the integrity of our social security system."

The President said the bill would remove social security protection from vendors who make a full time job of selling papers and are dependent upon that for their living.

Noting that many vendors of newspapers are not now covered by the social security law because "they are not employees of the publishers whose papers they sell," the President mentioned that some vendors work under arrangements which make them employes of the publishers with consequent social security protection.

"If enacted into law, this bill," the President added, "would make the social security rights of these employes depend almost completely upon the form in which their employers might choose to cast their employment contracts x x x.

"The principal consideration offered in support of the bill appears to be a concern for the administrative difficulties of certain employers in keeping the necessary records and in collecting the employe contributions required by the social security system."



TRUCKERS PROTEST--Hundreds of huge tractor-trailer trucks were lined bumper-to-bumper along the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Carlisle, Pa., yesterday in a sudden protest against Pennsylvania truck weight laws. The trucks began piling up as one driver after another flagged down others. The truckers said they were protesting a state law which limits weights of big trucks to 45,000 pounds, claiming that many of the trucks alone weigh 25,000. (Story at bottom of page)

Jews And Arabs Battle On Plains Of Armageddon

46 Are Reported Slain In Fighting

JERUSALEM, April 5 (AP) — The Arab army turned its artillery today on embattled Jewish Mishmar Haemek colony in Northern Palestine, where 40 Arabs and six Jews were reported killed in fierce fighting. Other incidents in the Holy Land brought the day's fatalities to 67.

Outcome of the battle on the historic Plains of Armageddon remained in doubt, with both sides issuing conflicting statements of success.

In another military development of the day, commando units of Haganah, the Jewish army, blasted the headquarters of Hassan Bey Salameh, commander of the Mediterranean Arab army, at Sarafand College near Ramle on the Central Coastal Plain.

An official statement said 16 Arabs were killed and 12 wounded in that attack. Today's casualties boosted to 2,375 the unofficial toll since the November 29 United Nations decision to partition Palestine.

British army sources said fighters from the Arab Yarmuk army used seven 25-pounder field guns, equivalent to French 75s, against the outer defenses of Mishmar Haemek. An Arab informant claimed two light tanks were also used in the attack.

The British did not say whether the Arab force, estimated at 1,000, succeeded in occuping the colony, or whether it withdrew.

Jewish sources said the Arab attack was repulsed, with 42 of the enemy killed. The Arabs admitted 40 casualties, but added the colony was in their hands.

U. S. Suggests Peace Troops

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The United States suggested today that foreign troops be assigned to Palestine if necessary to maintain order under a United Nations temporary trusteeship.

United States Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin did not commit his government to participate in the international force or declare which countries should send soldiers. He said only that "such states as would be specified" should agree to keep the peace in the embattled Holy Land.

The American suggestions were laid before a meeting of United Nations Security Council delegates in Austin's office on lower Park Avenue. Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko

Plans For Huge American Liner Are Disclosed

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Plans for the largest passenger ship ever built in America—a $65,000,000 giant that would carry more than 2,000 passengers—were disclosed today.

The ship would be a 48,000-ton superliner designed to ply the Atlantic at a cruising speed of 28.5 knots, as fast as Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary.

Officials of the United States Maritime Commission and the United States Lines announced the plans. Congress will be asked for funds to build it.

Robertson Raps "Single Package" Draft, UMT Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The administration was accused by Sen. Edward V. Robertson (R - Wyo) today of trying to "ride universal military training through on the coattails of selective service."

Robertson made this statement to a reporter as the Senate Armed Services Committee arranged to start tomorrow on the job of writing legislation covering both UMT and a limited draft as part of the "stop Russia" drive. He is a member of the committee.

Prospects for the draft appeared stronger than those for UMT.

A pending "single package" bill has been submitted by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. Men 19 through 25 would be drafted under the selective service section; most veterans would be exempt. The UMT section would require at least a year's training for 18 and 19 year olds.

Robertson said he favors reviving the draft because it would strengthen the armed forces quickly and because "the only language Russia understands is power."

He added that UMT "if it actually was military training—and I stress military—could be of considerable value as a long range preparedness program." Robertson said he is opposed to wrapping UMT and the draft into one bill.

"I don't think a 'single package' bill would pass," Robertson said. "But I predict that if there were two bills, Congress would pass selective service rapidly and do nothing about the UMT this session."

However, Robertson added that "Sen. Gurney probably has enough committee votes to put the two measures in one bill." Gurney, South Dakota Republican, is chairman of the armed services group.

Hemisphere Communism Ban Urged By Paraguay

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 5 (AP)—Paraguay asked today that other American republics follow its lead in outlawing Communism.

Foreign Minister Cesar Vasconelles, in an address before the Pan American Conference, said that Communists inspired an unsuccessful 1947 revolt against the government of President Higinio Morinigo.

He said the civil war was directed by foreign agents and "constitutes useful experience for American democracy." Vasconelles called the Morinigo government a model of democracy.

Accident, Says Soviet; Convoy Plan Cancelled

14 Aboard British Transport Killed

BERLIN, Tuesday, April 6 (AP)—Russia expressed official regrets early today that a Russian fighter rammed a British transport plane over Berlin, killing 15 persons, and assured the British it was not intentional.

Britain and the United States immediately cancelled plans to convoy all their air transports in and out of Berlin under the guard of fighter planes.

The crash in the air occurred yesterday near Britain's Gatow airport in Berlin. Fourteen persons aboard the British plane, including two Americans, were killed. The Soviet pilot also died.

Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky expressed his regrets to the British commander in Germany, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson. He said the Russians had no intention of interfering with British aircraft using the international corridor into Berlin.

Two-Hour Conference

After a two-hour talk with Sokolovsky, Robertson cancelled his orders for fighter plane escorts for transports. The American commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, rescinded similar orders which would have become effective today.

The Russian answer to the British protest turned aside a new crisis between the Russians and the Western Powers in Germany.

After the crash yesterday, an official British spokesman blamed a "frolicking" Soviet Yak fighter flying illegally over the British airport for the disaster. He added that Russian fighters had buzzed British transports before.

Robertson made it clear an investigation into yesterday's crash must be held. While an investigation may fix the blame for the collision, it was believed unlikely it would add to the new tension in this conflict-wracked capital, which eased considerably following the Robertson-Sokolovsky conference.

The British General gave full report of the talk to British Foreign minister Ernest Bevin by telephone.

Dinner Plans Unchanged

A British spokesman said "Sokolovsky regretted as much as Gen. Robertson the catastrophe which caused the death of the victims."

A general indication of the satisfactory nature of the Soviet answer was seen in the spokesman's comment that a dinner tonight at Robertson's home, with Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and Sokolovsky as guests, will be held as scheduled.

Sokolovsky's statement that the Russians did not intend to interfere with the air corridor into Berlin "in accordance with our mutual agreement" was considered an indication the Russians would not contest the rights of the Western Allies to fly freely to the capital—at least in the near future.

The collision occurred just as the first conciliatory moves were being made among the Big Four to try and settle their dispute over Soviet restrictions on highway and rail traffic to and from Berlin.

It was held likely the Soviets would order their fighters off the western air channels.

British To Remove Bodies

A British spokesman quoted Sokolovsky as saying he "would issue

Stassen Backers See Dewey As Low Man In Wisconsin

Aim Final Blasts At Gen. MacArthur

MILWAUKEE, April 5 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen's backers aimed final blasts at Gen. Douglas MacArthur today in the outspoken belief that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be low man in Wisconsin's GOP primary tomorrow.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy called the voting on 27 delegates tomorrow "a clear-cut contest between the old defeated Lafollette machine working with the America-Firsters, and the Republicans of Wisconsin."

Philip Lafollette, former Progressive Wisconsin Governor, and Lansing Hoyt, former America-First official, are on MacArthur's delegate slate.

Sees 15 Delegates For Stassen

McCarthy, running as a Stassen delegate, also added in a statement that "one of the opposing candidates has conceded defeat in Wisconsin."

He backed up this direct reference to Dewey with the prediction to a reporter that Stassen will get 15 delegates and MacArthur most of the rest.

There were some indications that Dewey's backers also thought he might be low man on the Wisconsin totem pole.

In New York, Herbert Brownell, Dewey manager, said he did not count Wisconsin in when he said the New York Governor will have more than half of the 305 Republican delegates who will have been chosen by Tuesday night.

Dewey's Nomination Predicted

He predicted Dewey's nomination, without a paralyzing deadlock at the June Philadelphia convention. The nominee must collect 548 votes for a majority.

The McCarthy attack was shrugged off by Hoyt who also is chairman of the national MacArthur for President clubs. He predicted that MacArthur will get "a clear majority of the popular vote" in the state.

Stassen took to the radio tonight in a final hour appeal for support before the polls start opening at 7 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, tomorrow.

O'Connell To Be Sworn In

Sugamo Prison Chaplain Is Mysteriously Killed

TOKYO, April 6. (Tuesday)—(INS)—Capt. J. A. Ryan, Catholic Army chaplain of Sugamo Prison, was mysteriously killed with an ice pick or a thin knife last night while walking outside the prison grounds.

An all-night probe by Maj. Michael Frisch and other of his aides failed to produce any clues as to suspects or reasons why the chaplain should be slain.

Frisch did say, however, that a GI may have been the killer.

All enlisted men in the Sugamo Prison were gathered together this morning, while agents examined their shins on the chance the chaplain kicked them.

Drivers' "Sitdown" Halts Trucks On Pa. Turnpike

'Sitdown' Driver Stretches Point

CARLISLE, Pa., April 5. (AP)—A woman driver stopped near a service station along the Pennsylvania Turnpike today.

Lined along the side of the road as far as the eye could see were large trucks on a "sittown" protest.

"What's the matter?" the woman asked one of the truck drivers. "Why all the trucks?"

"One of the fellows got a flat tire and we all stopped to help him," the driver replied.

CARLISLE, Pa., April 5 (AP)—A spectacular drivers' "sitdown" protest halted a police-estimated 1,000 giant trucks today along the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Upwards of 500 were parked bumper-to-bumper near this eastern terminus of the toll road that tunnels beneath seven mountains.

Other idle carriers, their motors cold and silent, were scattered across the 160-miles to the western end at Irwin, near Pittsburgh. State Police Sgt. Earl McGill said the total was 1,000.

Normal automobile traffic, and some trucks carrying perishables, continued to roll smoothly along the divided four-lane ribbon of concrete. The truckers had pulled their huge vehicles to the side before stopping. State police kept up a

William Consiglio brought an alienation of affections suit in Superior Court against his father, Louis, president and treasurer of the Interstate Buses Corporation.

The son contended the affections of his 33-year-old wife Phyllis were "unjustly gained" by the father and that the older man "enticed" her to live with him.

Order Restored In Egyptian City After 20 Killed

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, April 5.—(AP)—A strike by 3,000 policemen in this great port city today unleashed a reign of terror by the underworld in which 20 persons were killed and more than 100 buildings looted and set on fire.

Unofficial estimates said property damage would amount to millions of dollars. No official figure was available.

Order was restored by nightfall. A 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. curfew was imposed on the city and hundreds of troops patrolled the streets.

In Cairo tonight the government issued an ultimatum for striking police to return to work tomorrow or be dismissed. It applied to police in Alexandria, Cairo and in the Suez Canal region, which were also affected by the strike.

Strikers' spokesmen in the capital said they would not meet demands of the ultimatum. Army riflemen surrounded strikers' headquarters. Nearly 1,000 police officers, men and cadets remained inside. Troops refused to let anyone enter or leave.

The strike resulted in demands from opposition quarters that Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha resign. The police asked higher pay and better working conditions.

Nokrashy Pasha supplemented the government ultimatum with a special warning to non-commissioned police in Alexandria. He said military tribunals would try those who urged participation in the rioting.

Troops were called out when the police struck. Seven police strikers and 13 civilians died as the soldiers' guns blazed during the day. Official tabulations showed 40 persons seriously wounded.

Nokrashy Pasha hurried here by plane from Cairo, but was unable to persuade police representatives to meet with him to discuss mediation.

Fighting, Shots Punctuate Coal Pension Strike

Lewis Gives No Sign Of Obeying Directive

PITTSBURGH, April 5 (AP) — Swinging fists and the crackle of pistol shots fired into the air today marked the 22-day national soft coal pension walkout.

Some 500 roving pickets resorted to forceful measures in West Virginia, the leading bituminous coal producing state, to advise non-union strip mines to remain closed.

This state's 120,000 United Mine Workers joined the rest of the 400,000 unionists in the nation in ignoring a government order to return to work.

Truck Driver Bruised

A truck driver reported he was bruised in a free-for-all between 100 pickets and employes of a non-union strip mine of the Grafton Coal Company. C. E. Compton, president of the firm, said "three or four" shots were fired as pickets stormed a tipple and disabled it by ripping out electric controls.

Compton added that pickets told employes "we will return to blow this place sky high" if it does not cease operations. Fifty to sixty truckloads of coal were dumped and tires on some trucks were cut, he claimed.

Barbour County Prosecutor W. T. George, Jr., disclosed steps were taken to issue warrants naming pickets in the clash, which occurred at Bear Mountain. Compton declared "both the company and its employes are determined to work."

Police Sent To Trouble Area

State police were dispatched to Bear Mountain and other West Virginia areas visited by the roving pickets.

The state troopers reported 300 to 400 pickets appeared at the Johnson Coal Company property near McWhorter, W. Va., and attempted to pull several workers from a railroad car they were loading. About a dozen men suffered bruises in the resulting fistfight.

Quiet prevailed at other bituminous pits accross the nation. The wailing work call of a siren at a United States Steel Corporation mine at Bridgesville, Pa., brought no coal diggers. It was the same story in Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama, Virginia, and other coal states, big and little.

Lewis Remains Silent

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Stonily silent, John L. Lewis gave no immediate sign tonight of obeying a court order to end the nationwide walkout of soft coal miners.

At the end of the 22nd day of the walkout, which was punctuated by violence in West Virginia, United Mine Workers lawyers announced they planned no legal moves tonight.

They had conferred all day, preparing for whatever legal steps Lewis desires to take.

Military Wants Network Of Bases In Aleutians

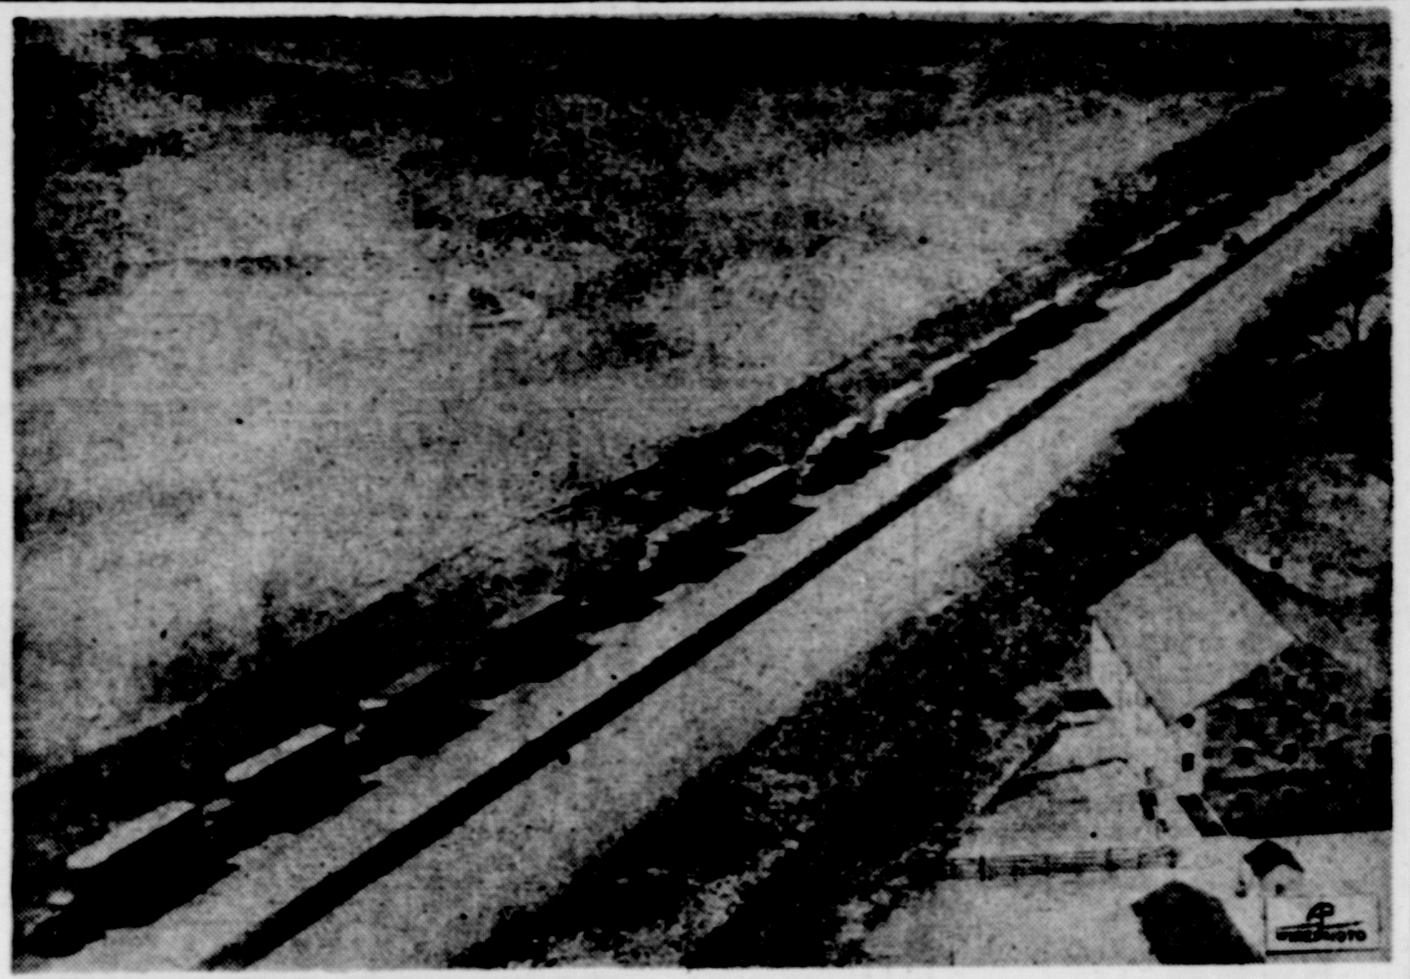
WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — America's armed forces want an extensive network of Army, Navy and air bases on the United States islands nearest Soviet Russia.

The area is in the Aleutian island chain stretching westward from Alaska.

While the services only said "routine" when asked for explanation of their moves to get control of the area, the islands' dual role in World War II makes the aim obvious. They were:

(A) The scene of the one Japanese thrust at the American mainland.

(B) The base from which retaliatory strikes were launched at the Japanese Kruiles, now under Russian control.



TRUCKERS PROTEST--Hundreds of huge tractor-trailer trucks were lined bumper-to-bumper along the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Carlisle, Pa., yesterday in a sudden protest against Pennsylvania truck weight laws. The trucks began piling up as one driver after another flagged down others. The truckers said they were protesting a state law which limits weights of big trucks to 45,000 pounds, claiming that many of the trucks alone weigh 25,000. (Story at bottom of page)

Jews And Arabs Battle On Plains Of Armageddon

46 Are Reported Slain In Fighting

JERUSALEM, April 5 (AP) — The Arab army turned its artillery today on embattled Jewish Mishmar Haemek colony in Northern Palestine, where 40 Arabs and six Jews were reported killed in fierce fighting. Other incidents in the Holy Land brought the day's fatalities to 67.

Outcome of the battle on the historic Plains of Armageddon remained in doubt, with both sides issuing conflicting statements of success.

In another military development of the day, commando units of Haganah, the Jewish army, blasted the headquarters of Hassan Bey Salameh, commander of the Mediterranean Arab army, at Sarafand College near Ramle on the Central Coastal Plain.

An official statement said 16 Arabs were killed and 12 wounded in that attack. Today's casualties boosted to 2,375 the unofficial toll since the November 29 United Nations decision to partition Palestine.

British army sources said fighters from the Arab Yarmuk army used seven 25-pounder field guns, equivalent to French 75s, against the outer defenses of Mishmar Haemek. An Arab informant claimed two light tanks were also used in the attack.

The British did not say whether the Arab force, estimated at 1,000, succeeded in occuping the colony, or whether it withdrew.

Jewish sources said the Arab attack was repulsed, with 42 of the enemy killed. The Arabs admitted 40 casualties, but added the colony was in their hands.

U. S. Suggests Peace Troops

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The United States suggested today that foreign troops be assigned to Palestine if necessary to maintain order under a United Nations temporary trusteeship.

United States Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin did not commit his government to participate in the international force or declare which countries should send soldiers. He said only that "such states as would be specified" should agree to keep the peace in the embattled Holy Land.

The American suggestions were laid before a meeting of United Nations Security Council delegates in Austin's office on lower Park Avenue. Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko

Plans For Huge American Liner Are Disclosed

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Plans for the largest passenger ship ever built in America—a $65,000,000 giant that would carry more than 2,000 passengers—were disclosed today.

The ship would be a 48,000-ton superliner designed to ply the Atlantic at a cruising speed of 28.5 knots, as fast as Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary.

Officials of the United States Maritime Commission and the United States Lines announced the plans. Congress will be asked for funds to build it.

Robertson Raps "Single Package" Draft, UMT Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The administration was accused by Sen. Edward V. Robertson (R - Wyo) today of trying to "ride universal military training through on the coattails of selective service."

Robertson made this statement to a reporter as the Senate Armed Services Committee arranged to start tomorrow on the job of writing legislation covering both UMT and a limited draft as part of the "stop Russia" drive. He is a member of the committee.

Prospects for the draft appeared stronger than those for UMT.

A pending "single package" bill has been submitted by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. Men 19 through 25 would be drafted under the selective service section; most veterans would be exempt. The UMT section would require at least a year's training for 18 and 19 year olds.

Robertson said he favors reviving the draft because it would strengthen the armed forces quickly and because "the only language Russia understands is power."

He added that UMT "if it actually was military training—and I stress military—could be of considerable value as a long range preparedness program." Robertson said he is opposed to wrapping UMT and the draft into one bill.

"I don't think a 'single package' bill would pass," Robertson said. "But I predict that if there were two bills, Congress would pass selective service rapidly and do nothing about the UMT this session."

However, Robertson added that "Sen. Gurney probably has enough committee votes to put the two measures in one bill." Gurney, South Dakota Republican, is chairman of the armed services group.

Hemisphere Communism Ban Urged By Paraguay

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 5 (AP)—Paraguay asked today that other American republics follow its lead in outlawing Communism.

Foreign Minister Cesar Vasconelles, in an address before the Pan American Conference, said that Communists inspired an unsuccessful 1947 revolt against the government of President Higinio Morinigo.

He said the civil war was directed by foreign agents and "constitutes useful experience for American democracy." Vasconelles called the Morinigo government a model of democracy.

Stassen Backers See Dewey As Low Man In Wisconsin

Aim Final Blasts At Gen. MacArthur

MILWAUKEE, April 5 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen's backers aimed final blasts at Gen. Douglas MacArthur today in the outspoken belief that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be low man in Wisconsin's GOP primary tomorrow.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy called the voting on 27 delegates tomorrow "a clear-cut contest between the old defeated Lafollette machine working with the America-Firsters, and the Republicans of Wisconsin."

Philip Lafollette, former Progressive Wisconsin Governor, and Lansing Hoyt, former America-First official, are on MacArthur's delegate slate.

Sees 15 Delegates For Stassen

McCarthy, running as a Stassen delegate, also added in a statement that "one of the opposing candidates has conceded defeat in Wisconsin."

He backed up this direct reference to Dewey with the prediction to a reporter that Stassen will get 15 delegates and MacArthur most of the rest.

There were some indications that Dewey's backers also thought he might be low man on the Wisconsin totem pole.

In New York, Herbert Brownell, Dewey manager, said he did not count Wisconsin in when he said the New York Governor will have more than half of the 305 Republican delegates who will have been chosen by Tuesday night.

Dewey's Nomination Predicted

He predicted Dewey's nomination, without a paralyzing deadlock at the June Philadelphia convention. The nominee must collect 548 votes for a majority.

The McCarthy attack was shrugged off by Hoyt who also is chairman of the national MacArthur for President clubs. He predicted that MacArthur will get "a clear majority of the popular vote" in the state.

Stassen took to the radio tonight in a final hour appeal for support before the polls start opening at 7 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, tomorrow.

Accident, Says Soviet; Convoy Plan Cancelled

14 Aboard British Transport Killed

BERLIN, Tuesday, April 6 (AP)—Russia expressed official regrets early today that a Russian fighter rammed a British transport plane over Berlin, killing 15 persons, and assured the British it was not intentional.

Britain and the United States immediately cancelled plans to convoy all their air transports in and out of Berlin under the guard of fighter planes.

The crash in the air occurred yesterday near Britain's Gatow airport in Berlin. Fourteen persons aboard the British plane, including two Americans, were killed. The Soviet pilot also died.

Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky expressed his regrets to the British commander in Germany, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson. He said the Russians had no intention of interfering with British aircraft using the international corridor into Berlin.

Two-Hour Conference

After a two-hour talk with Sokolovsky, Robertson cancelled his orders for fighter plane escorts for transports. The American commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, rescinded similar orders which would have become effective today.

The Russian answer to the British protest turned aside a new crisis between the Russians and the Western Powers in Germany.

After the crash yesterday, an official British spokesman blamed a "frolicking" Soviet Yak fighter flying illegally over the British airport for the disaster. He added that Russian fighters had buzzed British transports before.

Robertson made it clear an investigation into yesterday's crash must be held. While an investigation may fix the blame for the collision, it was believed unlikely it would add to the new tension in this conflict-wracked capital, which eased considerably following the Robertson-Sokolovsky conference.

The British General gave full report of the talk to British Foreign minister Ernest Bevin by telephone.

Dinner Plans Unchanged

A British spokesman said "Sokolovsky regretted as much as Gen. Robertson the catastrophe which caused the death of the victims."

A general indication of the satisfactory nature of the Soviet answer was seen in the spokesman's comment that a dinner tonight at Robertson's home, with Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and Sokolovsky as guests, will be held as scheduled.

Sokolovsky's statement that the Russians did not intend to interfere with the air corridor into Berlin "in accordance with our mutual agreement" was considered an indication the Russians would not contest the rights of the Western Allies to fly freely to the capital—at least in the near future.

The collision occurred just as the first conciliatory moves were being made among the Big Four to try and settle their dispute over Soviet restrictions on highway and rail traffic to and from Berlin.

It was held likely the Soviets would order their fighters off the western air channels.

British To Remove Bodies

Sugamo Prison Chaplain Is Mysteriously Killed

TOKYO, April 6. (Tuesday)—(INS)—Capt. J. A. Ryan, Catholic Army chaplain of Sugamo Prison, was mysteriously killed with an ice pick or a thin knife last night while walking outside the prison grounds.

An all-night probe by Maj. Michael Frisch and other of his aides failed to produce any clues as to suspects or reasons why the chaplain should be slain.

Frisch did say, however, that a GI may have been the killer.

All enlisted men in the Sugamo Prison were gathered together this morning, while agents examined their shins on the chance the chaplain kicked them.

Krupp Officials Acquitted; Ruling May Set Precedent

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 5 (AP)—A United States tribunal today acquitted Germany's gun maker, Alfried Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, and 11 other directors of the Krupp munitions combine of plotting aggressive war.

The defendants still face two other war crimes charges—plunder and spoilation of conquered nations, and deportation, exploitation and abuse of slave labor.

Originally, they were indicted on four counts. The two on which they were acquitted charged them with committing crimes against peace and participating in a conspiracy against peace. The court did not announce its reasons for dismissing the two charges.

It was the first ruling on whether a German industrialist can be held criminally guilty for helping Adolf Hitler build his powerful war machine. The directors of the giant I. G. Farben chemical combine also were accused, like the Krupp directors, with plotting aggressive war. No verdict has been reached yet in the Farben trial.

Friedrich Flick and Bernhard Weiss, the only German industrialists thus far convicted in war crimes proceedings were not charged with crimes against peace.

Thus today's ruling in the Krupp case may establish a major precedent for dealing with industrialists who helped arm Germany.

Presiding Judge H. C. Anderson, Jackson, Tenn., announced the acquittal decisions after a four-hour conference of the court. The reasoning behind the verdict may not be known until the formal opinion is made public April 19.

600,000 Men In Russian Navy, Sullivan Reports

ATLANTA, April 5. (INS)—Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan said tonight that there are about 600,000 men in the Russian navy—more than 100,000 above the total United States naval personnel.

The Navy Chief also indicated that American naval forces at present are far from able to carry out an effective defense against Russia's newest submarines.

Sullivan, in Atlanta to deliver an Army Day address, spoke at a news conference.

Bill To Exempt Some Newspaper Vendors From Security Act Vetoed

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — An attempt will be made in Congress to override President Truman's veto today of a bill to exempt some vendors of newspapers and magazines from the Social Security Act.

"I think it stands a good chance of being passed over the President's veto," Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.), author of the bill, told reporters.

The measure which the President turned down today was similar to one he vetoed last August. Backers of the measure said it was designed to exempt vendors who are independent contractors.

In declining to sign the Gearhart bill today, the President said in a formal veto message:

"It proposes to remove the protection of the social security law from persons now entitled to its benefits. Thus it raises the fundamental question of whether or not we shall maintain the integrity of our social security system."

The President said the bill would remove social security protection from vendors who make a full time job of selling papers and are dependent upon that for their living.

Noting that many vendors of newspapers are not now covered by the social security law because "they are not employees of the publishers whose papers they sell," the President mentioned that some vendors work under arrangements which make them employes of the publishers with consequent social security protection.

"If enacted into law, this bill," the President added, "would make the social security rights of these employes depend almost completely upon the form in which their employers might choose to cast their employment contracts x x x.

"The principal consideration offered in support of the bill appears to be a concern for the administrative difficulties of certain employers in keeping the necessary records and in collecting the employe contributions required by the social security system."

Drivers' "Sitdown" Halts Trucks On Pa. Turnpike

CARLISLE, Pa., April 5 (AP)—A spectacular drivers' "sitdown" protest halted a police-estimated 1,000 giant trucks today along the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Upwards of 500 were parked bumper-to-bumper near this eastern terminus of the toll road that tunnels beneath seven mountains.

Other idle carriers, their motors cold and silent, were scattered across the 160-miles to the western end at Irwin, near Pittsburgh. State Police Sgt. Earl McGill said the total was 1,000.

Normal automobile traffic, and some trucks carrying perishables, continued to roll smoothly along the divided four-lane ribbon of concrete. The truckers had pulled their huge vehicles to the side before stopping. State police kept up a

"One of the fellows got a flat tire and we all stopped to help him," the driver replied.

Sen. Taft Attempts To Regain Ground

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., April 5 (INS)—Sen. Robert A. Taft's three-day speaking tour of Nebraska moved into Grand Island tonight where he attempted to regain ground feared lost through a "misunderstanding" of his views on parity payments.

The Ohio Republican presidential aspirant asserted that government support of farm prices should extend to the 1948 crop "even after the end of the year 1948."

Taft supporters in Nebraska urged the Senator to clarify his stand on parity payments because they felt great damage was done to his chances in the April 13 primaries by his February speech at Omaha. At that time Taft said he believed the farm parity formula will "have to be revised" and that if such a support program is continued, it ought to be at a level "much less" than 90 per cent of parity.

The Ohioan told his Grand Island audience:

"I am convinced that unless the farmer does get a reasonable price for his products, his lack of purchasing power will soon start a general depression and bring hardship and suffering throughout the nation. The government, therefore, has peculiar justification for assisting to the extent of maintaining some minimum price comparable to the price of other products."

Taft suggested a revision of the parity formula "because fundamental changes have occurred since 1913 and affect different sections of the agricultural industry in different ways."

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP) — Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., wife of the head of one of the nation's wealthiest families, died today of a heart attack. She was 73.

Her death came at her Park Avenue apartment the day after she had participated in a family reunion attended by her daughter, five sons and 18 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller returned last Friday from a vacation at Tucson, Ariz. They held the reunion yesterday at their Pocantico Hills estate near Tarrytown, N. Y.

Previously, Russian soldiers had refused to let the British remove the bodies from the scene of the crash. The British plane had fallen in the Soviet zone of Berlin.

The British transport, inbound from London, was lowering for a landing at the RAF's Gatow airport when the crash occurred at about 500 feet. There was six miles visibility at the time, the British said.

The Soviet Yak fighter was reported to have dived on the transport, then come up underneath shearing off the transport's wing. Both planes plummeted to earth. The Soviet plane fell inside the British sector border. The British plane fell in flames into Soviet-occupied territory. Most of the bodies were charred.

The truckers sent to Harrisburg for extra kerosene for their flares and prepared to spend a second night on the superhighway.

"Let's sit here and drink coffee and stay another night," said Mark Holliday, Somerset, Pa., spokesman for the drivers. "We are not going to lose anything by staying here."

Another truck driver said: "We're going to stop every big truck that comes into the state. We're going to try and have this tieup spread to every section of Pennsylvania."

Holliday, said the "sitdown" protest was against a state law fixing a maximum weight of 45,000 pounds for trucks and pay load.

Some of the trucks alone weigh 25,000 pounds, he said, adding that other states have higher weight limits than Pennsylvania.

"We can't make an honest living under the weight laws now," Holliday told reporters after a confertnce with state officials at Harrisburg.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, told the group, however, that only the Legislature which meets in January can change the law.

The truckers, Wilhelm added, "are not breaking any laws" in stopping along the turnpike.

immediate orders to give the British access to the bodies and baggage in the Viking (transport) aircraft" involved in the collision.

Previously, Russian soldiers had refused to let the British remove the bodies from the scene of the crash. The British plane had fallen in the Soviet zone of Berlin.

The British transport, inbound from London, was lowering for a landing at the RAF's Gatow airport when the crash occurred at about 500 feet. There was six miles visibility at the time, the British said.

The Soviet Yak fighter was reported to have dived on the transport, then come up underneath shearing off the transport's wing. Both planes plummeted to earth. The Soviet plane fell inside the British sector border. The British plane fell in flames into Soviet-occupied territory. Most of the bodies were charred.

They said they will seek contempt penalties—either fines or jail terms or both—against the union and perhaps its officers, including UMW President Lewis, unless the coal pits are remanned quickly.

In the coal fields the 400,000 miners continued their idleness. Lewis told them Saturday in a public message they could do as they pleased about returning to work.

In view of Lewis' advance notice to the men that the back-to-work decision was for them to make, there was some doubt that the men would obey a Lewis return advisory, if he made one to satisfy the court order.

watchful patrol.

The truckers sent to Harrisburg for extra kerosene for their flares and prepared to spend a second night on the superhighway.

"Let's sit here and drink coffee and stay another night," said Mark Holliday, Somerset, Pa., spokesman for the drivers. "We are not going to lose anything by staying here."

Another truck driver said: "We're going to stop every big truck that comes into the state. We're going to try and have this tieup spread to every section of Pennsylvania."

Holliday, said the "sitdown" protest was against a state law fixing a maximum weight of 45,000 pounds for trucks and pay load.

Some of the trucks alone weigh 25,000 pounds, he said, adding that other states have higher weight limits than Pennsylvania.

"We can't make an honest living under the weight laws now," Holliday told reporters after a conference with state officials at Harrisburg.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, told the group, however, that only the Legislature which meets in January can change the law.

The truckers, Wilhelm added, "are not breaking any laws" in stopping along the turnpike.

To The Italian-Born Citizens Of This Area

While there are no official figures immediately at hand to indicate the number of Italian residents in Cumberland, Allegany county and nearby points in adjoining states, the total, we feel sure, is of sufficient strength to perform a service both to their native land and the land of their adoption. Let each of them write a letter at once, to some relative or close friend in the homeland. They have before them—now, this week—a chance of a lifetime. Manhattan's Il Progresso Italo-Americano, in a full-page advertisement, has urged on all Italian born Americans to do so. The points which it suggests for them to make are that food and relief for Italy has been coming from America, not from Yugoslavia or other Soviet satellites, and that Italy's hope for peace depends on this country.

Speaker Joe Martin took up the idea at once, and urged the sending of airmail: "A 15-cent stamp might turn the tide for peace." Instantly, as the New York Postoffice noted, airmail letters to Italy increased 100 per cent.

We urge all Italian-born in this section to swing into line immediately, as already, we understand, a number have done. The Italian election is only 13 days off—Sunday, April 18. It may decide the fate of that country for better or worse: for worse if the Communists carry the day; for better, we are sure, if our own Italian-born and those in other cities and states, write to their relatives in the homeland and tell them the truth as they see it. Thus they would checkmate the Communist game to picture this as an unhappy land with millions of jobless, and with unemployment rife.

Everyone of those letters from here and elsewhere would be a Democratic Document. Descending by the millions, they would snow under the lies of plotters who would wreck free Italy and make it a satellite of Moscow. This could become the most dramatic and effective way of all postwar steps for the Reconstruction of Europe.

The time, Cumberland fellow-citizens from the native land of Columbus, is NOW.

According to the esteemed Wall Street Journal entertainment for business purposes is deductible from income taxes. But don't be misled. The boys in Washington have the most peculiar ideas about entertainment.

Can We Afford To Pick Our Candidates Blindly

To the best of our knowledge and belief, American history provides no single example of a man who was nominated for the Presidency without the people having some idea of his stand on the important public questions of the day.

Yet the booms for General Eisenhower, first as a Republican and now a Democrat, have been based very largely on public ignorance of his political ideas and beliefs. On what side is he of the fence which divides Americans, sometimes erratically enough, between Republicans and Democrats? Does he advocate firmness or appeasement toward Russia? What are his ideas about Palestine? How does he feel about our numerous domestic questions, including national action relative to the racial question in the South and with the Taft-Hartley law?

Once let Eisenhower take a position on all or even some of these issues and he will develop enemies as well as friends, like the other candidates.

That General Eisenhower should enjoy wide popularity is natural. He had a great record in the war; he has an unusually attractive personality; as we have noted, he has said nothing to develop political opposition.

But you can't run a Republic blindfolded by picking the name of your next President out of a hat. The United States has never been run that way in the past. It is obvious that it can not be run that way, successfully, in the future.

The National Conventions usually consider only candidates who have established reputations through careers in public life. That is a common sense procedure. We remember one man who was boomed for the presidency on the ground he knew nothing of politics. That was a little like getting a man to repair your plumbing because he had never seen a pipe.

Some men develop very greatly under the strains and pressures of public life. It's better to pick a candidate who has enemies and friends because of his public record than to choose somebody whom most people are for, in a general sort of way, because nobody knows what he is against.

If Hitler is still alive he must feel he was a rank amateur as he watches how Stalin gets away with it.

Chain Letters

The chain letter and chain postcard have made their appearance again. Recalling the prevalence of chain letters a few years before the war, the Post Office Department asks that the public refrain from mailing chain cards and letters.

While they boost postal receipts, they clutter the mails, burden the carriers and clerks, and results in frequent complaints from many recipients.

Chain letters and cards are a violation of the law and are subject to confiscation as are the articles or money which may be sent through the mail in fulfilling a chain.

The latest form of chain mail is the chain postcard. A card is received with six names on it. The recipient is asked to send a tea towel or some other more or less worthless item to the top name, write a card, leave the top name off and add his or her name to the bottom of the list.

Chain letters are of two general classifications, according to postal authorities—those based on various cash or other forms of rewards, as described in the chain letter, or on superstition.

In the superstitious form of chain letter the person who maintains the chain by forwarding the required number of letters or cards is promised good fortune or heavenly haven and the person who breaks the chain, bad luck or a one-way trip to hell.

Chain letters received their greatest impetus during World War I when an English officer—at a time when the fortunes of Britain and her allies were at a low ebb—sent post cards, with a prayer for success in the war, to friends and asked them to forward similar cards with the same prayer to their friends.

Head Cold Remedies

Ventilation, drainage, and moisture are the prime requisites in maintaining a healthy nose. Should any of these functions be disturbed, discomfort is likely to occur.

The head cold serves as an example. At first the nasal membranes are dry; later, swelling and discharge appear. In the beginning, the exudate is watery, then thickened. These abnormalities combine to produce obstruction, not only to the passage of air, but to elimination of the purulent material. In this stage we would glady exchange the old proboscis for a better working model.

Humidity adds to comfort, especially early in the game. If a commercial device is not available, pans of water on the radiator will supply the needed moisture. In addition, hot drinks or gargles prove useful because the heat brings more blood to the surface. Such procedures occasionally will abort a cold if done soon enough.

Nose drops containing ephedrine or other constrictors reduce congestion and help open the passageways, thus easing that stuffy sensation so common in head colds. Mild and soothing preparations are less likely to damage the delicate hairlike projections (cilia) that cover the membranes. These filaments force the material along, which is nature's way of promoting spontaneous drainage. The drops are usually inserted when the head is tilted back; but if the patient remains in that position, most of the fluid runs down the floor of the nostrils and into the throat, where it is swallowed. It is better to bring the head down immediately after introducing the medicine as it is then more likely to reach the swollen tissues. Hanging over the edge of the bed is a convenient method and, by turning the head from side to side, the medication reaches over all the parts. These antics are unnecessary if a spray, atomizer, or inhalator are used. The use of nose drops should be discontinued after the acute phase has passed as they can produce persistent irritation.

Rest in bed is also desirable because it improves body resistance and shortens the period of disability. This probably explains why colds respond so readily when the patient is in a hospital and more inclined to stay put. The same arrangements can be made at home but they seldom seem to work as well. Visitors come in and the temptation to wander about the house, sit in the living room, etc. is too great. To my knowledge, this is the only difference between the hospital and home and demonstrates conclusively the value of absolute rest.

An obstructed nose often interferes with sleep; hence salicylates or sedatives are frequently recommended. The sulfonamides and penicillin are rarely of value in the early stages as they have no effect on the causative virus. Should secondary invaders take over, however, the drugs are beneficial. But by this time the coryza is subsiding and the need for medication is lessened.

CARSICKNESS

L.D. writes: How is it that some people can read while riding a bus and others become nauseated?

REPLY

There is no single cause but the most important factors are concerned with the effect of motion on the eyes, the labyrinth of the ears, and the abdominal organs. Some susceptible individuals find that if they keep their minds occupied the condition is less likely to appear. In others, it is hastened by reading, probably because of the additional movements of the print as the reading matter jiggles.

A DARKENING BLONDE

J. S. writes: I am 17 and have been very blonde all my life. Suddenly my hair is growing in much darker. Could this be caused by something I eat?

REPLY

No. It is not a matter of diet but normal changes that occur as time goes by. Many blondes go through the same experience.

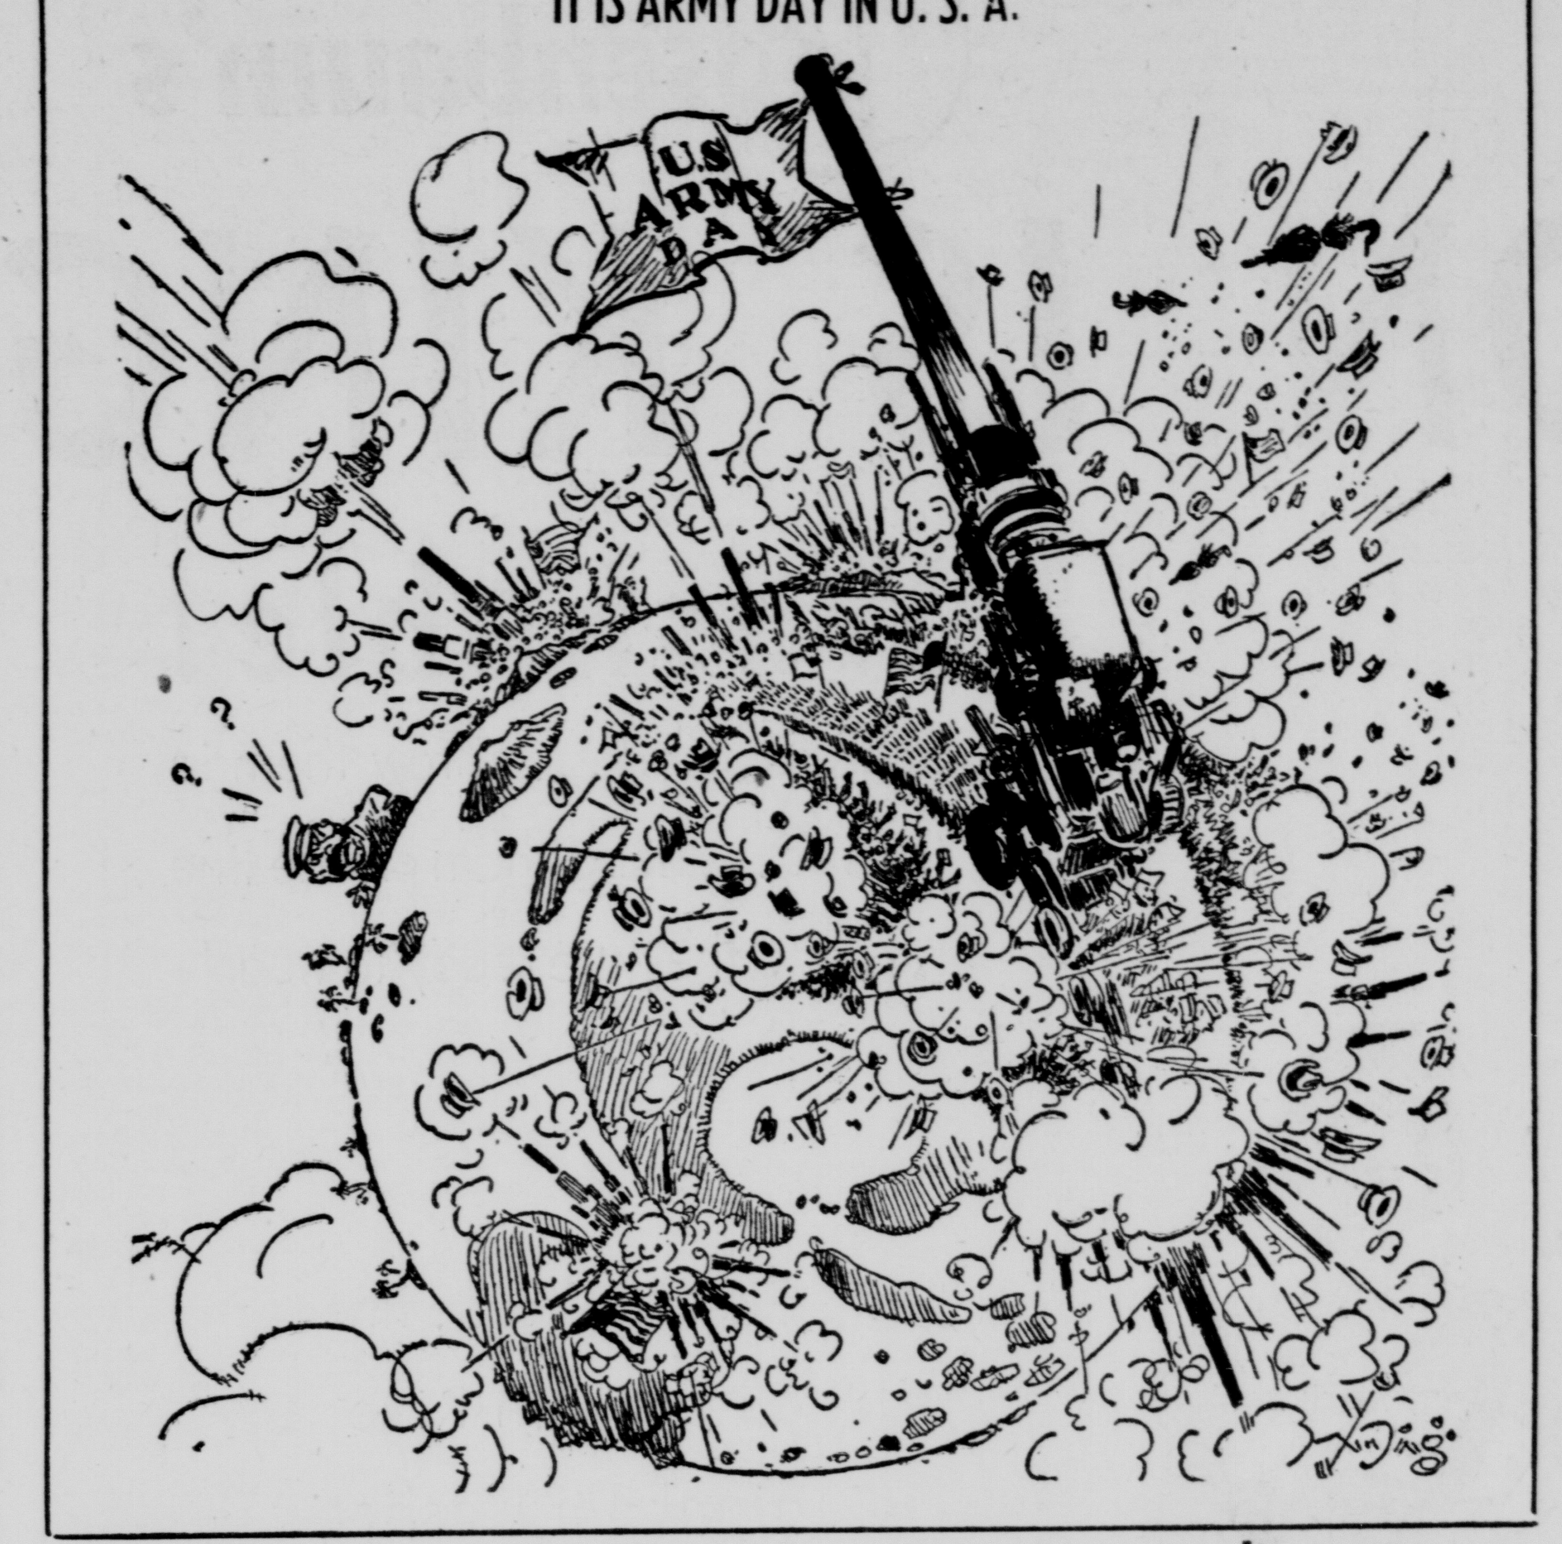
IT IS ARMY DAY IN U. S. A.



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Army Must Clean Up Brasshatism Before It Drafts More Men; Radio Corporation Took Secret Radar Patents Which Belonged To Army

Says DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note — Drew Pearson's column on Army Day takes the form of a letter to Gen. Floyd Parks in charge of Army Press Relations.)

April 6, 1948

Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks
Army Press Relations
Department of the Army
Washington, D. C.

Dear General:

You have written me various letters complaining of my criticisms of brasshatism. You and I also had a talk with the Deputy Chief of Staff, Gen. Joe Collins, about certain Army officers who, after writing contract terminations highly unfair to the government and favorable to private companies, then proceeded to take lush jobs with the companies which they favored.

Today is Army Day, when the U. S. Army comes up for special review by the American people. This is also a period when the Army is asking for a special draft, for Universal Military Training, and for extra funds for defense. Personally I favor voting much of these funds. But I also believe the Army owes it to the nation and especially to the men whom it seeks to draft, to clean up unfairness, favoritism and brasshatism first.

There was a lot of talk about this at the end of the recent war. But not too much was done. That may be one reason why your enlistments are low.

RCA Published Radar Secrets

For instance I called to your attention, publicly and privately, as early as Dec. 19, 1947, the amazing fact that the Army had permitted the Radio Corporation of America to make available to the Germans and Japs in 1938 our most priceless radar secrets, and that the Army had done absolutely nothing to reprove either the radio corporation or the Army officers who were negligent.

I asked you first orally, then in a letter dated Feb. 2 to give me the facts on this case. Two months is a long time to wait for a reply to an inquiry. Having heard nothing from you, I have obtained copies of some of the secret records myself. They tell a shocking story. Here it is.

Back in 1932, the Signal Corps got orders to produce a device for locating the approach of enemy airplanes while they were still out of sight. Lieut. Col. William Blair, Commander of Signal Corps Laboratories at Monmouth, N. J., put a young civilian named William D. Hershberger on this job, under Dr. Samuel Anderson in the Sound and Light section.

Radar Is Born

Hershberger, working on the idea of having radio waves bounce back from an object, finally used heavy filament tubes to produce a microray machine which he tested out on a Signal Corps launch, the Russell, and which was able to detect passing boats, towers and aircraft.

Thus after four years' intensive work, was born the miraculous invention called radar—a secret which no foreign country then knew about and which the Army believed might revolutionize modern warfare. It meant that you could detect ships in the fog and prepare for approaching enemy airplanes before their arrival.

A few months later, Jan. 11, 1938, the radio corporation filed at the U. S. Patent Office for Patent No. 2,401,717, the basic patent on radar. It listed as joint inventors Wm. D. Hershberger and I. Wolff, an RCA Laboratory man who had done some previous work with Hershberger.

Secret Patent Becomes Public

Amazed, the Signal Corps immediately asked the U. S. Patent Office not to make the application public.

This was one of the most priceless inventions in the history of modern warfare, yet the Radio Corporation not only filed publicly for a patent, but also proceeded to apply for patents in Japan, Germany and other foreign countries. This was in 1938 at a time when Hitler had already taken Austria and Czechoslovakia and when every intelligent observer knew war was inevitable.

Meanwhile RCA asked the Army whether the radar inventions were still secret and was informed that they were.

In its answer, March 3, 1938, the Signal Corps Laboratories declared: "While employed at SCL Mr. Hershberger prepared a memorandum on Nov. 22, 1933, disclosing the principles of a method for locating a metal object by means of reflecting radio waves. . . . It indicates that Mr. Hershberger was cognizant of such operation as early as 1933.

"Mr. Hershberger's notebook page 31, dated June 27, 1936, shows a circuit for producing voltage pulses which was applied. . . . (A detailed description follows.) In any event this invention should be classified as secret.

"As indicated in the detailed descriptions above, it appears that patent applications RCV-D-5293, RCV-5591 and 5709 consist largely of work done by Mr. Hershberger while at these laboratories or work done by other personnel either at these laboratories or at the Naval Research Laboratory at Bellevue to the results of which he had access. These three patents should be kept in a secret category until such time as the entire Project 12-F (Radar) is removed from this classification."

This letter was signed by Capt. David E. Washburn, Director of the Signal Corps Laboratories and I would be glad to show you a copy, General, if you are interested.

RCA Head Gets Reward

However, RCA deliberately flouted the Signal Corps' secrecy order by filing for patents in Germany, Japan and the rest of the world. Meanwhile nothing was done either to prosecute or collect damages from RCA. On the contrary, David Sarnoff, head of the radio corporation was actually commissioned as a brigadier general. Can you imagine what would happen to an enlisted man who revealed a secret to the enemy or even fell asleep on guard duty? He would probably be in Leavenworth yet.

Mr. Sarnoff, on the other hand, was made a brigadier general.

After the war, however, certain people in the Justice Department and the Signal Corps dusted off the case and started to prepare a suit against RCA.

But suddenly it was called off. It was called off about the time Gen. Harry Ingles resigned as head of the Signal Corps, March 31, 1947, in order to take an important job with RCA. General Ingles became president of the RCA Institute Inc.

In talking to you and the Deputy Chief of Staff about Army officers who take jobs with companies for whom they did favors during the war, General Collins pointed out that these officers were not West Pointers and that the Army couldn't do anything about it.

However, General Ingles is a West Pointer, and now draws a pension from American taxpayers. Finally, the Army could easily bring suit against RCA to show that it will not tolerate actions of this kind in the future. Such a suit has been prepared by the Justice Department, but the Army says no. It not only says no, but is surrounds the radar patent case with strict and mysterious secrecy.

May I suggest that the Army must put its own house in order by cleaning out brass-hat big-business favoritism before it can get or keep the confidence of the men it now seeks to draft into a new, efficient fighting force.

Yours sincerely,
Drew Pearson.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Berlin Story

THE FACTS behind the Berlin business are simple enough. A Soviet effort to expel the Western allies from Berlin was foreseen as long ago as last November, when General Lucius D. Clay told one of these correspondents he "would only leave the city on a stretcher." After the breakdown of the London conference on Germany in December, General Clay's unyielding policy was approved on the highest level, by Secretary of State Marshall. The balloon was rather expected to go up in Berlin at that time. Instead, there was an interval of Soviet hesitation and comparative amiability. And the balloon has gone up now.

The "now" is what matters. The drive for Berlin must be seen in conjunction with the rape of Czechoslovakia, the drive for Finland, the pressure on Scandinavia and the struggle for Italy. Coming at this climactic moment in the grand contest for Europe, the Soviet drive for Berlin holds out some threat of imminent war. That is a fact which is being soberly faced by the American policy makers, and should be soberly faced by the American public.

The reasons given for this horrifying assessment of the situation are essentially simple. The Soviets may be bluffing, but they have committed themselves so deeply that it will be difficult for them to back down. When General Clay remarked that he would not abandon Berlin except if carried out, he was certainly not bluffing. The United States and Britain have no real alternative except to call the Soviet bluff. For if they are weak in the face of Soviet bullying, every other doubtful situation in Europe will turn sour overnight.

The Finns, deprived of hope of succor, would hardly be able to maintain their superb courage. The Scandinavians, seeing the leaders of the West humiliated in Berlin and Finland going over like a ninepin, would also lose heart. And in Italy, the current hopeful political trend would be reversed by the dramatic demonstration of the Soviet power.

In short, the present choice is between calling the Soviet bluff, which means a possible risk of shooting now; or yielding to the Soviets, which means probably creating a situation that is certain to lead to war later. For if Italy alone is absorbed in the Soviet sphere, the picture will be comparable to that in 1948, after Munich. Then there will ultimately be no choice except the appeasers' choice, which is between fighting and surrendering.

This danger of political chain reaction, which is inherent in the Berlin situation, should now be familiar. It was first seen in the Greek-Turkish crisis. It has recurred at intervals since. And it arose in a most violent form when Czechoslovakia fell.

The pattern of the present crisis is, in fact, oddly similar to the Czechoslovak crisis pattern which led to the President's emergency message to Congress. Most official and a few non-official observers—among them these correspondents—had foreseen what would happen in Czechoslovakia, just as the Soviet drive for Berlin was also foreseen. Nevertheless, when expectation became reality, a ghastly electric shock went through Europe. Here was naked Soviet aggression.

From the Foreign Offices of almost every free European nation, the same inquiries poured into Washington. Was American policy just talk and dollars? Or was the United States genuinely ready to fight for the cause of freedom in the world, if need arose?

If Secretary Marshall had had to reply to these inquiries that our policy was just talk and dollars, the weak and undefended western European nations would have had only one course open to them. They could not resist the Soviet Union alone and unaided. They would have been almost irresistibly impelled to seek what terms they could obtain at Moscow. The front of the free world would have been broken. The United States would have been isolated, alone and in dire peril. It was to give a convincingly reassuring answer to Scandinavia, to Benelux, to France and Italy and Britain, that President Truman went before the Congress to ask for the draft, and Secretary Marshall at last declared our purpose with grim frankness in California.

Now again, as a result of the Berlin crisis, the same kind of chain reaction threatens. The Soviet move comes at a well calculated time. The western European union has not been completed by American adherence. The western European nations have not yet received the minimum arms needed for reasonable defense. The American striking force is partly crippled by the aftereffects of the criminal petty squabbling between the armed services. There will be a strong temptation to appease, especially in Europe, where the first brunt of Soviet attack must be borne. At this writing, however, the chances seem to be that the bolder of the two choices outlined above will be preferred.

If we stand firm at Berlin, we can at least be encouraged in doing so by the analysis of Russia's motives for her present aggressions which is generally accepted by the American policy makers.

They believe that the violence of the Soviet response to the European Recovery Program flows from the knowledge of the Soviet leaders that their system is too weak to stand the competition of a healthy, reconstructed Europe. They believe, that is, that the Soviet motive is preventive, the intention being to create conditions in which the healthy reconstruction of Europe will be impossible. That this is now the danger is acknowledged.

One of the wisest makers of American policy has sadly admitted, "If we cave in at Berlin, we risk defeating the whole purpose of the ERP." Berlin is by no means the only danger point—the critical character of the Finnish situation, for example, has escaped general notice. But what is now important is to pass these crucial weeks ahead without appeasement or surrender or a serious break in the front of freedom. If this can be achieved, a new and more constructive phase, less marked by hairbreadth escapes from total disaster, will at last begin to open.

Taxing Powers Back In Hands Of Congress, Where It Belongs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Control of the taxing power is back in the hands of Congress, where it belongs.

Abuse of the presidential veto to compel a two-thirds vote before the people can get changes in their tax rates has resulted in a humiliating defeat for President Truman.

Taking his cue from the late President Roosevelt, who vetoed a tax bill for the first time in history—a veto which, incidentally, was overridden, too—Mr. Truman twice prevented the national legislature from fixing tax rates.

Now by a substantial marjority—well over two thirds—the Congress has taken back into its own hands the fixing of tax rates.

It might be said that Congress can be prevented again from making new tax laws. But it is a far different thing to enact a new law now than it has been heretofore when a minority of Congress, supporting a presidential veto, could keep existing high rates in effect indefinitely.

When so many members of President Truman's own party in both the House and Senate desert him to vote for tax changes, it is a sign that the Chief Executive has adopted a stubborn position which makes his leadership of the party more theoretical than real.

In this campaign year the Democrats who voted to override the veto must go before the people saying, in effect, that the President was wrong in his attitude.

Truman's Arguments Much Alike

The arguments made in the first two veto messages are much the same as in the one sent to Congress last week. Mr. Truman says that tax reduction isn't possible because of huge expenses abroad or because surpluses must be used for debt retirement. What he is contending, in reality, is that the American people must operate indefinitely under wartime tax rates.

Mr. Truman uses the same demagogic line he has employed before—namely, that 40 per cent of the tax reduction goes to people who earn more than $5,000 a year. Does he mean that tax policy must be based on some form of communistic share-the-income doctrine such as undermined democracy abroad and weakened so many countries?

By overriding the veto, the legislators have responded to public opinion. To the argument that tax reduction will produce inflation by increasing the purchasing power of millions in the low-income brackets, there is a simple answer. It is that the huge expenditures by government, which create new demands for goods, are sending prices upward in an inflationary cycle and the low-income groups need the purchasing power to maintain a decent standard of living.

Mr. Truman endeavored to rebutt the contention that investors would be helped and thus business would benefit by the inflow of more risk capital if taxes were reduced. He said business profits were high and funds had been available in adequate quantity. But he failed to distinguish between borrowed money with fixed obligations and interest and the lack of equity money such as has built up American industrial power.

If the tax structure had not been changed this year, the whole economic structure would have been weakened.

Mr. Truman hinted twice before at the possibility of a crisis overseas and now he doesn't have to hint, because the situation with Russia is plain to see. But Congress understands that, too, and has come to the conclusion that if war breaks out higher tax rates can be enacted overnight. The American people will gladly pay wartime tax rates during a war. What they object to is the arbitrary attitude of a President who says, in effect, that wartime tax rates must continue for decades to come. If his reasoning is accepted, there can never be any tax reduction while there is a huge public debt, and obviously the public debt will not be reduced materially for fifty years.

Policy of Obstruction

Mr. Truman has failed to apply a reasonable policy either to debt retirement or tax reduction and, after having been opposed twice by a majority of Congress, he has endeavored a third time to maintain his policy of obstruction.

There may be a deficit instead of a surplus if war-emergency spending grows but there is also the chance that the very armament spending may swell tax receipts at the new rates to levels never before reached, so that the estimated loss of revenues will not materialize at all. In any event, Congress will meet the fiscal situation as it arises and it will take only a majority vote to enact higher tax rates if they become necessary. Tax legislation should be left to a congressional majority, which, irrespective of party, usually reflects the will of the people. In a parliamentary system of government, Mr. Truman would now be out of office as he has been repudiated on a measure of prime importance by more than a two-third majority.

Crime Reports

Year by year, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, issues reports on the increase of crime in the United States. He says:

"Compared with prewar figures, urban crime in 1947 was still high with rape and aggravated assault 48.3 percent and 59.5 percent over the average for 1938-41. Nineteen forty-seven urban crime exceeded prewar average figures in other categories as follows: Murder, 15.4 percent; burglary, 15.3 percent; robbery, 14.6 percent; larceny, 2.6 percent; negligent manslaughter, 2.1 percent; and auto theft, 1.9 percent."

He adds:

". . . Arrests of males under 21 increased 10.5 percent over the figures of 1946 and arrests of girls under 21 declined 6.6 percent. . . ."

There seems to be a tendency to attribute the crime increase to dislocations and brutalization attending a war era. But that can be no explanation for increases of crime among those who remained in the bosoms of their families during the war years. Or were they not so carefully guarded and nurtured? Certainly, we are up against the fact that the usual economic cause for crime, stark, brutal, debasing poverty, does not exist here. What poverty does exist in the United States is neither stark nor debasing and public and private agencies of succor and relief do serve those who are helpless and dependent. Furthermore, we have expended an enormous budget for more than a century on general education, in most states with some measure of competence; in some, less so.

Furthermore, there has been no general unemployment during this period; in fact, in some areas there has been a shortage of labor and everywhere wages have been extraordinarily high and attractive, although taxes and the high cost of living have cut into earnings.

Nevertheless, crime increases, and it increases among the young. It is even possible to assume that crime has, for some children, become fun. Yet, never in our history have such efforts been made to organize play, to provide outlets for individual and collective endeavor ("activities," I believe the educators call it) than in recent years. In large cities, particularly, there are city-supported playgrounds, swimming pools, and such devices.

Suppose we are not to deal with crime but with virtue! Suppose we were to ask why young people do not commit crimes! What makes them good?

I attended, as a boy, a public school in a New York slum—one of the very worst slums in this complex city. All of the boys came from what these days would be called "underprivileged homes." I should say that for most of the boys, a penny was a lot of money. Some of the boys lunched on a frankfurter and roll sold by a pushcart peddler for a cent or two. I knew of boys who lunched on a roll with mustard to sweeten it.

Now I have come across some of those boys 40 years later and many of them are fine men, some in the higher professions, some in business. There may be some thieves and racketeers. A few of my classmates were earning their livings as pickpockets even while we were in elementary school. In fact, I recall one boy who opened a school for pickpocketing, but his pupils were very few, indeed.

What kept most of these children of immigrants who lived in stark poverty virtuous? Many of their parents were totally absorbed in the task, from sunrise to sunset, of earning a meager living. Few of their parents were literate in any language. Fewer still could speak English or were familiar with the mores of this country. Yet they maintained a high standard of ethics and were guided by moral law.

The answer, of course, is that they did not live secular lives. They were a deeply religious people whose personal lives were closely associated with God's Law of right and wrong. And they knew God's Law and handed it down to their children with unfailing certainty. Theirs was not a "relative" world but one in which "Thus saith the Lord" was controlling. They called it "respect," but it meant obedience and love.

Secularization of education may have advantages but it has produced no substitute for moral law. J. Edgar Hoover might look into that.

To The Italian-Born Citizens Of This Area

While there are no official figures immediately at hand to indicate the number of Italian residents in Cumberland, Allegany county and nearby points in adjoining states, the total, we feel sure, is of sufficient strength to perform a service both to their native land and the land of their adoption. Let each of them write a letter at once, to some relative or close friend in the homeland. They have before them—now, this week—a chance of a lifetime. Manhattan's Il Progresso Italo-Americano, in a full-page advertisement, has urged on all Italian born Americans to do so. The points which it suggests for them to make are that food and relief for Italy has been coming from America, not from Yugoslavia or other Soviet satellites, and that Italy's hope for peace depends on this country.

Speaker Joe Martin took up the idea at once, and urged the sending of airmail: "A 15-cent stamp might turn the tide for peace." Instantly, as the New York Postoffice noted, airmail letters to Italy increased 100 per cent.

We urge all Italian-born in this section to swing into line immediately, as already, we understand, a number have done. The Italian election is only 13 days off—Sunday, April 18. It may decide the fate of that country for better or worse: for worse if the Communists carry the day; for better, we are sure, if our own Italian-born and those in other cities and states, write to their relatives in the homeland and tell them the truth as they see it. Thus they would checkmate the Communist game to picture this as an unhappy land with millions of jobless, and with unemployment rife.

Everyone of those letters from here and elsewhere would be a Democratic Document. Descending by the millions, they would snow under the lies of plotters who would wreck free Italy and make it a satellite of Moscow. This could become the most dramatic and effective way of all postwar steps for the Reconstruction of Europe.

The time, Cumberland fellow-citizens from the native land of Columbus, is NOW.

According to the esteemed Wall Street Journal entertainment for business purposes is deductible from income taxes. But don't be misled. The boys in Washington have the most peculiar ideas about entertainment.

Can We Afford To Pick Our Candidates Blindly

To the best of our knowledge and belief, American history provides no single example of a man who was nominated for the Presidency without the people having some idea of his stand on the important public questions of the day.

Yet the booms for General Eisenhower, first as a Republican and now a Democrat, have been based very largely on public ignorance of his political ideas and beliefs. On what side is he of the fence which divides Americans, sometimes erratically enough, between Republicans and Democrats? Does he advocate firmness or appeasement toward Russia? What are his ideas about Palestine? How does he feel about our numerous domestic questions, including national action relative to the racial question in the South and with the Taft-Hartley law?

Once let Eisenhower take a position on all or even some of these issues and he will develop enemies as well as friends, like the other candidates.

That General Eisenhower should enjoy wide popularity is natural. He had a great record in the war; he has an unusually attractive personality; as we have noted, he has said nothing to develop political opposition.

But you can't run a Republic blindfolded by picking the name of your next President out of a hat. The United States has never been run that way in the past. It is obvious that it can not be run that way, successfully, in the future.

The National Conventions usually consider only candidates who have established reputations through careers in public life. That is a common sense procedure. We remember one man who was boomed for the presidency on the ground he knew nothing of politics. That was a little like getting a man to repair your plumbing because he had never seen a pipe.

Some men develop very greatly under the strains and pressures of public life. It's better to pick a candidate who has enemies and friends because of his public record than to choose somebody whom most people are for, in a general sort of way, because nobody knows what he is against.

If Hitler is still alive he must feel he was a rank amateur as he watches how Stalin gets away with it.

Chain Letters

The chain letter and chain postcard have made their appearance again. Recalling the prevalence of chain letters a few years before the war, the Post Office Department asks that the public refrain from mailing chain cards and letters.

While they boost postal receipts, they clutter the mails, burden the carriers and clerks, and results in frequent complaints from many recipients.

Chain letters and cards are a violation of the law and are subject to confiscation as are the articles or money which may be sent through the mail in fulfilling a chain.

The latest form of chain mail is the chain postcard. A card is received with six names on it. The recipient is asked to send a tea towel or some other more or less worthless item to the top name, write a card, leave the top name off and add his or her name to the bottom of the list.

Chain letters are of two general classifications, according to postal authorities—those based on various cash or other forms of rewards, as described in the chain letter, or on superstition.

In the superstitious form of chain letter the person who maintains the chain by forwarding the required number of letters or cards is promised good fortune or heavenly haven and the person who breaks the chain, bad luck or a one-way trip to hell.

Chain letters received their greatest impetus during World War I when an English officer—at a time when the fortunes of Britain and her allies were at a low ebb—sent post cards, with a prayer for success in the war, to friends and asked them to forward similar cards with the same prayer to their friends.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Head Cold Remedies

Ventilation, drainage, and moisture are the prime requisites in maintaining a healthy nose. Should any of these functions be disturbed, discomfort is likely to occur.

The head cold serves as an example. At first the nasal membranes are dry; later, swelling and discharge appear. In the beginning, the exudate is watery, then thickened. These abnormalities combine to produce obstruction, not only to the passage of air, but to elimination of the purulent material. In this stage we would glady exchange the old proboscis for a better working model.

Humidity adds to comfort, especially early in the game. If a commercial device is not available, pans of water on the radiator will supply the needed moisture. In addition, hot drinks or gargles prove useful because the heat brings more blood to the surface. Such procedures occasionally will abort a cold if done soon enough.

Nose drops containing ephedrine or other constrictors reduce congestion and help open the passageways, thus easing that stuffy sensation so common in head colds. Mild and soothing preparations are less likely to damage the delicate hairlike projections (cilia) that cover the membranes. These filaments force the material along, which is nature's way of promoting spontaneous drainage. The drops are usually inserted when the head is tilted back; but if the patient remains in that position, most of the fluid runs down the floor of the nostrils and into the throat, where it is swallowed. It is better to bring the head down immediately after introducing the medicine as it is then more likely to reach the swollen tissues. Hanging over the edge of the bed is a convenient method and, by turning the head from side to side, the medication reaches over all the parts. These antics are unnecessary if a spray, atomizer, or inhalator are used. The use of nose drops should be discontinued after the acute phase has passed as they can produce persistent irritation.

Rest in bed is also desirable because it improves body resistance and shortens the period of disability. This probably explains why colds respond so readily when the patient is in a hospital and more inclined to stay put. The same arrangements can be made at home but they seldom seem to work as well. Visitors come in and the temptation to wander about the house, sit in the living room, etc. is too great. To my knowledge, this is the only difference between the hospital and home and demonstrates conclusively the value of absolute rest.

An obstructed nose often interferes with sleep; hence salicylates or sedatives are frequently recommended. The sulfonamides and penicillin are rarely of value in the early stages as they have no effect on the causative virus. Should secondary invaders take over, however, the drugs are beneficial. But by this time the coryza is subsiding and the need for medication is lessened.

CARSICKNESS

L.D. writes: How is it that some people can read while riding a bus and others become nauseated?

REPLY

There is no single cause but the most important factors are concerned with the effect of motion on the eyes, the labyrinth of the ears, and the abdominal organs. Some susceptible individuals find that if they keep their minds occupied the condition is less likely to appear. In others, it is hastened by reading, probably because of the additional movements of the print as the reading matter jiggles.

A DARKENING BLONDE

J. S. writes: I am 17 and have been very blonde all my life. Suddenly my hair is growing in much darker. Could this be caused by something I eat?

REPLY

No. It is not a matter of diet but normal changes that occur as time goes by. Many blondes go through the same experience.

The swanky Biltmore hotel certainly got right into the spirit of Rodea Week . . . all its towels were marked "his" . . . "hers" . . . and "horsey."

There was also a big parade through the town and I had my usual position in the parade . . . But since I was honorary mayor this year it was a little different. Instead of a broom, they gave me a vacuum cleaner.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—Drew Pearson's column on Army Day takes the form of a letter to Gen. Floyd Parks in charge of Army Press Relations.)

April 6, 1948

Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks
Army Press Relations
Department of the Army
Washington, D. C.

Dear General:

You have written me various letters complaining of my criticisms of brasshatism. You and I also had a talk with the Deputy Chief of Staff, Gen. Joe Collins, about certain Army officers who, after writing contract terminations highly unfair to the government and favorable to private companies, then proceeded to take lush jobs with the companies which they favored.

Today is Army Day, when the U. S. Army comes up for special review by the American people. This is also a period when the Army is asking for a special draft, for Universal Military Training, and for extra funds for defense. Personally I favor voting much of these funds. But I also believe the Army owes it to the nation and especially to the men whom it seeks to draft, to clean up unfairness, favoritism and brasshatism first.

There was a lot of talk about this at the end of the recent war. But not too much was done. That may be one reason why your enlistments are low.

RCA Published Radar Secrets

For instance I called to your attention, publicly and privately, as early as Dec. 19, 1947, the amazing fact that the Army had permitted the Radio Corporation of America to make available to the Germans and Japs in 1938 our most priceless radar secrets, and that the Army had done absolutely nothing to reprove either the radio corporation or the Army officers who were negligent.

I asked you first orally, then in a letter dated Feb. 2 to give me the facts on this case. Two months is a long time to wait for a reply to an inquiry. Having heard nothing from you, I have obtained copies of some of the secret records myself. They tell a shocking story. Here it is.

Back in 1932, the Signal Corps got orders to produce a device for locating the approach of enemy airplanes while they were still out of sight. Lieut. Col. William Blair, Commander of Signal Corps Laboratories at Monmouth, N. J., put a young civilian named William D. Hershberger on this job, under Dr. Samuel Anderson in the Sound and Light section.

Radar Is Born

Hershberger, working on the idea of having radio waves bounce back from an object, finally used heavy filament tubes to produce a microray machine which he tested out on a Signal Corps launch, the Russell, and which was able to detect passing boats, towers and aircraft.

Thus after four years' intensive work, was born the miraculous invention called radar—a secret which no foreign country then knew about and which the Army believed might revolutionize modern warfare. It meant that you could detect ships in the fog and prepare for approaching enemy airplanes before their arrival.

A few months later, Jan. 11, 1938, the radio corporation filed at the U. S. Patent Office for Patent No. 2,401,717, the basic patent on radar. It listed as joint inventors Wm. D. Hershberger and I. Wolff, an RCA Laboratory man who had done some previous work with Hershberger.

Secret Patent Becomes Public

Amazed, the Signal Corps immediately asked the U. S. Patent Office not to make the application public.

This was one of the most priceless inventions in the history of modern warfare, yet the Radio Corporation not only filed publicly for a patent, but also proceeded to apply for patents in Japan, Germany and other foreign countries. This was in 1938 at a time when Hitler had already taken Austria and Czechoslovakia and when every intelligent observer knew war was inevitable.

Meanwhile RCA asked the Army whether the radar inventions were still secret and was informed that they were.

In its answer, March 3, 1938, the Signal Corps Laboratories declared: "While employed at SCL Mr. Hershberger prepared a memorandum on Nov. 22, 1933, disclosing the principles of a method for locating a metal object by means of reflecting radio waves. . . . It indicates that Mr. Hershberger was cognizant of such operation as early as 1933.

"Mr. Hershberger's notebook page 31, dated June 27, 1936, shows a circuit for producing voltage pulses which was applied. . . . (A detailed description follows.) In any event this invention should be classified as secret.

"As indicated in the detailed descriptions above, it appears that patent applications RCV-D-5293, RCV-5591 and 5709 consist largely of work done by Mr. Hershberger while at these laboratories or work done by other personnel either at these laboratories or at the Naval Research Laboratory at Bellevue to the results of which he had access. These three patents should be kept in a secret category until such time as the entire Project 12-F (Radar) is removed from this classification."

This letter was signed by Capt. David E. Washburn, Director of the Signal Corps Laboratories and I would be glad to show you a copy, General, if you are interested.

RCA Head Gets Reward

However, RCA deliberately flouted the Signal Corps' secrecy order by filing for patents in Germany, Japan and the rest of the world. Meanwhile nothing was done either to prosecute or collect damages from RCA. On the contrary, David Sarnoff, head of the radio corporation was actually commissioned as a brigadier general. Can you imagine what would happen to an enlisted man who revealed a secret to the enemy or even fell asleep on guard duty? He would probably be in Leavenworth yet.

Mr. Sarnoff, on the other hand, was made a brigadier general.

After the war, however, certain people in the Justice Department and the Signal Corps dusted off the case and started to prepare a suit against RCA.

But suddenly it was called off. It was called off about the time Gen. Harry Ingles resigned as head of the Signal Corps, March 31, 1947, in order to take an important job with RCA. General Ingles became president of the RCA Institute Inc.

In talking to you and the Deputy Chief of Staff about Army officers who take jobs with companies for whom they did favors during the war, General Collins pointed out that these officers were not West Pointers and that the Army couldn't do anything about it.

However, General Ingles is a West Pointer, and now draws a pension from American taxpayers. Finally, the Army could easily bring suit against RCA to show that it will not tolerate actions of this kind in the future. Such a suit has been prepared by the Justice Department, but the Army says no. It not only says no, but is surrounds the radar patent case with strict and mysterious secrecy.

May I suggest that the Army must put its own house in order by cleaning out brass-hat big-business favoritism before it can get or keep the confidence of the men it now seeks to draft into a new, efficient fighting force.

Yours sincerely,
Drew Pearson.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Berlin Story

THE FACTS behind the Berlin business are simple enough. A Soviet effort to expel the Western allies from Berlin was foreseen as long ago as last November, when General Lucius D. Clay told one of these correspondents he "would only leave the city on a stretcher." After the breakdown of the London conference on Germany in December, General Clay's unyielding policy was approved on the highest level, by Secretary of State Marshall. The balloon was rather expected to go up in Berlin at that time. Instead, there was an interval of Soviet hesitation and comparative amiability. And the balloon has gone up now.

The "now" is what matters. The drive for Berlin must be seen in conjunction with the rape of Czechoslovakia, the drive for Finland, the pressure on Scandinavia and the struggle for Italy. Coming at this climactic moment in the grand contest for Europe, the Soviet drive for Berlin holds out some threat of imminent war. That is a fact which is being soberly faced by the American policy makers, and should be soberly faced by the American public.

The reasons given for this horrifying assessment of the situation are essentially simple. The Soviets may be bluffing, but they have committed themselves so deeply that it will be difficult for them to back down. When General Clay remarked that he would not abandon Berlin except if carried out, he was certainly not bluffing. The United States and Britain have no real alternative except to call the Soviet bluff. For if they are weak in the face of Soviet bullying, every other doubtful situation in Europe will turn sour overnight.

The Finns, deprived of hope of succor, would hardly be able to maintain their superb courage. The Scandinavians, seeing the leaders of the West humiliated in Berlin and Finland going over like a ninepin, would also lose heart. And in Italy, the current hopeful political trend would be reversed by the dramatic demonstration of the Soviet power.

In short, the present choice is between calling the Soviet bluff, which means a possible risk of shooting now; or yielding to the Soviets, which means probably creating a situation that is certain to lead to war later. For if Italy alone is absorbed in the Soviet sphere, the picture will be comparable to that in 1948, after Munich. Then there will ultimately be no choice except the appeasers' choice, which is between fighting and surrendering.

This danger of political chain reaction, which is inherent in the Berlin situation, should now be familiar. It was first seen in the Greek-Turkish crisis. It has recurred at intervals since. And it arose in a most violent form when Czechoslovakia fell.

The pattern of the present crisis is, in fact, oddly similar to the Czechoslovak crisis pattern which led to the President's emergency message to Congress. Most official and a few non-official observers—among them these correspondents—had foreseen what would happen in Czechoslovakia, just as the Soviet drive for Berlin was also foreseen. Nevertheless, when expectation became reality, a ghastly electric shock went through Europe. Here was naked Soviet aggression.

● — ● — ●

From the Foreign Offices of almost every free European nation, the same inquiries poured into Washington. Was American policy just talk and dollars? Or was the United States genuinely ready to fight for the cause of freedom in the world, if need arose?

If Secretary Marshall had had to reply to these inquiries that our policy was just talk and dollars, the weak and undefended western European nations would have had only one course open to them. They could not resist the Soviet Union alone and unaided. They would have been almost irresistibly impelled to seek what terms they could obtain at Moscow. The front of the free world would have been broken. The United States would have been isolated, alone and in dire peril. It was to give a convincingly reassuring answer to Scandinavia, to Benelux, to France and Italy and Britain, that President Truman went before the Congress to ask for the draft, and Secretary Marshall at last declared our purpose with grim frankness in California.

Now again, as a result of the Berlin crisis, the same kind of chain reaction threatens. The Soviet move comes at a well calculated time. The western European union has not been completed by American adherence. The western European nations have not yet received the minimum arms needed for reasonable defense. The American striking force is partly crippled by the after-effects of the criminal petty squabbling between the armed services. There will be a strong temptation to appease, especially in Europe, where the first brunt of Soviet attack must be borne. At this writing, however, the chances seem to be that the bolder of the two choices outlined above will be preferred.

If we stand firm at Berlin, we can at least be encouraged in doing so by the analysis of Russia's motives for her present aggressions which is generally accepted by the American policy makers.

They believe that the violence of the Soviet response to the European Recovery Program flows from the knowledge of the Soviet leaders that their system is too weak to stand the competition of a healthy, reconstructed Europe. They believe, that is, that the Soviet motive is preventive, the intention being to create conditions in which the healthy reconstruction of Europe will be impossible. That this is now the danger is acknowledged.

One of the wisest makers of American policy has sadly admitted, "If we cave in at Berlin, we risk defeating the whole purpose of the ERP." Berlin is by no means the only danger point—the critical character of the Finnish situation, for example, has escaped general notice. But what is now important is to pass these crucial weeks ahead without appeasement or surrender or a serious break in the front of freedom. If this can be achieved, a new and more constructive phase, less marked by hairbreadth escapes from total disaster, will at last begin to open.

Taxing Powers Back In Hands Of Congress, Where It Belongs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Control of the taxing power is back in the hands of Congress, where it belongs.

Abuse of the presidential veto to compel a two-thirds vote before the people can get changes in their tax rates has resulted in a humiliating defeat for President Truman.

Taking his cue from the late President Roosevelt, who vetoed a tax bill for the first time in history—a veto which, incidentally, was overridden, too—Mr. Truman twice prevented the national legislature from fixing tax rates.

Now by a substantial marjority—well over two thirds—the Congress has taken back into its own hands the fixing of tax rates.

It might be said that Congress can be prevented again from making new tax laws. But it is a far different thing to enact a new law now than it has been heretofore when a minority of Congress, supporting a presidential veto, could keep existing high rates in effect indefinitely.

When so many members of President Truman's own party in both the House and Senate desert him to vote for tax changes, it is a sign that the Chief Executive has adopted a stubborn position which makes his leadership of the party more theoretical than real.

In this campaign year the Democrats who voted to override the veto must go before the people saying, in effect, that the President was wrong in his attitude.

Truman's Arguments Much Alike

The arguments made in the first two veto messages are much the same as in the one sent to Congress last week. Mr. Truman says that tax reduction isn't possible because of huge expenses abroad or because surpluses must be used for debt retirement. What he is contending, in reality, is that the American people must operate indefinitely under wartime tax rates.

Mr. Truman uses the same demagogic line he has employed before—namely, that 40 per cent of the tax reduction goes to people who earn more than $5,000 a year. Does he mean that tax policy must be based on some form of communistic share-the-income doctrine such as undermined democracy abroad and weakened so many countries?

By overriding the veto, the legislators have responded to public opinion. To the argument that tax reduction will produce inflation by increasing the purchasing power of millions in the low-income brackets, there is a simple answer. It is that the huge expenditures by government, which create new demands for goods, are sending prices upward in an inflationary cycle and the low-income groups need the purchasing power to maintain a decent standard of living.

Mr. Truman endeavored to rebutt the contention that investors would be helped and thus business would benefit by the inflow of more risk capital if taxes were reduced. He said business profits were high and funds had been available in adequate quantity. But he failed to distinguish between borrowed money with fixed obligations and interest and the lack of equity money such as has built up American industrial power.

If the tax structure had not been changed this year, the whole economic structure would have been weakened.

Mr. Truman hinted twice before at the possibility of a crisis overseas and now he doesn't have to hint, because the situation with Russia is plain to see. But Congress understands that, too, and has come to the conclusion that if war breaks out higher tax rates can be enacted overnight. The American people will gladly pay wartime tax rates during a war. What they object to is the arbitrary attitude of a President who says, in effect, that wartime tax rates must continue for decades to come. If his reasoning is accepted, there can never be any tax reduction while there is a huge public debt, and obviously the public debt will not be reduced materially for fifty years.

Policy of Obstruction

Mr. Truman has failed to apply a reasonable policy either to debt retirement or tax reduction and, after having been opposed twice by a majority of Congress, he has endeavored a third time to maintain his policy of obstruction.

There may be a deficit instead of a surplus if war-emergency spending grows but there is also the chance that the very armament spending may swell tax receipts at the new rates to levels never before reached, so that the estimated loss of revenues will not materialize at all. In any event, Congress will meet the fiscal situation as it arises and it will take only a majority vote to enact higher tax rates if they become necessary. Tax legislation should be left to a congressional majority, which, irrespective of party, usually reflects the will of the people. In a parliamentary system of government, Mr. Truman would now be out of office as he has been repudiated on a measure of prime importance by more than a two-third majority.

Crime Reports

Year by year, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, issues reports on the increase of crime in the United States. He says:

"Compared with prewar figures, urban crime in 1947 was still high with rape and aggravated assault 48.3 percent and 59.5 percent over the average for 1938-41. Nineteen forty-seven urban crime exceeded prewar average figures in other categories as follows: Murder, 15.4 percent; burglary, 15.3 percent; robbery, 14.6 percent; larceny, 2.6 percent; negligent manslaughter, 2.1 percent; and auto theft, 1.9 percent."

He adds:

". . . Arrests of males under 21 increased 10.5 percent over the figures of 1946 and arrests of girls under 21 declined 6.6 percent. . . ."

There seems to be a tendency to attribute the crime increase to dislocations and brutalization attending a war era. But that can be no explanation for increases of crime among those who remained in the bosoms of their families during the war years. Or were they not so carefully guarded and nurtured? Certainly, we are up against the fact that the usual economic cause for crime, stark, brutal, debasing poverty, does not exist here. What poverty does exist in the United States is neither stark nor debasing and public and private agencies of succor and relief do serve those who are helpless and dependent. Furthermore, we have expended an enormous budget for more than a century on general education, in most states with some measure of competence; in some, less so.

Furthermore, there has been no general unemployment during this period; in fact, in some areas there has been a shortage of labor and everywhere wages have been extraordinarily high and attractive, although taxes and the high cost of living have cut into earnings.

Nevertheless, crime increases, and it increases among the young. It is even possible to assume that crime has, for some children, become fun. Yet, never in our history have such efforts been made to organize play, to provide outlets for individual and collective endeavor ("activities," I believe the educators call it) than in recent years. In large cities, particularly, there are city-supported playgrounds, swimming pools, and such devices.

Suppose we are not to deal with crime but with virtue! Suppose we were to ask why young people do not commit crimes! What makes them good?

I attended, as a boy, a public school in a New York slum—one of the very worst slums in this complex city. All of the boys came from what these days would be called "underprivileged homes." I should say that for most of the boys, a penny was a lot of money. Some of the boys lunched on a frankfurter and roll sold by a pushcart peddler for a cent or two. I knew of boys who lunched on a roll with mustard to sweeten it.

Now I have come across some of those boys 40 years later and many of them are fine men, some in the higher professions, some in business. There may be some thieves and racketeers. A few of my classmates were earning their livings as pickpockets even while we were in elementary school. In fact, I recall one boy who opened a school for pickpocketing, but his pupils were very few, indeed.

What kept most of these children of immigrants who lived in stark poverty virtuous? Many of their parents were totally absorbed in the task, from sunrise to sunset, of earning a meager living. Few of their parents were literate in any language. Fewer still could speak English or were familiar with the mores of this country. Yet they maintained a high standard of ethics and were guided by moral law.

The answer, of course, is that they did not live secular lives. They were a deeply religious people whose personal lives were closely associated with God's Law of right and wrong. And they knew God's Law and handed it down to their children with unfailing certainty. Theirs was not a "relative" world but one in which "Thus saith the Lord" was controlling. They called it "respect," but it meant obedience and love.

Secularization of education may have advantages but it has produced no substitute for moral law. J. Edgar Hoover might look into that.

NEW YORK, April 5—In the early 1900s the south side of 14th St., facing Union Square, was the Rialto of the town, "the hanging out" place for stage folk, such as were the sidewalks outside the Palace Theatre during the lush 1920s, when vaudeville was in its prime. Some of the best known theatres were located in the neighborhood; Tony Pastor's, between Irving Place and Third Ave.; the Dewey Theatre, opposite it; the Union Square, between Fourth Ave. and Broadway, and the 14th St. Opera House, near Sixth Ave.—diagonally across from Macy's—which some years ago was restored as Eva Le Gallienne's Repertory Theatre. One of William Foxs first houses, the City Theatre, was adjacent to Luchow's. Nearby, at Irving Place and 15th St. still stands the Irving Place Theatre, now given over to second run films or foreign movies, which replaced the shabby burlesque productions which the house had featured.

The Irving Place Theatre opened in the 1870s and was dedicated primarily to presenting the German classics. In its days of glory it featured such distinguished names as Leo Ditrichstein, Dudolph Schildkraut, star of the Yiddish stage and father of Joseph Schildkraut; and Rudolph Christians, father of Mady Christians. Early in the 1900s August Luchow took over direction of the theatre, but after five years relinquished it to devote all his time to his restaurant and to the importation of Wurzburger beer. He died in 1923 and the management of Luchow's passed into the hands of Victor Eckstein, who had assisted in operating the place since 1901. Eckstein's father, Victor Eckstein Sr., had arrived on these shores from Germany in 1867 and settled in the German community around Tompkins Square, between 14th and Houston Sts. east of Second Ave. For some years he worked at the Turn Hall with William Muschenheim, who later opened the Hotel Astor. The Turn Hall was destroyed by fire and Eckstein opened his own restaurant on E. Fourth St., near the quarters of the Aschenbroedel, the forerunner of today's musician's union, Local 802. The block, incidentally, was the Tin Pan Alley of its day, during the 1880s.

In 1901, Victor Eckstein Sr. retired, and his son, who had served his apprenticeship with him, went over to Luchow's. The relationship was further cemented when Eckstein married Luchow's niece. Under the passage of time; there have been no concessions to the fads and foibles of later generations that have altered other of New York's venerable restaurants beyond recognition. Luchow's still sprawls through the entire block between 14th and 13th Sts., its six dining rooms providing a feeling of intimacy, despite the size. The rear room, incidentally, occupies the site of one of New York's most famous institutions, Huber's Museum. The same ornate chandeliers, now featuring electricity instead of gas; the same dark walnut panelings; the same huge mirrors, dimmed slightly by the patina of time; the same beer steins perched atop the cornices; the same delectable Teutonic fare, including—now that the war is over—imported Pilsener beer. Ernest Seuter, the maitre d'hotel, is rounding out his 32d year. Many of the waiters have served nearly as long.

The members of the Vienna Artists Quartet, introduced there by Victor Herbert in 1902, have died off, one by one—each remembering the remaining ones in his will—but the type of music hasn't changed. To celebrate the 50th anniversary of the introduction of Wurzburger beer in America — specifically at Luchow's—Victor Eckstein was the honor guest at the festivities held at Wurzburg, Germany, in 1937. As a token of his visit he was presented with an oil painting of the bridge spanning the River Main, showing the famous castle and vine-covered hillsides in the background. The bridge was destroyed in an air raid during the war, but the painting still hangs at Luchow's. . .The 14th Street Country Club was formed about a decade ago by a group of businessmen and a few prominent politicians for the specific purpose of "having a good well-cooked meal once a month with some extra fine beer or wine at Luchow's." The stag luncheon is usually presided over by ex-Gov. Harold Hoffman of New Jersey. . .As an additional footnote to history, Luchow's received the first liquor license issued to a New York cafe on the repeal of prohibition. It is still the favorite New hangout of H. L. Mencken and his intellectual cronies, who find there the symbols of a vanished age of gracious living.

In 1947 for the first time on record the average U. S. production per cow was more than 5,000 pounds of milk.

The United States had about 1,400 schools of nursing not affiliated with colleges and universities in 1940.

John L. Conway Marries Virginia Lee McKnight

Father Landrigan Performs Ceremony

Mrs. Blanche McKnight, 124 West First Street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Virginia Lee McKnight, to John L. Conway, son of James M. Conway, 200 Virginia Avenue, and the late Mrs. Margaret M. Conway.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized at a nuptial mass at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan officiating. Easter lillies and candelabra of tall white tapers decorated the altar.

Mrs. Ruth Moore, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. Joseph H. Conway, Washington, served as his brother's best man. Rev. Joseph A. Graziani, soloist, sang "Panis Angelicus" and other selections were sung by the school choir.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Edward P. Kaylor, was attired in a hunter's green gabardine suit, with which she wore a pink hat trimmed in green veiling and black accessories. A corsage of camelia and orchids completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore a Navy blue suit with matching blue hat trimmed in white flowers and blue veiling. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

Mrs. McKnight chose a brown costume for her daughter's wedding; with it she wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride, a daughter of the late Leo F. McKnight, is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed as bookkeeper by the Cumberland Electric Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and a veteran of three years' service in the Army and was in active duty in the ETO three months after his induction. He is now cashier of the South Cumberland Savings Bank.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the bridal party and immediate families at Gordon's, Oldtown Road. The bridal theme was carried out in the three tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and arrangements of jonquils and iris centered all the tables. Covers were laid for 30 guests.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans and through the South, Mr. and Mrs. Conway will reside at 200 Virginia Avenue.

Out-of-town guests here for the ceremony were Mrs. Susan McKnight, grandmother of the bride; Miss Helen McKnight, Thomas McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. John McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Norris, uncles and aunts of the bride, all of Hancock; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Conway, Washington, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

John L. Conway Marries Virginia Lee McKnight

Father Landrigan Performs Ceremony

Mrs. Blanche McKnight, 124 West First Street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Virginia Lee McKnight, to John L. Conway, son of James M. Conway, 200 Virginia Avenue, and the late Mrs. Margaret M. Conway.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized at a nuptial mass at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan officiating. Easter lillies and candelabra of tall white tapers decorated the altar.

Mrs. Ruth Moore, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. Joseph H. Conway, Washington, served as his brother's best man. Rev. Joseph A. Graziani, soloist, sang "Panis Angelicus" and other selections were sung by the school choir.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Edward P. Kaylor, was attired in a hunter's green gabardine suit, with which she wore a pink hat trimmed in green veiling and black accessories. A corsage of camelia and orchids completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore a Navy blue suit with matching blue hat trimmed in white flowers and blue veiling. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

Mrs. McKnight chose a brown costume for her daughter's wedding; with it she wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride, a daughter of the late Leo F. McKnight, is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed as bookkeeper by the Cumberland Electric Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and a veteran of three years' service in the Army and was in active duty in the ETO three months after his induction. He is now cashier of the South Cumberland Savings Bank.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the bridal party and immediate families at Gordon's, Oldtown Road. The bridal theme was carried out in the three tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and arrangements of jonquils and iris centered all the tables. Covers were laid for 30 guests.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans and through the South, Mr. and Mrs. Conway will reside at 200 Virginia Avenue.

Out-of-town guests here for the ceremony were Mrs. Susan McKnight, grandmother of the bride; Miss Helen McKnight, Thomas McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. John McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Norris, uncles and aunts of the bride, all of Hancock; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Conway, Washington, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Advised To Stop Thinking About Youth Who Keeps Making Excuses

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17 years old and very much in love with a boy of the same age, but recently we broke up. He told me he loved me very much but said he wasn't good enough for me; that he didn't have a good name and didn't want to spoil mine.

Now he goes with an other girl, and all his boy friends tell me that he doesn't like her but just goes with her because he has to go with some one. They say that he loves me too much to keep going with me because I am too good for him.

"P. C."

Dear "P. C.":

As I look at it, you would make a great mistake to try and get this boy back, because frankly I don't think he wants to return. When a boy tells a girl that he has to give her up because she is too good for him, it almost always means that he wants to stop going with her and thinks that is a good way to do it. It makes him look like a hero and, at the same time, provides him with an easy out.

My advice to you is to stop thinking about this chap and let him alone entirely.

Friendship Ring

Dear Miss Fairfax:

If a girl takes a friendship ring from a boy, does that mean they are going steady?

"MARY"

Dear "Mary":

I am not very well informed on the etiquette of friendship rings, but my teen-age friends tell me that when a girl accepts a friendship ring, it is usually considered a symbol of "going steady." If you are in any doubt about it, however, I don't see why you shouldn't ask your boy friend frankly how he looks at it, and then make up your mind accordingly.

Sentence Suspended In Assault Case

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday disposed of an assault charge brought against Milton J. Weisenborne, Eckhart, by suspending sentence on condition Weisenborne refrain from "further difficulty" with his sister, Mrs. Isabelle Gunter, the prosecuting witness.

The alleged assault occurred March 21. Weisenborne pleaded guilty to the charge. The case was transferred to Trial Magistrates Court here from the jurisdiction of Magistrate James P. Kenney, Frostburg, who is ill.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew gave a suspended sentence to Frank B. Vandegrift, Southern Hotel, on a charge of driving an automobile with expired license tags.

Vandegrift, who was arrested on Henderson Boulevard March 4 by Trooper William F. Baker, entered a not guilty plea.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Advised To Stop Thinking About Youth Who Keeps Making Excuses

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax: .. ..

I am 17 years old and very much in love with a boy of the same age, but recently we broke up. He told me he loved me very much but said he wasn't good enough for me; that he didn't have a good name and didn't want to spoil mine.

Now he goes with an other girl, and all his boy friends tell me that he doesn't like her but just goes with her because he has to go with some one. They say that he loves me too much to keep going with me because I am too good for him.

"P. C."

Dear "P. C.":

As I look at it, you would make a great mistake to try and get this boy back, because frankly I don't think he wants to return. When a boy tells a girl that he has to give her up because she is too good for him, it almost always means that he wants to stop going with her and thinks that is a good way to do it. It makes him look like a hero and, at the same time, provides him with an easy out.

My advice to you is to stop thinking about this chap and let him alone entirely.

Friendship Ring

Dear Miss Fairfax:

If a girl takes a friendship ring from a boy, does that mean they are going steady?

"MARY"

Dear "Mary":

I am not very well informed on the etiquette of friendship rings, but my teen-age friends tell me that when a girl accepts a friendship ring, it is usually considered a symbol of "going steady." If you are in any doubt about it, however, I don't see why you shouldn't ask your boy friend frankly how he looks at it, and then make up your mind accordingly.

Sentence Suspended In Assault Case

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday disposed of an assault charge brought against Milton J. Weisenborne, Eckhart, by suspending sentence on condition Weisenborne refrain from "further difficulty" with his sister, Mrs. Isabelle Gunter, the prosecuting witness.

The alleged assault occurred March 21. Weisenborne pleaded guilty to the charge. The case was transferred to Trial Magistrates Court here from the jurisdiction of Magistrate James P. Kenney, Frostburg, who is ill.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew gave a suspended sentence to Frank B. Vandegrift, Southern Hotel, on a charge of driving an automobile with expired license tags.

Vandegrift, who was arrested on Henderson Boulevard March 4 by Trooper William F. Baker, entered a not guilty plea.

Graziano Defeats "Sonny" Horne In Washington

6,000 See Rocky Capture Verdict At Uline Arena

Champion Donates Purse To Charity

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 5. — (AP) — Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano, the bad boy of boxing, returned to the ring tonight to pound out a narrow-squeak, ten round decision over Sonny Horne. Rocky's title wasn't involved.

Graziano weighed 160, Horne 161.

The decision of the judges was unanimous, but many in the crowd of 6,000 thought Horne had won, and therefore booed mightily.

Graziano, a back alley type fighter who usually depends on one punch to win, stalked Horne throughout the fight, but he never connected.

Horne, from Valley Stream, Long Island, kept his left parked in Graziano's face most of the fight. But Graziano isn't the type to fret over a little thing like that.

He kept wading in and in and in. The Rock opened a cut over Horne's left eye, and then evened things up by opening a cut over Horne's right eye in the eighth.

At the finish blood was streaming down Horne's face. And Graziano's pretty white pants were covered with blood—Horne's.

Yet it wasn't a one-sided fight. It was just that when Graziano did hit he hit hard. When Horne landed, Graziano didn't even act as if he noticed it.

Tonight's bout climaxed a weird rigamarole involving the middleweight champion.

First he was barred in New York for failing to report a bribe. Then Illinois and 13 other states turned thumbs down on him because the boy from New York's East Side once went leisurely A.W.O.L. from the Army.

Tonight's bout is supposed to have helped clear the slate.

Graziano gave his entire purse which probably will be in excess of $10,000, to charity, and the stage is all set for a return match with Tony Zale, the former champion, on June 9, in Newark.

Judging from the way Graziano was missing potential haymakers tonight he'll need a lot of luck, and considerably better timing on his punches, in that one.

Charles-Ray Fight Postponed Second Time

CHICAGO, April 5 (INS)—The once-postponed Ezzard Charles-Elmer Ray fight became twice-postponed today when three Illinois Athletic Commission doctors agreed Charles' back is sore enough to impair his training.

The fight, originally scheduled for April 7, was put off last week to April 12 because of Charles' back. Now, promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun say, "The next date we can get into Chicago Stadium is May 7."

So, apparently, May 7 it is.

Winn Is Re-Elected

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP) — Col. Matt J. Winn, "Father" of the Kentucky Derby, today was re-elected president of the American Turf Association.

Winn will celebrate his 87th birthday on June 30th. He has headed the association which operates Churchill Downs since 1902.

Cards Like St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals will sign a three-year contract with St. Petersburg to train here through 1951, it was announced today by Robert E. Hannegan, president and general manager of the National League baseball club.

Phils Sell Gilbert

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies today sold outfielder Charley Gilbert to Nashville of the Southern Association. Gilbert hit .237 in 81 games for the Phillies last season. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The average Nebraska quail hunter shot six times to bag one bird last fall. Hunters using dogs lost only nine per cent of the quail they knocked down as compared with 20 per cent lost by those without dogs.

ECKHART SPORTSMEN PLANT 7,000 SHRUBS, TREES IN GAME AREA

FROSTBURG, April 5—Nineteen members of the Eckhart Square Circle Sportsmen's Association and thirteen members of the junior group planted 2,000 scotch pine and 3,000 red pine trees and 2,000 wild honeysuckle shrubs furnished by the Soil Conservation Department of Maryland. The trees and shrubs were planted on Piney Mountain and game propagation area on the Marshall Porter farm near Eckhart.

Sunday evening, 7:30 o'clock, the association was entertained at their club house with a motion picture, "Its No Picnic," shown by Brook Bodkins, state forester. During the business meeting a resolution was introduced requesting the State Game Commission to approve a 30 day squirrel season from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

State Department Halts Schmeling's Comeback In U. S.

Former Heavy Champ Unable To Get Visa

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS)—Max Schmeling's proposed comeback tour in the United States was halted tonight by a technical knockout scored by the State Department.

The department notified representatives McDowell (R) Pa., chairman of the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee on Fascism, that the former world's heavyweight champion is not eligible to obtain a visa in Germany to come to this country under present regulations.

Rep. McDowell Protests

McDowell protested last month against the proposed trip of the one-time German paratrooper which was tentatively planned by a Washington promoter.

In response, H. S. L'Heureux, chief of the visa division of the State Department, advised the congressman that at the present time, Schmeling will not be given permission to enter the United States.

L'Heureux, in a letter, remarked that visas for admission to this country can be granted to Germans "coming only within certain specified categories." He added:

"As Mr. Schmeling does not appear to come within any of these categories, there is apparently no action which may be taken on his case at this time with a view to providing him with a visa for admission to the United States."

He also advised that should Schmeling attempt to gain entry to the United States when the regulations are relaxed, his record as a hero of the Hitler regime would be carefully considered.

Condemns Proposed Tour

McDowell, in his original protest, declared the proposed tour of the 43-year-old former German heavyweight was "a shoddy trick" on the sports fans of the United States.

He declared that since his original complaint against Schmeling he had learned that the German had been utilized by the Nazis in their propaganda work in US prisoner of war camps. McDowell said:

"His name and fame were widely exploited by the Nazi government and he loaned himself to every effort to build up hatred among the Axis powers against the people of the United States."

Schmeling ruled the heavyweights for two years after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey. He also was the only fighter to defeat Joe Louis in his professional career, scoring a 12-round knockout in 1936.

Two years later, the American negro thrashed him in a one-round beating.

Jack To Fight Greco

MONTREAL, April 5 (AP) — Beau Jack, former world lightweight champ from Augusta, Ga., will come here to wind up training for his Friday night fight with Montreal's Johnny Greco.

It will be the third meeting between Greco and Jack.

Two years ago they drew and in a return match a few months later Jack hammered out a clean-cut decision.

Judge Rules Baltimore Orioles Have Right To Play In Stadium

Club Must Tone Down Loudspeaker System

BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles can stop worrying. They'll have a place to play baseball when they get back home this week from spring training.

Judge E. Paul Mason ruled today that the city has the right to lease the municipal stadium to the International League team. The decision came just five days before the team is due back to open its home exhibition schedule.

The decision had been hanging fire since March 8 when a three-week trial of a suit brought by 27 stadium neighbors ended. The neighbors asked an injunction against lease of the bowl to the Orioles because their games created a nuisance and violated the zoning ordinance.

The stadium is the only ball park available to the Baltimore team. Its own park burned down in 1944 and the club has used the stadium for the past four seasons.

Judge Mason, while refusing the injunction, did order the Orioles to be quieter. He restrained them from using the loudspeaker system with its present volume.

As for the complaints of rowdyism, dust and parking problems, that's the responsibility of the police, Judge Mason said. He held the city charter gave the Board of Parks the power to lease the stadium and was not violating any zoning ordinance in its contract with the Orioles.

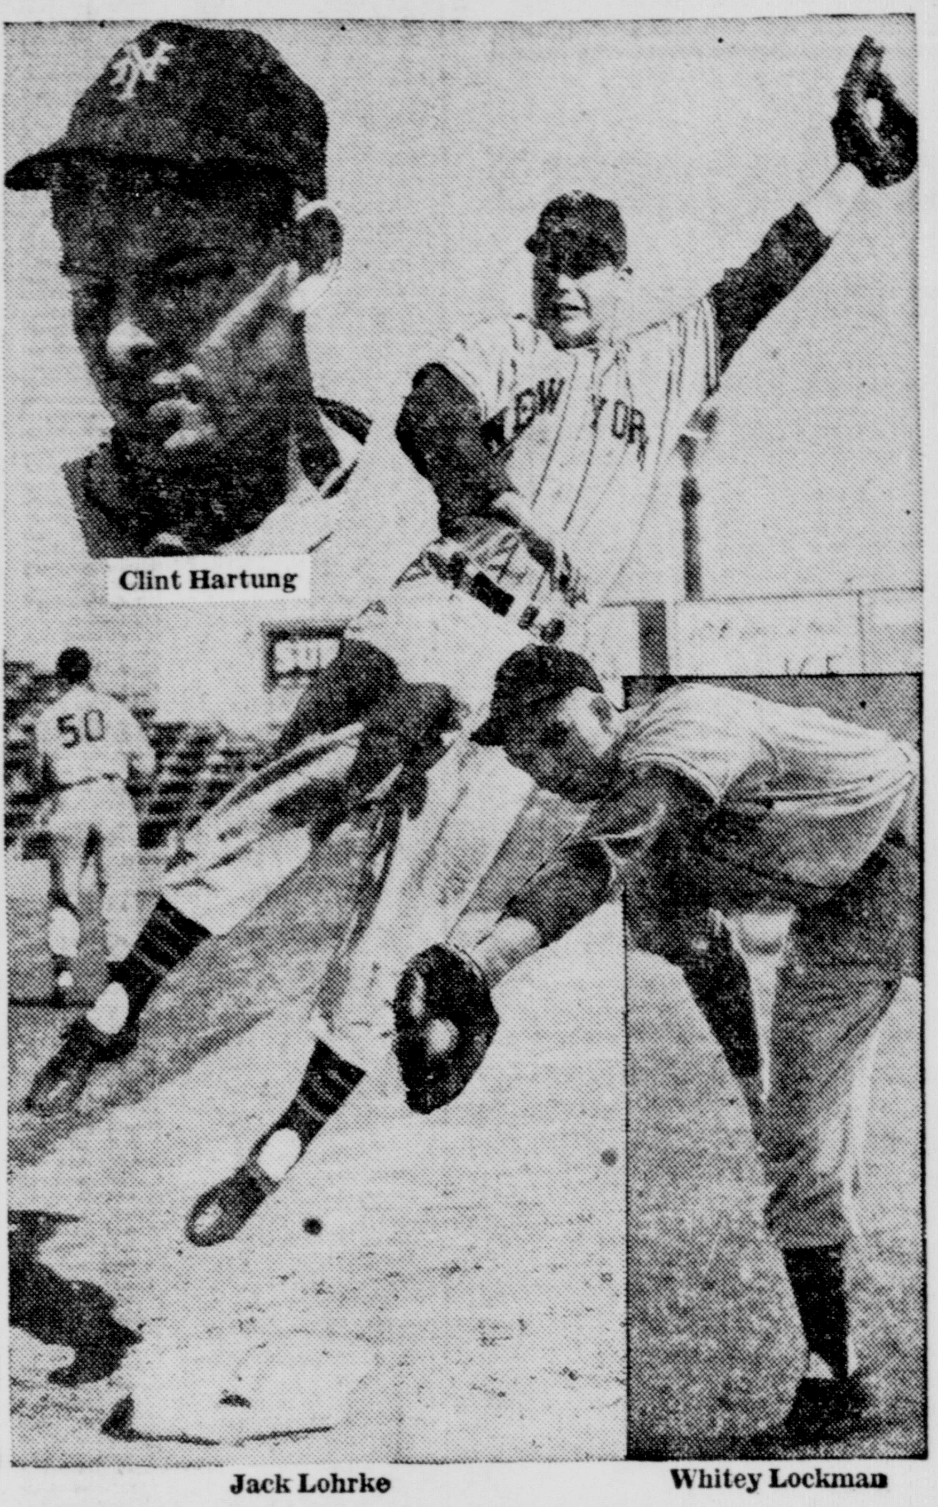
POWER-LADEN GIANTS, WITH HILL HELP, COULD BE STRONG COMPETITOR FOR FLAG

Wes Westrum

Larry Jansen



Clint Hartung

Jack Lohrke

Whitey Lockman

By Central Press

PHOENIX, Ariz.—There are more than just a few capable baseball observers who look for the New York Giants to be in the thick of the National league pennant race.

With so much power generated by their batsmen last season (221 homers) and their continued display of the same in the training camp engagements this spring (the Giants hit 17 homers in 11 games) it's easy to see why rival managers and others rate the Giants a competitor.

A little help in the pitching department, something the Giants may get via the trade route before June 15, would give the New Yorkers just what they need to be "the" club in the senior circuit.

Even Manager Mel Ott is enthusiastic about his chances, with his present pitching staff. Ott points out that several things went wrong last year, and most important of all was the failure of the Giants to have effective relief twirling as the race went into the stretch.

KEN TRINKLE, the reliefer, had to go to the mound in 62 games and Ott has indicated he'll have help this year. The Giants' boss looks for a classy performance from Dave Koslo, the southpaw star, who won 15 games before a bad arm reduced his effectiveness as the club neared the finale.

Ray Poat, former member of the Indians, came up to the Giants late in the season after a 11-7 mark with Baltimore, ran into some bad luck and won four games where he might have won more.

Larry Jansen, the rookie star who won 21 to lead the club on the mound; Clint Hartung, the fabulous Texan who started in the outfield and then was shifted to the mound, have had a year of experience and both could improve on their records. Joe Beggs, picked up from Cincinnati, underwent an operation for bone chips last winter and he should be vastly improved.

In addition to these regular members of the staff, Ott has several young pitchers who may be ready to help the club. Bill Ayers, a righthander who won seven for Jersey City; Sheldon Jones, brought up late last season from Jersey City, and Earl McGowan, a southpaw who notched 17 victories for Minneapolis, appear to have the best chance.

FOR the first time in many years the Giants approach the opener with a third baseman. He is Jack Lohrke, the Los Angeles boy who made the grade last season. The team's second baseman, Bill Rigney, the fancy fielder, is on the shelf with a bad arm and is taking treatments. His spot is being filled by Jack Conway, who was with Cleveland, and Jaime Almendro, who hit for .350 with Danville last season.

Buddy Kerr, who had a fine season in 1947, is the second sacker and Jarrin' Johnny Mize, who smashed 51 home runs last year to break the all-time Giant record, is cemented at first.

Among the newcomers seeking infield recognition is Bobby Rhawn, a .302 hitter with Minneapolis in 1947, who has been tested at third base during the spring campaign here.

Sid Gordon, the all-around star, has been playing in left field and seems determined to make a bid for one of the outfield jobs.

Walker Cooper is the catcher and his help will come from Wes Westrum, a .294 hitter with Minneapolis last season.

The Giants led the National league last season as late as May 31 but they started to fold and by July 31 they were 10 games behnid the Dodgers. At the finish they were in fourth place, 13 games behind the champs.

Rocking Chair Loop Will Open On May 4

Teams Play 28 Games; Brant Is Re-Elected

The Rocking Chair Softball League will launch its 1948 campaign on Tuesday, May 4, and each team will play a 28-game schedule, it was announced by President Arthur E. Brant following a meeting of the circuit last night at the K. of C. Home.

It was decided to limit the number of teams in the league to eight as last year. Six holdover clubs, namely, the B.P.O. Elks, K. of C., Loyal Order of Moose, Potomac Edison, Cumberland Outdoor Club and Texcel are sure starters for the new season and the Fraternal Order of Eagles was admitted as the 7th club. The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will make a decision on Wednesday whether it will retain its franchise or withdraw.

In event the J.A.C. withdraws either the Cumberland Amvets or Goodfellowship Club will be the eighth starter. The other seven clubs will cast ballots to determine which of the new applicants will be admitted.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will not field a team this season.

Teams will play their games on Tuesdays and Thursdays and contests will be suspended during the two weeks of the races at Fairgo, July 20 to 31.

Arthur E. Brant was re-elected president while Joe Garlitz was named secretary-treasurer and J. Suter Kegg, secretary.

The next session of the league is set for Friday, April 16 at 8 o'clock at the K. of C. Home.

Crusaders Will Play Moose Team On Sunday

Sunday School Quints Battle For 4th Place

It's a battle for a fourth place playoff spot in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League as the teams conclude their regular 18-game schedule Saturday on the "Y" court.

Here's how the top teams now stand:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Grace Methodist	16	1	.941
Grace Baptist	15	2	.882
1st Presbyterian	15	2	.882
Calvary Methodist	14	3	.824
St. John's	13	4	.765

The fourth place battle is between Calvary Methodist of Ridgeley, defending champions, and St. John's which now stand fourth and fifth, one game apart.

If Grace Baptist defeats Calvary and St. John's wins over Zion the 4th place battle will end in a tie, necessitating a playoff game. Calvary can clinch 4th place by winning Saturday's game.

The playoff series will likely get under way next week.

Griffith Stadium Gets Terps' Games

New Field Is Still In Blueprint Stage

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 5 (AP)—Its new stadium still is in the blueprint stage, so the University of Maryland will play its four home football games next season in Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Athletic Director and Coach Jim Tatum announced the switch today. The move was dictated by the fact that Maryland's Byrd Stadium can seat only 14,000. Griffith Stadium can hold more than 30,000.

The Maryland games to be played in Washington are with Virginia Poly, Oct. 9; Duke, Oct. 16; George Washington, Oct. 23, and North Carolina, Nov. 13.

Maryland had hoped to have its own 32,000 seat bowl built for next season. But the plans haven't jelled and the new amphitheatre won't be finished until the 1949 season.

Masters Tourney Committee Ousts Frank Stranahan

Ohioan Charged With Publicizing Dispute

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (INS)—The Masters' Golf Tournament committee officially announced tonight that amateur Frank Stranahan has been ousted from the Augusta tournament. The Masters' officials also charged the Toledo golfer with publicizing the dispute.

Tournament chairman Clifford Roberts issued a statement in Augusta for the Masters' committee. Roberts described the continuance of golfdom's latest squabble as "publicity apparently inspired by Mr. Stranahan." He said:

Disregarded Regulations

"Mr. Stranahan, last Friday, was advised that his invitation had been withdrawn because of disregard of regulations made for the protection of the golf course and for the benefit of all players in the tournament."

Roberts said that the committee "had hoped that the necessity of making a public statement with respect to Mr. Stranahan's status could be avoided." The tournament chairman continued:

"Continued publicity of the incident . . . now forces us to make a statement."

Stranahan has commented very little on the withdrawal of his invitation. He made no statement until he was informed Sunday night that he was "definitely out of the tournament."

At that time the wealthy Ohio sparkplug heir called the tournament committee "high hats." Stranahan added:

"I've got a lot of people behind me and they're (the tournament officials) going to hear about this."

Stranahan would not comment on the incident early tonight. He stated he would have to confer with friends and advisers before saying anything.

Putted On Damp Green

The mystery of the entire incident is Stranahan's alleged violation. The committee generalized in its statement by calling Stranahan's ouster a result of "a repetition of similar offenses of which he had been guilty last year and against which he had been warned."

Earlier it was reported that the 1947 runnerup in the Masters' Tournament became involved with Augusta officials while putting on a damp green. Stranahan was said to have been ordered to halt this practice and an argument followed.

Neither the tournament committee or Stranahan has confirmed this report.

Brewers Will Drill

Queen City's Brewers of the Bi-State Baseball League will report for practice today at 5:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Lafferty Scores Upset By Winning Over Earl Smith

Lewis Flattens Hines, Wade Defeats Frazier

Staging a whirlwind finish in the last two rounds after being held on practically even terms for three stanzas, Randall "Skeets" Starkey, the "Fighting High School Boy" from Wiley Ford, W. Va., added another scalp to his growing list by outpointing Dick Bryant, welterweight of the Eastern Police Boys' Club, Baltimore, in a fast five-round feature bout of the Cumberland Amvets' amateur boxing show last night at the State Armory.

By marking up an unanimous decision Starkey atoned for the setback he suffered at the hands of Bryant in the quarter-finals of the recent South Atlantic A.A.U. tournament at Baltimore. The decision given Bryant in Baltimore proved unpopular with a large crowd.

Bryant's appearance for last night's bout came as a surprise since Matchmaker Robert V. "Sparky" Chisholm was advised Friday night that the Baltimore team had cancelled its trip here. Henry Carter of Central City, Pa., had been substituted for Bryant.

The Baltimorean made a great fight of it for three rounds and it was so close that it was hard to choose between the battlers. In the fourth, however, Starkey "stepped on it" and for the last two rounds he was Bryant's master. Starkey landed the best punches of the fight in the final round when he connected with two solid right handed smashes flush on his opponent's jaw.

It was Starkey's 19th victory in 27 amateur matches.

Lafferty Beats Smith

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the evening was provided by "Sonny" Lafferty, up and coming flyweight from "Bobby" Green's St. Mary's A. C., who won the last two rounds and a clean-cut decision over the experienced Earl Smith, scrappy 112-pound LaSalle High School student. Lafferty outpunched and outboxed Smith by a good margin in the second and third rounds and romped off with a 3-0 verdict that pleased the fans.

Another surprise occurred in the fourth bout on the card when Wilbur Lewis, of the Keystate A.C., Central City, Pa., who fights under the name of "Young Joe Louis," knocked out the youthful "veteran" Billy Hines of the Zan A.C., of Morgantown, W. Va., in 1:58 of the second round.

After a slow first round, Lewis rocked Hines with a terrific left hook to the head as the second heat got under way then put the West Virginian down with a terrific right to the mid-section. Hines rolled over several times and came up at the count of nine. Then Lewis belted Hines out for the full count with several terrific lefts to the tummy.

Wade Whips Frazier

Tojo Wade, the "clowning" middleweight from Central City, Pa., fought more seriously in his second appearance here and proved too good a fighter for Bill Frazier, Diamond A.C., in the third bout on the program. Wade punished Bill about the head and body with his two-fisted attack and romped off with a 2-1 decision.

Three of the four other matches on the card ended in kayoes. Johnny Spesock, of Central City, proved no match for Jimmy Deetz in the curtain-raiser and the former lost on a TKO in 1:55 of the first round. Joe King of Central City either slipped or was knocked down five times in the third round before Melvin Washington scored a TKO in 1:57. Bill Mann floored Johnny Mason of Central City twice before stretching him for the full count in 1:43 on the second round.

In the final match Jimmie Catanese won the nod over Joe Lee of the Zan A.C. Catanese tried to make a fight of it but Lee was too cautious and the result was a dull bout.

Starkey To Fight Merwood

It was announced that the Police Boys' Club will stage an amateur card here next Monday with "Skeets" Starkey and Danny Merwood, of Washington, D. C., in the main go and Melvin Washington and "Rusty" Sanders, Washington, and Earl Smith and "Bucky" Frazier, Washington, in supporting bouts.

Yankees Ask Waivers On Chandler Who Has Been With Team 11 Years

If He Fails To Connect He'll Get Scouting Job

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees today asked waivers on Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, 39-year-old pitcher, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

The announcement was made by co-owner Dan Topping of the Yankees, while the club was in Haines City, Fla., for a game with its Newark, N. J.; farm.

The waiver call on Chandler came only one day after another pitcher, Floyd (Bill) Bevens, was packed off to a Baltimore hospital with a lame arm.

Chandler, in 11 seasons with the Yankees, won 109 games and lost only 43 to boast the best won and lost percentage of any current big league pitcher. He came up with a dead arm in midsummer last year. His 1947 record was only nine won and five lost. However, he led all American League pitchers in earned runs, with a 2.46 average.

The Georgian underwent an elbow operation last October — the second such of his career — but apparently, it helped little.

This spring he pitched three innings for the Yankees in an exhibition game against St. Louis Cardinals, and was hit hard. Chandler later declared that a "pinch" developed in his elbow following his three-inning mound stint.

The matter of asking waivers on Chandler was decided on by mutual agreement so that Spud might shop around for another job before the season opened. If the veteran righthander fails to connect with a pitching job, Topping said he will always welcome him back as a scout.

Earlier this year, the Yankees released pitcher Bobo Newsom under the same circumstances. Bobo is still trying to sell his services to a major league club.

Graziano Defeats "Sonny" Horne In Washington

Champion Donates Purse To Charity

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 5. — (AP) — Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano, the bad boy of boxing, returned to the ring tonight to pound out a narrow-squeak, ten round decision over Sonny Horne. Rocky's title wasn't involved.

Graziano weighed 160, Horne 161. The decision of the judges was unanimous, but many in the crowd of 6,000 thought Horne had won, and therefore booed mightily.

Graziano, a back alley type fighter who usually depends on one punch to win, stalked Horne throughout the fight, but he never connected.

Horne, from Valley Stream, Long Island, kept his left parked in Graziano's face most of the fight. But Graziano isn't the type to fret over a little thing like that.

He kept wading in and in and in. The Rock opened a cut over Horne's left eye, and then evened things up by opening a cut over Horne's right eye in the eighth.

At the finish blood was streaming down Horne's face. And Graziano's pretty white pants were covered with blood—Horne's.

Yet it wasn't a one-sided fight. It was just that when Graziano did hit he hit hard. When Horne landed, Graziano didn't even act as if he noticed it.

Tonight's bout climaxed a weird rigamarole involving the middleweight champion.

First he was barred in New York for failing to report a bribe. Then Illinois and 13 other states turned thumbs down on him because the boy from New York's East Side once went leisurely A.W.O.L. from the Army.

Tonight's bout is supposed to have helped clear the slate.

Graziano gave his entire purse which probably will be in excess of $10,000, to charity, and the stage is all set for a return match with Tony Zale, the former champion, on June 9, in Newark.

Judging from the way Graziano was missing potential haymakers tonight he'll need a lot of luck, and considerably better timing on his punches, in that one.

Charles-Ray Fight Postponed Second Time

CHICAGO, April 5 (INS)—The once-postponed Ezzard Charles-Elmer Ray fight became twice-postponed today when three Illinois Athletic Commission doctors agreed Charles' back is sore enough to impair his training.

The fight, originally scheduled for April 7, was put off last week to April 12 because of Charles' back. Now, promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun say, "The next date we can get into Chicago Stadium is May 7."

So, apparently, May 7 it is.

ECKHART SPORTSMEN PLANT 7,000 SHRUBS, TREES IN GAME AREA

FROSTBURG, April 5—Nineteen members of the Eckhart Square Circle Sportsmen's Association and thirteen members of the junior group planted 2,000 scotch pine and 3,000 red pine trees and 2,000 wild honeysuckle shrubs furnished by the Soil Conservation Department of Maryland. The trees and shrubs were planted on Piney Mountain and game propagation area on the Marshall Porter farm near Eckhart.

Sunday evening, 7:30 o'clock, the association was entertained at their club house with a motion picture, "Its No Picnic," shown by Brook Bodkins, state forester. During the business meeting a resolution was introduced requesting the State Game Commission to approve a 30 day squirrel season from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

State Department Halts Schmeling's Comeback In U. S.

Former Heavy Champ Unable To Get Visa

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS)—Max Schmeling's proposed comeback tour in the United States was halted tonight by a technical knockout scored by the State Department.

The department notified representatives McDowell (R) Pa., chairman of the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee on Fascism, that the former world's heavyweight champion is not eligible to obtain a visa in Germany to come to this country under present regulations.

Rep. McDowell Protests

McDowell protested last month against the proposed trip of the one-time German paratrooper which was tentatively planned by a Washington promoter.

In response, H. S. L'Heureux, chief of the visa division of the State Department, advised the congressman that at the present time, Schmeling will not be given permission to enter the United States.

L'Heureux, in a letter, remarked that visas for admission to this country can be granted to Germans "coming only within certain specified categories." He added:

"As Mr. Schmeling does not appear to come within any of these categories, there is apparently no action which may be taken on his case at this time with a view to providing him with a visa for admission to the United States."

He also advised that should Schmeling attempt to gain entry to the United States when the regulations are relaxed, his record as a hero of the Hitler regime would be carefully considered.

Condemns Proposed Tour

McDowell, in his original protest, declared the proposed tour of the 43-year-old former German heavyweight was "a shoddy trick" on the sports fans of the United States.

He declared that since his original complaint against Schmeling he had learned that the German had been utilized by the Nazis in their propaganda work in US prisoner of war camps. McDowell said:

"His name and fame were widely exploited by the Nazi government and he loaned himself to every effort to build up hatred among the Axis powers against the people of the United States."

Schmeling ruled the heavyweights for two years after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey. He also was the only fighter to defeat Joe Louis in his professional career, scoring a 12-round knockout in 1936.

Two years later, the American negro thrashed him in a one-round beating.

It will be the third meeting between Greco and Jack.

Two years ago they drew and in a return match a few months later Jack hammered out a clean-cut decision.

Judge Rules Baltimore Orioles Have Right To Play In Stadium

Club Must Tone Down Loudspeaker System

BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles can stop worrying. They'll have a place to play baseball when they get back home this week from spring training.

Judge E. Paul Mason ruled today that the city has the right to lease the municipal stadium to the International League team. The decision came just five days before the team is due back to open its home exhibition schedule.

The decision had been hanging fire since March 8 when a three-week trial of a suit brought by 27 stadium neighbors ended. The neighbors asked an injunction against lease of the bowl to the Orioles because their games created a nuisance and violated the zoning ordinance.

The stadium is the only ball park available to the Baltimore team. Its own park burned down in 1944 and the club has used the stadium for the past four seasons.

Judge Mason, while refusing the injunction, did order the Orioles to be quieter. He restrained them from using the loudspeaker system with its present volume.

As for the complaints of rowdyism, dust and parking problems, that's the responsibility of the police, Judge Mason said. He held the city charter gave the Board of Parks the power to lease the stadium and was not violating any zoning ordinance in its contract with the Orioles.

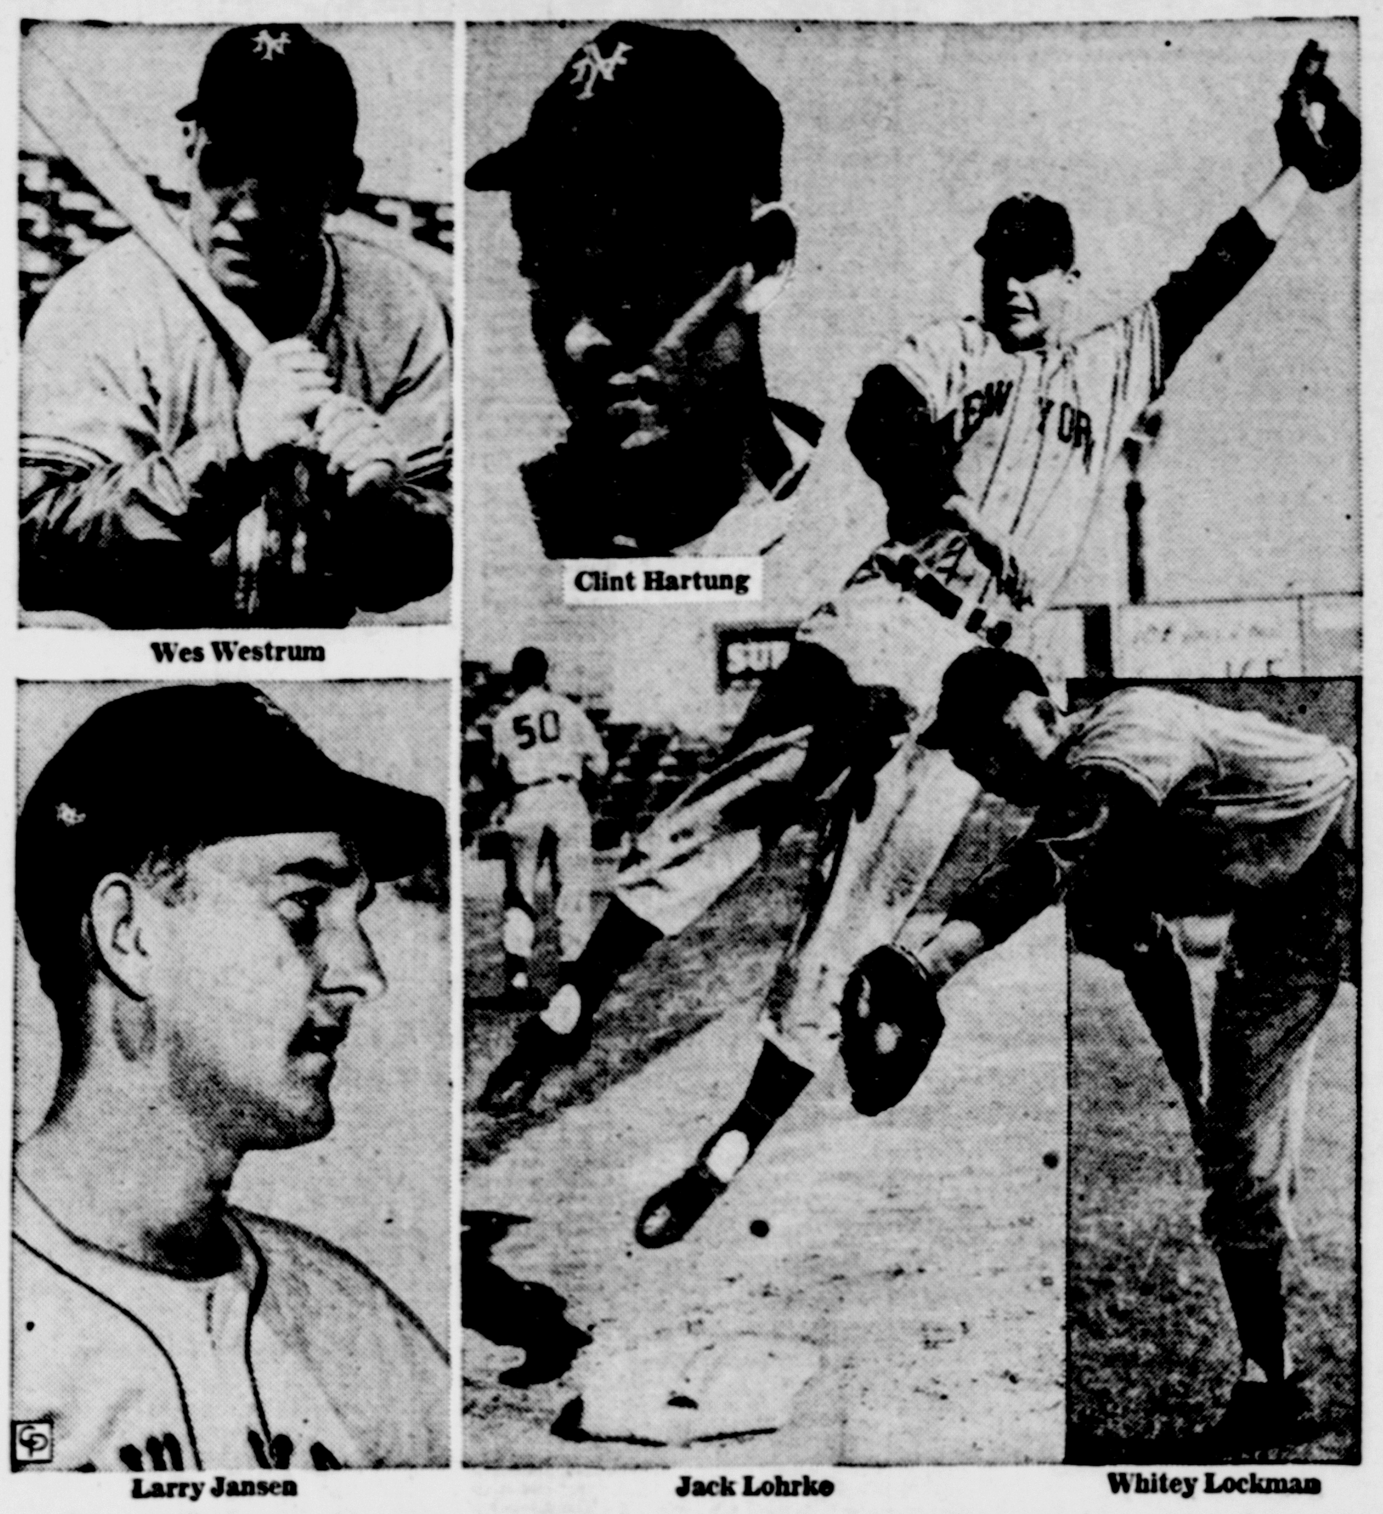
POWER-LADEN GIANTS, WITH HILL HELP, COULD BE STRONG COMPETITOR FOR FLAG



Wes Westrum

Clint Hartung

Larry Jansen

Jack Lohrke

Whitey Lockman

By Central Press

PHOENIX, Ariz.—There are more than just a few capable baseball observers who look for the New York Giants to be in the thick of the National league pennant race.

With so much power generated by their batsmen last season (221 homers) and their continued display of the same in the training camp engagements this spring (the Giants hit 17 homers in 11 games) it's easy to see why rival managers and others rate the Giants a competitor.

A little help in the pitching department, something the Giants may get via the trade route before June 15, would give the New Yorkers just what they need to be "the" club in the senior circuit.

Even Manager Mel Ott is enthusiastic about his chances, with his present pitching staff. Ott points out that several things went wrong last year, and most important of all was the failure of the Giants to have effective relief twirling as the race went into the stretch.

KEN TRINKLE, the reliefer, had to go to the mound in 62 games and Ott has indicated he'll have help this year. The Giants' boss looks for a classy performance from Dave Koslo, the southpaw star, who won 15 games before a bad arm reduced his effectiveness as the club neared the finale.

Ray Poat, former member of the Indians, came up to the Giants late in the season after a 11-7 mark with Baltimore, ran into some bad luck and won four games where he might have won more.

Larry Jansen, the rookie star who won 21 to lead the club on the mound; Clint Hartung, the fabulous Texan who started in the outfield and then was shifted to the mound, have had a year of experience and both could improve on their records. Joe Beggs, picked up from Cincinnati, underwent an operation for bone chips last winter and he should be vastly improved.

In addition to these regular members of the staff, Ott has several young pitchers who may be ready to help the club. Bill Ayers, a righthander who won seven for Jersey City; Sheldon Jones, brought up late last season from Jersey City, and Earl McGowan, a southpaw who notched 17 victories for Minneapolis, appear to have the best chance.

FOR the first time in many years the Giants approach the opener with a third baseman. He is Jack Lohrke, the Los Angeles boy who made the grade last season. The team's second baseman, Bill Rigney, the fancy fielder, is on the shelf with a bad arm and is taking treatments. His spot is being filled by Jack Conway, who was with Cleveland, and Jaime Almendro, who hit for .350 with Danville last season.

Buddy Kerr, who had a fine season in 1947, is the second sacker and Jarrin' Johnny Mize, who smashed 51 home runs last year to break the all-time Giant record, is cemented at first.

Among the newcomers seeking infield recognition is Bobby Rhawn, a .302 hitter with Minneapolis in 1947, who has been tested at third base during the spring campaign here.

Sid Gordon, the all-around star, has been playing in left field and seems determined to make a bid for one of the outfield jobs.

Walker Cooper is the catcher and his help will come from Wes Westrum, a .294 hitter with Minneapolis last season.

The Giants led the National league last season as late as May 31 but they started to fold and by July 31 they were 10 games behnid the Dodgers. At the finish they were in fourth place, 13 games behind the champs.

Rocking Chair Loop Will Open On May 4

Teams Play 28 Games; Brant Is Re-Elected

The Rocking Chair Softball League will launch its 1948 campaign on Tuesday, May 4, and each team will play a 28-game schedule, it was announced by President Arthur E. Brant following a meeting of the circuit last night at the K. of C. Home.

It was decided to limit the number of teams in the league to eight as last year. Six holdover clubs, namely, the B.P.O. Elks, K. of C., Loyal Order of Moose, Potomac Edison, Cumberland Outdoor Club and Texcel are sure starters for the new season and the Fraternal Order of Eagles was admitted as the 7th club. The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will make a decision on Wednesday whether it will retain its franchise or withdraw.

In event the J.A.C. withdraws either the Cumberland Amvets or Goodfellowship Club will be the eighth starter. The other seven clubs will cast ballots to determine which of the new applicants will be admitted.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will not field a team this season.

Teams will play their games on Tuesdays and Thursdays and contests will be suspended during the two weeks of the races at Fairgo, July 20 to 31.

Arthur E. Brant was re-elected president while Joe Garlitz was named secretary-treasurer and J. Suter Kegg, secretary.

The next session of the league is set for Friday, April 16 at 8 o'clock at the K. of C. Home.

Crusaders Will Play Moose Team On Sunday

Joe's Crusaders of the City Softball League will play the Moose team of the Rocking Chair League in an exhibition game Sunday at 11 a. m. at Community Park.

The Crusaders will practice today, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 5 p. m. at the park.

Sunday School Quints Battle For 4th Place

It's a battle for a fourth place playoff spot in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League as the teams conclude their regular 18-game schedule Saturday on the "Y" court.

Here's how the top teams now stand:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Grace Methodist	16	1	.941
Grace Baptist	15	2	.882
1st Presbyterian	15	2	.882
Calvary Methodist	14	3	.824
St. John's	13	4	.765

The fourth place battle is between Calvary Methodist of Ridgeley, defending champions, and St. John's which now stand fourth and fifth, one game apart.

If Grace Baptist defeats Calvary and St. John's wins over Zion the 4th place battle will end in a tie, necessitating a playoff game. Calvary can clinch 4th place by winning Saturday's game.

The playoff series will likely get under way next week.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 5. (AP)—Chief Referee Pat Kennedy is back to the Basketball Association of America playoffs.

Kennedy collapsed Saturday night in the final period of the Warriors-Bombers playoff game at Philadelphia. He rallied quickly, was able to walk off the floor and later took a train home without bothering with a hospital checkup.

At his home here he consulted his family physician, received treatment for a twisted neck and was pronounced fit to work in the final Warriors-Bombers game at St. Louis tomorrow.

Griffith Stadium Gets Terps' Games

New Field Is Still In Blueprint Stage

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 5 (AP)—Its new stadium still is in the blueprint stage, so the University of Maryland will play its four home football games next season in Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Athletic Director and Coach Jim Tatum announced the switch today. The move was dictated by the fact that Maryland's Byrd Stadium can seat only 14,000. Griffith Stadium can hold more than 30,000.

The Maryland games to be played in Washington are with Virginia Poly, Oct. 9; Duke, Oct. 16; George Washington, Oct. 23, and North Carolina, Nov. 13.

Maryland had hoped to have its own 32,000 seat bowl built for next season. But the plans haven't jelled and the new amphitheatre won't be finished until the 1949 season.

Masters Tourney Committee Ousts Frank Stranahan

Ohioan Charged With Publicizing Dispute

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (INS)—The Masters' Golf Tournament committee officially announced tonight that amateur Frank Stranahan has been ousted from the Augusta tournament. The Masters' officials also charged the Toledo golfer with publicizing the dispute.

Tournament chairman Clifford Roberts issued a statement in Augusta for the Masters' committee. Roberts described the continuance of golfdom's latest squabble as "publicity apparently inspired by Mr. Stranahan." He said:

Disregarded Regulations

"Mr. Stranahan, last Friday, was advised that his invitation had been withdrawn because of disregard of regulations made for the protection of the golf course and for the benefit of all players in the tournament."

Roberts said that the committee "had hoped that the necessity of making a public statement with respect to Mr. Stranahan's status could be avoided." The tournament chairman continued:

"Continued publicity of the incident . . . now forces us to make a statement."

Stranahan has commented very little on the withdrawal of his invitation. He made no statement until he was informed Sunday night that he was "definitely out of the tournament."

At that time the wealthy Ohio sparkplug heir called the tournament committee "high hats." Stranahan added:

"I've got a lot of people behind me and they're (the tournament officials) going to hear about this."

Stranahan would not comment on the incident early tonight. He stated he would have to confer with friends and advisers before saying anything.

Putted On Damp Green

The mystery of the entire incident is Stranahan's alleged violation. The committee generalized in its statement by calling Stranahan's ouster a result of "a repetition of similar offenses of which he had been guilty last year and against which he had been warned."

Earlier it was reported that the 1947 runnerup in the Masters' Tournament became involved with Augusta officials while putting on a damp green. Stranahan was said to have been ordered to halt this practice and an argument followed.

Neither the tournament committee or Stranahan has confirmed this report.

Brewers Will Drill

Queen City's Brewers of the Bi-State Baseball League will report for practice today at 5:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Lafferty Scores Upset By Winning Over Earl Smith

Lewis Flattens Hines, Wade Defeats Frazier

Staging a whirlwind finish in the last two rounds after being held on practically even terms for three stanzas, Randall "Skeets" Starkey, the "Fighting High School Boy" from Wiley Ford, W. Va., added another scalp to his growing list by outpointing Dick Bryant, welterweight of the Eastern Police Boys' Club, Baltimore, in a fast five-round feature bout of the Cumberland Amvets' amateur boxing show last night at the State Armory.

By marking up an unanimous decision Starkey atoned for the setback he suffered at the hands of Bryant in the quarter-finals of the recent South Atlantic A.A.U. tournament at Baltimore. The decision given Bryant in Baltimore proved unpopular with a large crowd.

Bryant's appearance for last night's bout came as a surprise since Matchmaker Robert V. "Sparky" Chisholm was advised Friday night that the Baltimore team had cancelled its trip here. Henry Carter of Central City, Pa., had been substituted for Bryant.

The Baltimorean made a great fight of it for three rounds and it was so close that it was hard to choose between the battlers. In the fourth, however, Starkey "stepped on it" and for the last two rounds he was Bryant's master. Starkey landed the best punches of the fight in the final round when he connected with two solid right handed smashes flush on his opponent's jaw.

It was Starkey's 19th victory in 27 amateur matches.

Lafferty Beats Smith

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the evening was provided by "Sonny" Lafferty, up and coming flyweight from "Bobby" Green's St. Mary's A. C., who won the last two rounds and a clean-cut decision over the experienced Earl Smith, scrappy 112-pound LaSalle High School student. Lafferty outpunched and outboxed Smith by a good margin in the second and third rounds and romped off with a 3-0 verdict that pleased the fans.

Another surprise occurred in the fourth bout on the card when Wilbur Lewis, of the Keystate A.C., Central City, Pa., who fights under the name of "Young Joe Louis," knocked out the youthful "veteran" Billy Hines of the Zan A.C., of Morgantown, W. Va., in 1:58 of the second round.

After a slow first round, Lewis rocked Hines with a terrific left hook to the head as the second heat got under way then put the West Virginian down with a terrific right to the mid-section. Hines rolled over several times and came up at the count of nine. Then Lewis belted Hines out for the full count with several terrific lefts to the tummy.

Wade Whips Frazier

Tojo Wade, the "clowning" middleweight from Central City, Pa., fought more seriously in his second appearance here and proved too good a fighter for Bill Frazier, Diamond A.C., in the third bout on the program. Wade punished Bill about the head and body with his two-fisted attack and romped off with a 2-1 decision.

Three of the four other matches on the card ended in kayoes. Johnny Spesock, of Central City, proved no match for Jimmy Deetz in the curtain-raiser and the former lost on a TKO in 1:55 of the first round. Joe King of Central City either slipped or was knocked down five times in the third round before Melvin Washington scored a TKO in 1:57. Bill Mann floored Johnny Mason of Central City twice before stretching him for the full count in 1:43 on the second round.

In the final match Jimmie Catanese won the nod over Joe Lee of the Zan A.C. Catanese tried to make a fight of it but Lee was too cautious and the result was a dull bout.

Starkey To Fight Merwood

It was announced that the Police Boys' Club will stage an amateur card here next Monday with "Skeets" Starkey and Danny Merwood, of Washington, D. C., in the main go and Melvin Washington and "Rusty" Sanders, Washington, and Earl Smith and "Bucky" Frazier, Washington, in supporting bouts.

Yankees Ask Waivers On Chandler Who Has Been With Team 11 Years

If He Fails To Connect He'll Get Scouting Job

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees today asked waivers on Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, 39-year-old pitcher, for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

The announcement was made by co-owner Dan Topping of the Yankees, while the club was in Haines City, Fla., for a game with its Newark, N. J., farm.

The waiver call on Chandler came only one day after another pitcher, Floyd (Bill) Bevens, was packed off to a Baltimore hospital with a lame arm.

Chandler, in 11 seasons with the Yankees, won 109 games and lost only 43 to boast the best won and lost percentage of any current big league pitcher. He came up with a dead arm in midsummer last year. His 1947 record was only nine won and five lost. However, he led all American League pitchers in earned runs, with a 2.46 average.

The Georgian underwent an elbow operation last October — the second such of his career — but apparently, it helped little.

This spring he pitched three innings for the Yankees in an exhibition game against St. Louis Cardinals, and was hit hard. Chandler later declared that a "pinch" developed in his elbow following his three-inning mound stint.

The matter of asking waivers on Chandler was decided on by mutual agreement so that Spud might shop around for another job before the season opened. If the veteran righthander fails to connect with a pitching job, Topping said he will always welcome him back as a scout.

Earlier this year, the Yankees released pitcher Bobo Newsom under the same circumstances. Bobo is still trying to sell his services to a major league club.

These Chips are Wooden Magnets

The Home of Budweiser refuses to abandon the use of beechwood chips traditional in fine brewing. They work wonders during the ageing period. The carefully washed chips are placed in the lower section of the tanks, exposing many surfaces. They attract yeast cells, just as a magnet draws metal objects. Thus, the quietly circulating beer is in contact with more yeast in a long, cold ageing period for perfection. This is one of many steps that make ours the costliest brewing process known. Costliest, yes, but it brings you—Budweiser!

These Chips are Wooden Magnets

The Home of Budweiser refuses to abandon the use of beechwood chips traditional in fine brewing. They work wonders during the ageing period. The carefully washed chips are placed in the lower section of the tanks, exposing many surfaces. They attract yeast cells, just as a magnet draws metal objects. Thus, the quietly circulating beer is in contact with more yeast in a long, cold ageing period for perfection. This is one of many steps that make ours the costliest brewing process known. Costliest, yes, but it brings you—Budweiser!

DODGE

THE WIDE OPEN SECRET

It's a wide open secret now that no other car at any price gives the kind of riding and driving quality that Dodge gives. This is proven with every new Dodge delivery, and the reason is no secret either. Dodge is the first car in history to give you the full combination of Floating Power, Full-Floating Ride, and All-Fluid-Drive. These, with new Super-Cushion tires, mean comfort and performance far beyond all limits of price.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 5—(INS)—If you don't think Dan Dailey is popular, you should have heard the fans outside a night club chanting, "We want Danny—we want Danny" soon after he walked in the other night.

Glenn Ford

He isn't a Charles Boyer in love scenes or a Ty Power for looks, but what he's got gets the ladies. That's why I say June Haver is lucky to get Mr. D. for "Sweet Sue," a technicolor musical for 20th which Robert Bassler will produce late in the year.

It will have to be late. Dan has to complete "Burlesque" with Betty Grable and then make "Chicken Every Sunday," and of course, June has a long schedule on "Marilyn Miller" at Warners.

Glenn Ford, in New York, is holed up in his hotel room and calling himself "The Hermit" since that horrible fiasco when his suite was raided by hoodlums operating as "fans."

When Glenn left a studio after a radio show, the gang tore his pocket off, got his hotel key, and when he returned to his rooms, 15 of them were waiting. They had taken pictures, pencils, his pipes, clothing and everything else that could be lifted.

The upshot was that the management had to change the lock. Poor Glenn says, "I've been to New York three times before and nothing like this has happened." Reckon he'll enjoy heading for home in a few days.

It's not a final break between Ingrid Bergman and the man who has guided her "Public Relations" ever since she came here, Joe Steele.

It is with Ingrid's blessings that Joe is taking time out to produce a movie, "Deadlock." In fact, another of Bergman's close friends, Ruth Roberts who has been her English coach, will be behind the scenes with Joe on this picture. So all is well.

Joe called today to tell me that he has a director lined up, Michel Bernheim, a Frenchman; and David Chandler's script has been ready for some time.

I have always thought that Roddy McDowell and Freddie Bartholomew looked very much alike—perhaps it is because both of them are English-born and have a similar accent.

That's why I am interested to hear that Roddy will star in Robert Louis Stevenson's classic, "Kidnapped" as his first movie with Lindsley Parsons. "Kidnapped," as perhaps you remember, was made with Freddie some years ago when he was much younger and not a married man. By the way, I wonder where Freddie is? I haven't heard from him or his Aunt Millicent for a long time.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random:

The surprise romance of all time is that of Mrs. Justine Johnston Wanger, ex-wife of Walter Wanger, and Leonard Goldstein, Universal-International producer. They are a steady twosome.

Oscar Strauss, famous Viennese composer, now 80 years old, is going to file for American citizenship.

Judy Garland's sister, Jimmie, who has been trying for a screen career for a long time, has been signed by Enterprise for a comedy role in "No Minor Vices."

Reminds me, John Garfield has signed to release his next picture through Enterprise. That's what he should do after what Charlie Einfeld did with "Body And Soul."

Edna Skelton's mother, Mrs. Dolly Camp, is in St. Vincent's Hospital suffering from several fractured ribs which she received in a fall.

David Niven's bride brought his two sons to the Warner Studio to watch him work and to have luncheon with their dad. It was the first time the little boys had ever visited a movie studio and they were all agog.

Audrey Totter has been dating Charles Grayson, the writer. That makes it almost unanimous for Charlie, who is a popular boy with all our glamour girls.

Bob Topping has been released from Hollywood hospital where he had his tonsils removed a few days ago.

Jim Davis takes off for Alaska where he owns some property on the Alcan highway. Friends of Ann Sothern were hopeful that her romance with Davis was serious, but apparently they are just good pals.

Bob Preston and his wife, Catherine Craig, have agreed to do summer stock at Cape Cod next Summer.

That's all today.

The custom of wearing "mourning" rings, particularly in memory of dead sovereigns, reached high popularity in the fourteenth century.

Robert T. Edgar Talks At Allegany

How the "Cyclops of Palomar," the world's largest telescope, was built and how it functions was explained by Robert T. Edgar, scientist, at two assemblies of Allegany junior and senior high departments, yesterday in the auditorium.

"The great 200-inch telescope on Mt. Palomar, Calif., is just about ready for use," stated Mr. Edgar. He explained that it was invented by the late Dr. George Hilliary Hale for the purpose of exploring the vast unknown regions of the universe.

Feeling that the 100 inch telescope, which was completed on Mt. Wilson in 1918, was insufficient, Dr. Hale received $6,000,000 from the Rockefeller General Education Board in 1928 to begin work on the Palomar Cyclops. Today, he explained, it is housed in a 12-story building, the dome and floor of which weigh 1,000 tons. The telescope itself is 46 feet wide on the outside by 22 feet on the inside, and weighs 154 tons. In addition there are 500 tons of moving parts which float on oil bearings.

The unique feature of the telescope, the speaker pointed out, is the large pyrex mirror, 16 feet eight inches in diameter, 20 inches thick, with a 40-inch hole in the center and weighing 14 tons. More than eight years were spent in grinding and polishing this giant silver coated mirror.

The Palomar telescope is a reflecting telescope which works by means of mirrors and is so mounted on oil bearings that it can be focused in any direction to photograph the stars or planets.

Models were used by Mr. Edgar to show how the telescope is constructed and mounted, and how the front and back of the great mirror looks. Before closing his lecture he took the students, dressed in space suits, heavily insulated, with helmets for breathing, on an imaginary trip to the moon.

Regional Director To Visit Moose

Robert Irwin, Baltimore, regional director, Loyal Order of Moose, will make an official visitation to Cumberland Lodge No. 271, this coming weekend.

Director Irwin will arrive here Friday night at which time he will meet with the officers and board of governors. Sunday at 4 p. m. he will participate in a class initiation.

News Briefs

A bake sale will be held at the East Side School tonight preceding the Parent - Teacher Association meeting at 8.

The Bedford Road Homemakers will have a covered dish supper at 6 tonight at the fire hall.

Circle 2 of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale at 7 o'clock tonight in the church basement.

Greenwell Parker Johnson, Piedmont, W. Va., has enlisted for two years as a private in Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve, according to Capt. John T. Fey, commanding officer.

Conway Succeeds

"After the caucus Mr. Burke said that he had heard that his name had been mentioned and he expressed the wish that it be withdrawn as he did not want the position."

The name of Kaylor, a former street superintendent and former deputy sheriff, was placed in nomination by the mayor.

In a formal statement said:

"We will now consider the appointment of the city solicitor. The voters of Cumberland have three times elected me mayor of your city. At the beginning of each of my two previous administrations I have claimed the right, and have requested the courtesy from my associates in the council, of appointing the legal adviser of my own selection.

"The citizens of Cumberland properly look to the mayor for leadership, constructive planning, and the execution of plans. In order to perform these duties fully and effectively the mayor must have the constant, competent, and loyal aid and advice of an able lawyer.

"If he is denied this right he works under a serious handicap and the city becomes the loser thereby.

"A majority of the council in my last two administrations has denied me this right to choose my own legal adviser. Their opposition in this regard has been unreasonable, unworthy, and against the best interests of the city. Now that I have been elected mayor for the third term, I again demand this right, which in simple justice is due to me and to the City of Cumberland. I am sure every fair minded citizen agrees with me on this proposition."

(The mayor departed from his prepared text here to add: "I don't think I have any opposition at all on that.")

"Now I wish to recommend for city solicitor, Mr. Thomas Lohr Richards, who is an able and excellent lawyer, who has a thorough knowledge of our city government, and who is a man of the highest personal character. I need his help to make my administration truly successful, and the City of Cumberland needs his help. I say to you now that you have no right to defeat me again in this matter which I believe is essential to a completely successful administration. You owe this duty not only to the mayor but also to the voters who elected the mayor and you."

Finan Pledges Support

Commissioner Keegan nominated Finan and without further discussion the vote was taken.

After the meeting the mayor indicated he had prepared some comments concerning the tax collector's position, but in view of the Conway appointment he withheld them.

Solicitor Finan took his seat as attorney after pledging "unquestioned cooperation" to all city officials.

"The interests of the city will come first with me," said Finan. "I will try to make Cumberland a better place in which to live as far as I am able to do so.

"I understand the mayor's allegiance in regard to Mr. Richards. His position is reasonable. I hereby pledge the mayor my personal cooperation."

Mr. Finan's remarks drew applause.

The mayor asked if anyone had any comments and Dr. Robert T. Kerlin was given the floor. Dr. Kerlin said he represented no group but would like to express some personal views.

"The people of Cumberland have elected you gentlemen to office and will observe your actions and hold you responsible," said Dr. Kerlin.

"The voters have shown their respect and esteem for Mayor Post by electing him for a third time. They desire and expect his policies to be given consideration. You could not have been elected without such expectation.

Expect Cooperation

"These are plain words, gentlemen, but we as citizens have rights and I am exercising one of those rights. This ceremony today is as important to the City of Cumberland as the inauguration of a governor is to the state. We are immensely concerned that the order executed by the people in the election be carried out through cooperation."

The new Mayor and Council officially took over its duties at 10:11 a. m. when Clerk of the Court Robert Jackson finished the swearing-in ceremony. The mayor was sworn in first and then the four councilmen took office as a group.

The Council Chamber was crowded with spectators with some persons standing in the rear.

Robert T. Edgar Talks At Allegany

How the "Cyclops of Palomar," the world's largest telescope, was built and how it functions was explained by Robert T. Edgar, scientist, at two assemblies of Allegany junior and senior high departments, yesterday in the auditorium.

"The great 200-inch telescope on Mt. Palomar, Calif., is just about ready for use," stated Mr. Edgar. He explained that it was invented by the late Dr. George Hilliary Hale for the purpose of exploring the vast unknown regions of the universe.

Feeling that the 100 inch telescope, which was completed on Mt. Wilson in 1918, was insufficient, Dr. Hale received $6,000,000 from the Rockefeller General Education Board in 1928 to begin work on the Palomar Cyclops. Today, he explained, it is housed in a 12-story building, the dome and floor of which weigh 1,000 tons. The telescope itself is 46 feet wide on the outside by 22 feet on the inside, and weighs 154 tons. In addition there are 500 tons of moving parts which float on oil bearings.

The unique feature of the telescope, the speaker pointed out, is the large pyrex mirror, 16 feet eight inches in diameter, 20 inches thick, with a 40-inch hole in the center and weighing 14 tons. More than eight years were spent in grinding and polishing this giant silver coated mirror.

The Palomar telescope is a reflecting telescope which works by means of mirrors and is so mounted on oil bearings that it can be focused in any direction to photograph the stars or planets.

Models were used by Mr. Edgar to show how the telescope is constructed and mounted, and how the front and back of the great mirror looks. Before closing his lecture he took the students, dressed in space suits, heavily insulated, with helmets for breathing, on an imaginary trip to the moon.

"After the caucus Mr. Burke said that he had heard that his name had been mentioned and he expressed the wish that it be withdrawn as he did not want the position."

The name of Kaylor, a former street superintendent and former deputy sheriff, was placed in nomination by the mayor.

In a formal statement said:

"We will now consider the appointment of the city solicitor. The voters of Cumberland have three times elected me mayor of your city. At the beginning of each of my two previous administrations I have claimed the right, and have requested the courtesy from my associates in the council, of appointing the legal adviser of my own selection.

"The citizens of Cumberland properly look to the mayor for leadership, constructive planning, and the execution of plans. In order to perform these duties fully and effectively the mayor must have the constant, competent, and loyal aid and advice of an able lawyer.

"If he is denied this right he works under a serious handicap and the city becomes the loser thereby.

"A majority of the council in my last two administrations has denied me this right to choose my own legal adviser. Their opposition in this regard has been unreasonable, unworthy, and against the best interests of the city. Now that I have been elected mayor for the third term, I again demand this right, which in simple justice is due to me and to the City of Cumberland. I am sure every fair minded citizen agrees with me on this proposition."

(The mayor departed from his prepared text here to add: "I don't think I have any opposition at all on that.")

"Now I wish to recommend for city solicitor, Mr. Thomas Lohr Richards, who is an able and excellent lawyer, who has a thorough knowledge of our city government, and who is a man of the highest personal character. I need his help to make my administration truly successful, and the City of Cumberland needs his help. I say to you now that you have no right to defeat me again in this matter which I believe is essential to a completely successful administration. You owe this duty not only to the mayor but also to the voters who elected the mayor and you."

Finan Pledges Support

Commissioner Keegan nominated Finan and without further discussion the vote was taken.

After the meeting the mayor indicated he had prepared some comments concerning the tax collector's position, but in view of the Conway appointment he withheld them.

Solicitor Finan took his seat as attorney after pledging "unquestioned cooperation" to all city officials.

"The interests of the city will come first with me," said Finan. "I will try to make Cumberland a better place in which to live as far as I am able to do so.

"I understand the mayor's allegiance in regard to Mr. Richards. His position is reasonable. I hereby pledge the mayor my personal cooperation."

Mr. Finan's remarks drew applause.

The mayor asked if anyone had any comments and Dr. Robert T. Kerlin was given the floor. Dr. Kerlin said he represented no group but would like to express some personal views.

"The people of Cumberland have elected you gentlemen to office and will observe your actions and hold you responsible," said Dr. Kerlin.

"The voters have shown their respect and esteem for Mayor Post by electing him for a third time. They desire and expect his policies to be given consideration. You could not have been elected without such expectation.

Expect Cooperation

"These are plain words, gentlemen, but we as citizens have rights and I am exercising one of those rights. This ceremony today is as important to the City of Cumberland as the inauguration of a governor is to the state. We are immensely concerned that the order executed by the people in the election be carried out through cooperation."

The new Mayor and Council officially took over its duties at 10:11 a. m. when Clerk of the Court Robert Jackson finished the swearing-in ceremony. The mayor was sworn in first and then the four councilmen took office as a group.

The Council Chamber was crowded with spectators with some persons standing in the rear.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Point Sentimental

The general theme of "Point Sublime," a dramatic program on A.B.C. (8 p. m. E.S.T. (Mondays), if my calculations are correct, is that human beings are ornery creatures but awfully nice at heart if you can get at their hearts. It's a proposition I'm willing to play along with, but not through any persuasion exerted by this program.

John Crosby

Point Sublime is the name of a town which appears to be in New England, though its location is kept a strict secret. The town's principal citizen, chief do-gooder and protagonist is Ben Willett, a crochety old bear with a heart of purest gold given to such remarks as "Sakes Alive!" and "Ain't we the ones?" Mr. Willett conducts a general store — and, brother, I can just see that idea occurring to a whole roomful of Hollywood writers simultaneously—but he spends very little time there. His chief function is untangling the lives and straightening out the problems of Point Sublime's other citizens. There are enough troubles to stock a city three times the size of Point Sublime or four average soap operas.

Just a few of the problems Mr. Willett has grappled with successfully—exploding "sakes alives" in all directions—are reawakening the affection for her baby in the breast of Nancy Pendleton, a bitter young mother who didn't want her child; restoring hope and eyesight to a blinded war veteran and procuring a piano for Moony, a rather dim-witted young man who helps out in the store.

Nancy's maternal instincts were kindled by poetry or what passes for poetry on this program. ("The crib she slept in was so near my bed. Her blue-and-white wool blanket was so soft. Her pillow hollowed so to fit her head.") This proved too much for Nancy. She burst into tears, promised to love her baby, her husband and God forever after. The piano was procured for Moony by a somewhat similar appeal to the better nature of a flint-hearted old baggage who also burst into tears, promised to love her husband and to be nicer to her neighbors after this. Rarely does a Point Sublime script run through its allotted half hour without a paroxysm of tears from somebody.

Most of these little sermons wind up with every one happily saying prayers gathered around the Thanksgiving dinner (with an empty chair to remind them of dear Sammy getting his eyes fixed in a San Francisco hospital) or grouped around a piano singing for dear life and damp with sentiment. In addition to Mr. Willett and Moony, there are dozens and dozens of characters, each with fixed and elaborately homespun characteristics. Incidentally, the two leads, Willett and Moony, are played respectively by Cliff Arquette, a very skillful radio actor, and Mel Blanc, a radio veteran who has possibly the most versatile voice on the air.

It's only fair to explain that in addition to preaching the virtues of motherhood, kindliness and thrift, Point Sublime endeavors earnestly to spread enlightenment on the subject of racial tolerance. This is a noble aim all right but some of the devices used to this purpose may retard the spread of enlightenment for years. There was one script in which a Chinese who said "chop chop" to express virtually anything he had on his mind was pushed around by a couple of drunken thugs and was rescued, of course, by good old Ben Willett and Moony. The implication was that only drunken thugs practice racial discrimination, which is an over-simplification, and that nice tolerant people are either crochety like Ben or slightly half-witted like Moony. It's a dismal theory and I don't know why anyone would want to prove it.

Point Sublime is sponsored by the John Hancock Life Insurance Company, which previously sponsored the Boston Symphony, possibly the finest symphony on the air. Since John Hancock dropped its sponsorship, the Boston symphony is heard on not nearly so many stations of the American Broadcasting Company, which seems a shame. Point Sublime is John Hancock's first essay into the field of straight commercial radio and I can't help feeling it's a serious mistake.

Market Rail Average Hits Peak Since Sept., 1946; Oils Advance

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—While exceptions were plentiful, the stock market generally swung forward today with the rail average touching a peak since September, 1946.

Selective strength among oils was a feature from the start, with gains of one to three points or so recorded for favorites. Small minus signs were well distributed at the close but advances held the majority.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 65.5 where it was only .5 under the 1948 top. The rails made a new high by .1 of a point. It was the narrowest full session since last Tuesday. Of 996 issues registering, 451 rose and 311 fell.

Hitting best levels for the year or longer were Plymouth Oil which finished up 1⅛ at 49¾, Skelly Oil two at 137½, Amerada Petroleum three at 107½, Anderson-Pritchard Oil 1½ at 26¼, Mission Corporation 1¼ at 61¾, Pacific Western Oil three-eighths at 55¾, Rock Island Railroad 2¼ at 34¾ (on talk of a possible dividend for the first time since 1931,) Union Pacific 1¼ at 172 and Great Northern Railway five-eighths at 44.

Superior Oil of California was up five points at 190 on a single sale of 400 shares.

Losers included Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Kennecott, American Smelting, American Woolen, International Paper, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Railroad issues led a bond market advance that spread to almost every group.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Man's Last Friend

Hilaire Belloc, in one of his interesting—and often most instructive—essays, describes the last moments of Marie Antoinette. She was lying on her crude bed, weeping and being attended, most sympathetically by a maid. Shortly she was carried out for execution. About this time, says Belloc, "up and down the passages of the prison a little dog whom she had cherished in her loneliness ran whining and disconsolate."

What did that little dumb creature know about war, politics, world affairs, or anything else so agitating to the peoples of this earth? He knew absolutely nothing. All that he knew anything about was devotion. And if that one thing then, and now, isn't essential to allow most of his kind to pass, unchallenged, through the pearly gates, then I don't know what would be essential.

Literature is seasoned with the noble and beautiful stories of dogs—man's perennial, and last friend—obedient, loyal, and faithful to the last moment.

Why is this? Is this best of all man's friends perhaps a reincarnation of the noblest of this earth, returned to shame us all back to normal and natural procedure? What a selfless quality abides in those honest, questioning eyes that look into ours in such silent form! Where among all of those whom we love and admire does such confidence and devotion assert itself in more honest fashion?

Even unto death has this devotion of man's last friend been demonstrated again and again. A friend is a consoler. Perhaps it is this one thing that has so attracted dogs to those of genius who have owned and loved dogs, and have written about them. I have scores of such stories in my library. Among them are those by Matthew Arnold, E. V. Lucas, John Galsworthy, Dr. John Brown, Alfred Ollivant, Robert H. (Bob) Davis, George Meradith, Thomas Hardy, Landor—and a host of others.

Writing to John Forster, Jane Carlyle said: "O Lord! I forgot to tell you I have got a little dog, and Mr. C. has accepted it with an amiability! The infatuated little beast dances around him on his hind-legs as I ought to do and can't; and he feels flattered and surprised by such unwonted capers to his honour and glory."

Later Carlyle wrote of his little dog Nero, after his tragic death from a butcher's cart: "Little dim, white speck, of Life, of Love, Fidelity, and Feeling, girdled by the Darkness as of Night Eternal!"

Always sift flour once before measuring. This helps to give an accurate measure, since flour packs down in the storage utensil or box. After sifting, measure in a standard cup, filling it lightly and leveling off with the straight edge of a knife.

RADIO IN REVIEW

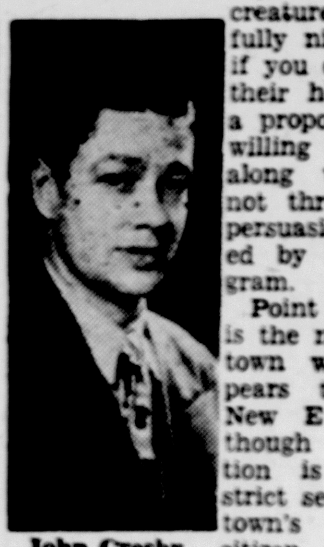
Point Sentimental

The general theme of "Point Sublime," a dramatic program on A.B.C. (8 p. m. E.S.T. (Mondays), if my calculations are correct, is that human beings are ornery creatures but awfully nice at heart if you can get at their hearts. It's a proposition I'm willing to play along with, but not through any persuasion exerted by this program.



John Crosby

Point Sublime is the name of a town which appears to be in New England, though its location is kept a strict secret. The town's principal citizen, chief do-gooder and protagonist is Ben Willett, a crochety old bear with a heart of purest gold given to such remarks as "Sakes Alive!" and "Ain't we the ones?" Mr. Willett conducts a general store — and, brother, I can just see that idea occurring to a whole roomful of Hollywood writers simultaneously—but he spends very little time there. His chief function is untangling the lives and straightening out the problems of Point Sublime's other citizens. There are enough troubles to stock a city three times the size of Point Sublime or four average soap operas.

Just a few of the problems Mr. Willett has grappled with successfully—exploding "sakes alives" in all directions—are reawakening the affection for her baby in the breast of Nancy Pendleton, a bitter young mother who didn't want her child; restoring hope and eyesight to a blinded war veteran and procuring a piano for Moony, a rather dim-witted young man who helps out in the store.

Nancy's maternal instincts were kindled by poetry or what passes for poetry on this program. ("The crib she slept in was so near my bed. Her blue-and-white wool blanket was so soft. Her pillow hollowed so to fit her head.") This proved too much for Nancy. She burst into tears, promised to love her baby, her husband and God forever after. The piano was procured for Moony by a somewhat similar appeal to the better nature of a flint-hearted old baggage who also burst into tears, promised to love her husband and to be nicer to her neighbors after this. Rarely does a Point Sublime script run through its allotted half hour without a paroxysm of tears from somebody.

Most of these little sermons wind up with every one happily saying prayers gathered around the Thanksgiving dinner (with an empty chair to remind them of dear Sammy getting his eyes fixed in a San Francisco hospital) or grouped around a piano singing for dear life and damp with sentiment. In addition to Mr. Willett and Moony, there are dozens and dozens of characters, each with fixed and elaborately homespun characteristics. Incidentally, the two leads, Willett and Moony, are played respectively by Cliff Arquette, a very skillful radio actor, and Mel Blanc, a radio veteran who has possibly the most versatile voice on the air.

It's only fair to explain that in addition to preaching the virtues of motherhood, kindliness and thrift, Point Sublime endeavors earnestly to spread enlightenment on the subject of racial tolerance. This is a noble aim all right but some of the devices used to this purpose may retard the spread of enlightenment for years. There was one script in which a Chinese who said "chop chop" to express virtually anything he had on his mind was pushed around by a couple of drunken thugs and was rescued, of course, by good old Ben Willett and Moony. The implication was that only drunken thugs practice racial discrimination, which is an over-simplification, and that nice tolerant people are either crochety like Ben or slightly half-witted like Moony. It's a dismal theory and I don't know why anyone would want to prove it.

Point Sublime is sponsored by the John Hancock Life Insurance Company, which previously sponsored the Boston Symphony, possibly the finest symphony on the air. Since John Hancock dropped its sponsorship, the Boston symphony is heard on not nearly so many stations of the American Broadcasting Company, which seems a shame. Point Sublime is John Hancock's first essay into the field of straight commercial radio and I can't help feeling it's a serious mistake.

Market Rail Average Hits Peak Since Sept., 1946; Oils Advance

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—While exceptions were plentiful, the stock market generally swung forward today with the rail average touching a peak since September, 1946.

Selective strength among oils was a feature from the start, with gains of one to three points or so recorded for favorites. Small minus signs were well distributed at the close but advances held the majority.

The Associated Press 60 - stock composite was up .2 of a point at 65.5 where it was only .5 under the 1948 top. The rails made a new high by .1 of a point. It was the narrowest full session since last Tuesday. Of 996 issues registering, 451 rose and 311 fell.

Hitting best levels for the year or longer were Plymouth Oil which finished up 1⅛ at 49¾, Skelly Oil two at 137½, Amerada Petroleum three at 107½, Anderson-Pritchard Oil 1½ at 26¼, Mission Corporation 1¼ at 61¾, Pacific Western Oil three-eighths at 55¾, Rock Island Railroad 2¼ at 34¾ (on talk of a possible dividend for the first time since 1931,) Union Pacific 1¼ at 172 and Great Northern Railway five-eighths at 44.

Superior Oil of California was up five points at 190 on a single sale of 400 shares.

Losers included Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Kennecott, American Smelting, American Woolen, International Paper, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Railroad issues led a bond market advance that spread to almost every group.

Today's Talk

Man's Last Friend

Hilaire Belloc, in one of his interesting—and often most instructive—essays, describes the last moments of Marie Antoinette. She was lying on her crude bed, weeping and being attended, most sympathetically by a maid. Shortly she was carried out for execution. About this time, says Belloc, "up and down the passages of the prison a little dog whom she had cherished in her loneliness ran whining and disconsolate."

What did that little dumb creature know about war, politics, world affairs, or anything else so agitating to the peoples of this earth? He knew absolutely nothing. All that he knew anything about was devotion. And if that one thing then, and now, isn't essential to allow most of his kind to pass, unchallenged, through the pearly gates, then I don't know what would be essential.

Literature is seasoned with the noble and beautiful stories of dogs—man's perennial, and last friend—obedient, loyal, and faithful to the last moment.

Why is this? Is this best of all man's friends perhaps a reincarnation of the noblest of this earth, returned to shame us all back to normal and natural procedure? What a selfless quality abides in those honest, questioning eyes that look into ours in such silent form! Where among all of those whom we love and admire does such confidence and devotion assert itself in more honest fashion?

Even unto death has this devotion of man's last friend been demonstrated again and again. A friend is a consoler. Perhaps it is this one thing that has so attracted dogs to those of genius who have owned and loved dogs, and have written about them. I have scores of such stories in my library. Among them are those by Matthew Arnold, E. V. Lucas, John Galsworthy, Dr. John Brown, Alfred Ollivant, Robert H. (Bob) Davis, George Meradith, Thomas Hardy, Landor—and a host of others.

Writing to John Forster, Jane Carlyle said: "O Lord! I forgot to tell you I have got a little dog, and Mr. C. has accepted it with an amiability! The infatuated little beast dances around him on his hind-legs as I ought to do and can't; and he feels flattered and surprised by such unwonted capers to his honour and glory."

Later Carlyle wrote of his little dog Nero, after his tragic death from a butcher's cart: "Little dim, white speck, of Life, of Love, Fidelity, and Feeling, girdled by the Darkness as of Night Eternal!"

Always sift flour once before measuring. This helps to give an accurate measure, since flour packs down in the storage utensil or box. After sifting, measure in a standard cup, filling it lightly and leveling off with the straight edge of a knife.

IN MEMORIAM

IZAT—In loving memory of our husband, father, and father-in-law, William, who passed away 1 year ago, April 6, 1947.

You bid no one a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none;
Your dear heart ceased to beat
And suddenly you were gone.
At the time when life could be sweeter,
And you could have lived your best,
The gates of heaven opened
And you entered into Eternal Rest.

Loving Wife, Anna; Son, Paul; & Daughter-in-law, MARY ALICE.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for all their kindness and helpfulness during the illness and following the death of Dr. Thomas Olin Broadwater. We also wish to thank the Mountain Lodge No. 99 A.F.A.M. of Frostburg for their services, those who gave flowers and donated the use of their automobiles and assisted us at the funeral.
HIS WIFE and FAMILY.

We take this means to thank our friends and relatives for their kindness to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Anna Catherine Long. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
MRS. SCOTT STREET
MRS. S. RUGGLES TOWNSEND

We wish to express sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved Father, James I. Ternent. We also wish to thank the minister, Rev. John E. Stacks, the choir of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the soloist, Mr. William E. Bishop of Cumberland, also those who sent flowers, loaned cars and offered their sympathy in our time of sorrow.
JAMES I. TERNENT FAMILY,

A $100 reward was offered yesterday for evidence leading to the apprehension and conviction of the bandit who at gun point robbed the Braddock Liquor Store Friday night and fled with approximately $600.

Edward J. Bognar, president of the liquor store company, posted the reward as city police continued checking several suspects believed to be in the city at the time of the stickup.

Firemen Answer Call

Central Fire Company No. 1 was summoned to the Emery Bus Station, North George Street, Monday morning when wiring on a bus short circuited. No damage was reported.

Recreation Planning Group Authorized

The new Mayor and Council yesterday approved unanimously an order introduced by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, calling for the appointment of a recreation planning committee.

The group will be asked to recommend a proposed method of using the funds to be obtained from the $150,000 bond issue authorized for recreation at the general election.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he plans to ask each councilman to submit two nominations for committee members, adding the committee probably will be appointed within the next two weeks.

In another important action Mayor Thomas S. Post was authorized to request the U. S. Army engineers to make a survey of property needed in connection with the flood protection program. The work is expected to start this week. The city must post $20,000 with the federal government to cover its share of the cost.

A letter from Baltimore and Ohio Federation No. 7, AFL, commended the Mayor and Council for opposing the proposed increase in bus rates by the Potomac Edison Company.

The bid of $1,546.10, submitted by Spoerl's Garage for a police cruiser car, was referred to the police commissioner for study.

March collections were reported as follows: Water office, $455; general licenses, $1,037.15; movie taxes, $751.20; bingo taxes, $751.20; police fines, $998; engineer's office, $189.50, and weight collections, $353.19.

Balances as of April 1 were reported as follows: General account, $142,263.43; water operating, $213,169.96; general improvement bond, $66,401.80, and sewer bonds of 1931, $455.

Woman Fined, Four Committed To Jail

One woman was fined $5, four others forfeited bonds and another four were committed to jail in default of fines yesterday in Police Court as the result of fights and disorderly conduct charges over the weekend.

Harry Reger, 912 Gay Street, and Garey Miller, this city, were given 15 and five day jail sentences respectively, after officers testified that they entered a Union Street boarding house early yesterday morning and went to sleep.

Richard Miller, Bedford, Pa., was committed to jail for 10 days after he was convicted on a disorderly conduct charge as the result of a fight Saturday night in a Front Street tavern. Marvin Miller, also of Bedford, forfeited $10 bond on a similar charge.

Lena McDonald, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited $10 bond and Ethel Walker, Pinto, was fined $5 on disorderly conduct charges as a result of a fracas in a Front Street tavern Saturday night.

Rudolph Keith, 155 Bedford Street, and Lester Davis, 501 North Centre Street, each forfeited $10 bonds on disorderly conduct charges and Calvin Miller, this city, was committed to jail for three days in default or a $3 fine on a drunk charge.

Outgoing Council Accepts Bids

Three orders were passed yesterday by the outgoing Mayor and Council, which heard brief remarks from Finance Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller and City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger before adjourning.

The bid of $1,150 by Philip Kester for Lot 1, Block 27, of the Johnson Heights Addition was accepted and the bid of $180 by James C. Catlett for Lots 3, 4 and 5 on Quebec Avenue and Frank's Lane, of the East End Land Company Addition, was accepted.

In another order a $20 advertisement in the program of "Minstrel Melodies of 1948" was authorized.

Commissioner Fuller expressed thanks for the cooperation he had received from city officials and employes during his term as finance commissioner and said that he had done "the best I could."

Griminger also expressed his appreciation to the council members.

Forest Fire

A forest fire on Piney Mountain near Corriganville Sunday night burned over three-fourths of an acre before being brought under control by fire wardens. Brook Bodkin, fire warden, said the blaze was probably incendiary.

Bank Wins Suit On Joint Account

A Circuit Court opinion in a suit over a bank account was handed down by Chief Judge William A. Huster in favor of the defendant, The Cumberland Savings Bank.

The suit had been instituted by Hazel L. Owens over withdrawals from a joint account in her name and that of Charles Roy Owens, Jr.

The plaintiff claimed the bank should pay her a balance of $707.58, being the balance shown on the pass book, but the bank had already paid the amount to Owens upon his order.

The plaintiff further alleged that on January 24, 1946, a savings account had been opened with the bank and after a series of deposits and withdrawals, there was a balance of $707.59 on March 22, 1947.

It was also claimed by the plaintiff that she kept the bank book in her possession and that the book contains a regulation that no money can be withdrawn unless the book is presented. She alleged that when she presented the bank book, payment was refused because the bank had prviously paid the balance to her husband.

The Court opinion ruled the bank showed the deposit had been paid to Owens on his order, and called attention to the fact that both Mr. and Mrs. Owens had authorized the bank, in writing, to pay over the entire account, or any part thereof, to either the husband or wife on demand. The bank acted upon this authorization when the husband requested the money, the Court held.

It was also cited that the regulation printed in the bank book is solely for the protection of the bank and may be waived by the bank if desired.

Recreation Planning Group Authorized

The new Mayor and Council yesterday approved unanimously an order introduced by Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, calling for the appointment of a recreation planning committee.

The group will be asked to recommend a proposed method of using the funds to be obtained from the $150,000 bond issue authorized for recreation at the general election.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he plans to ask each councilman to submit two nominations for committee members, adding the committee probably will be appointed within the next two weeks.

In another important action Mayor Thomas S. Post was authorized to request the U. S. Army engineers to make a survey of property needed in connection with the flood protection program. The work is expected to start this week. The city must post $20,000 with the federal government to cover its share of the cost.

A letter from Baltimore and Ohio Federation No. 7, AFL, commended the Mayor and Council for opposing the proposed increase in bus rates by the Potomac Edison Company.

The bid of $1,546.10, submitted by Spoerl's Garage for a police cruiser car, was referred to the police commissioner for study.

March collections were reported as follows: Water office, $455; general licenses, $1,037.15; movie taxes, $751.20; bingo taxes, $751.20; police fines, $998; engineer's office, $189.50, and weight collections, $353.19.

Balances as of April 1 were reported as follows: General account, $142,263.43; water operating, $213,169.96; general improvement bond, $66,401.80, and sewer bonds of 1931, $455.

Woman Fined, Four Committed To Jail

One woman was fined $5, four others forfeited bonds and another four were committed to jail in default of fines yesterday in Police Court as the result of fights and disorderly conduct charges over the weekend.

Harry Reger, 912 Gay Street, and Garey Miller, this city, were given 15 and five day jail sentences respectively, after officers testified that they entered a Union Street boarding house early yesterday morning and went to sleep.

Richard Miller, Bedford, Pa., was committed to jail for 10 days after he was convicted on a disorderly conduct charge as the result of a fight Saturday night in a Front Street tavern. Marvin Miller, also of Bedford, forfeited $10 bond on a similar charge.

Lena McDonald, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited $10 bond and Ethel Walker, Pinto, was fined $5 on disorderly conduct charges as a result of a fracas in a Front Street tavern Saturday night.

Rudolph Keith, 155 Bedford Street, and Lester Davis, 501 North Centre Street, each forfeited $10 bonds on disorderly conduct charges and Calvin Miller, this city, was committed to jail for three days in default or a $3 fine on a drunk charge.

Outgoing Council Accepts Bids

Three orders were passed yesterday by the outgoing Mayor and Council, which heard brief remarks from Finance Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller and City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger before adjourning.

The bid of $1,150 by Philip Kester for Lot 1, Block 27, of the Johnson Heights Addition was accepted and the bid of $180 by James C. Catlett for Lots 3, 4 and 5 on Quebec Avenue and Frank's Lane, of the East End Land Company Addition, was accepted.

In another order a $20 advertisement in the program of "Minstrel Melodies of 1948" was authorized.

Commissioner Fuller expressed thanks for the cooperation he had received from city officials and employes during his term as finance commissioner and said that he had done "the best I could."

Griminger also expressed his appreciation to the council members.

Forest Fire

A forest fire on Piney Mountain near Corriganville Sunday night burned over three-fourths of an acre before being brought under control by fire wardens. Brook Bodkin, fire warden, said the blaze was probably incendiary.

Bank Wins Suit On Joint Account

A Circuit Court opinion in a suit over a bank account was handed down by Chief Judge William A. Huster in favor of the defendant, The Cumberland Savings Bank.

The suit had been instituted by Hazel L. Owens over withdrawals from a joint account in her name and that of Charles Roy Owens, Jr.

The plaintiff claimed the bank should pay her a balance of $707.58, being the balance shown on the pass book, but the bank had already paid the amount to Owens upon his order.

The plaintiff further alleged that on January 24, 1946, a savings account had been opened with the bank and after a series of deposits and withdrawals, there was a balance of $707.59 on March 22, 1947.

It was also claimed by the plaintiff that she kept the bank book in her possession and that the book contains a regulation that no money can be withdrawn unless the book is presented. She alleged that when she presented the bank book, payment was refused because the bank had prviously paid the balance to her husband.

The Court opinion ruled the bank showed the deposit had been paid to Owens on his order, and called attention to the fact that both Mr. and Mrs. Owens had authorized the bank, in writing, to pay over the entire account, or any part thereof, to either the husband or wife on demand. The bank acted upon this authorization when the husband requested the money, the Court held.

It was also cited that the regulation printed in the bank book is solely for the protection of the bank and may be waived by the bank if desired.

Engineers To Be Asked To Discuss City Master Plan

Joint Meeting Will Be Held In May

A joint meeting with the Mayor and Council was planned yesterday by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission to seek engineering advice regarding preliminary mapping of a master plan for the future development of Cumberland.

Chairman James Alfred Avirett requested H. W. Smith, secretary, who suggested the meeting, to invite A. Russell Vollmer of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineering firm, to attend the session.

Albert S. Paye of the Small-Paye Engineering Company and City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer will also be invited to attend. The conference will be held either May 3 or 10, whichever is more convenient.

Commission members and the Mayor and Council will also be asked to contribute suggestions at the conference, so that work can be started on the master plan.

The commission voted to request the Mayor and Council to include in the 1948-49 budget a sum not to exceed $4,000, which would allow $3,000 for engineering costs and $1,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

Mayor Thomas S. Post pointed out that as of February 29, only $615.96 had been spent of last year's city planning appropriation of $4,500. However, the balance of $3,884.04 was turned back into the general account when the fiscal year closed March 31.

Smith pointed out that the Small-Paye engineering firm has been mentioned for possible appointment as a liaison agent between the city and Army engineers in the Cumberland flood control project, which is expected to affect future plans for development of the city.

Clarence Griggs renewed a sug- regulate traffic lights on Baltimore gestion made by Rizer last year to Street either by reducing or eliminating walk lights so that motor traffic would not be tied up.

Mayor Post said he would refer the suggestion to Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and to Police Department officials.

Avirett asked the secretary to contact Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission, for information regarding the possibility of state or federal funds for the proposed crosstown viaduct, as well as for suggestions regarding financing the project, such as a toll charge or motor license fees.

Girl's Absence From Home Over Night Is Probed

Circumstances surrounding a 15-year-old girl's all-night absence from her South Keyser, W. Va., home Sunday were being investigated last night by Mineral County authorities who said her "story doesn't go together right."

The girl, who was not identified, was quoted by police as saying she was abducted on Main Street Sunday night at 10 o'clock and forced into a car by two men, both believed to be from Cumberland.

During questioning yesterday morning the girl told a story of being forced into the car and then losing consciousness until 7:30 a. m. yesterday, according to Mayor John Freeland, Keyser.

The juvenile, who was reported missing by her grandmother early yesterday, told police, they said, that she "came to" in a car parked on Mineral Street about 7:30 a. m. and then walked about three-quarters of a mile to a bus stop on Main Street where she got transportation home.

The girl, who police said reportedly was visiting a friend early Sunday night, insisted that she could recall nothing of the night's or early morning's happenings after she was forced into the car.

Mayor Freeland, however, said a check of a Keyser hotel revealed that two youthful girls were registered there over Sunday night by two young men, but explained that the names were believed to be assumed.

Questioned for several hours yesterday morning, Mayor Freeland said the girl could recall only that one man was "six feet, four inches tall," and both claimed to be from Cumberland.

A car in which the girl reportedly was riding was traced from Main Street, Keyser, to the "Y" on the Maryland side of the Potomac River, police said. The time of the trip was estimated to be shortly after 10 p. m. Sunday, Mayor Freeland declared.

Police said relatives of the girl were to be questioned last night and a further check of the quartet who allegedly spent the night at the hotel would be made before the case is presented to county authorities.

Grass Fire Victim In Serious Condition

Russell Steckman, Amaranth, Pa., continues in a serious condition at Memorial hospital, after being admitted there Sunday for second and third degree burns.

Steckman was reported to have been burning grass on his property when his clothing caught fire, burning him about the hips, legs and hands.

Charles H. Aldridge, 32, Mt. Savage, was admitted to Memorial hospital this morning for treatment of mashed toes on his left foot.

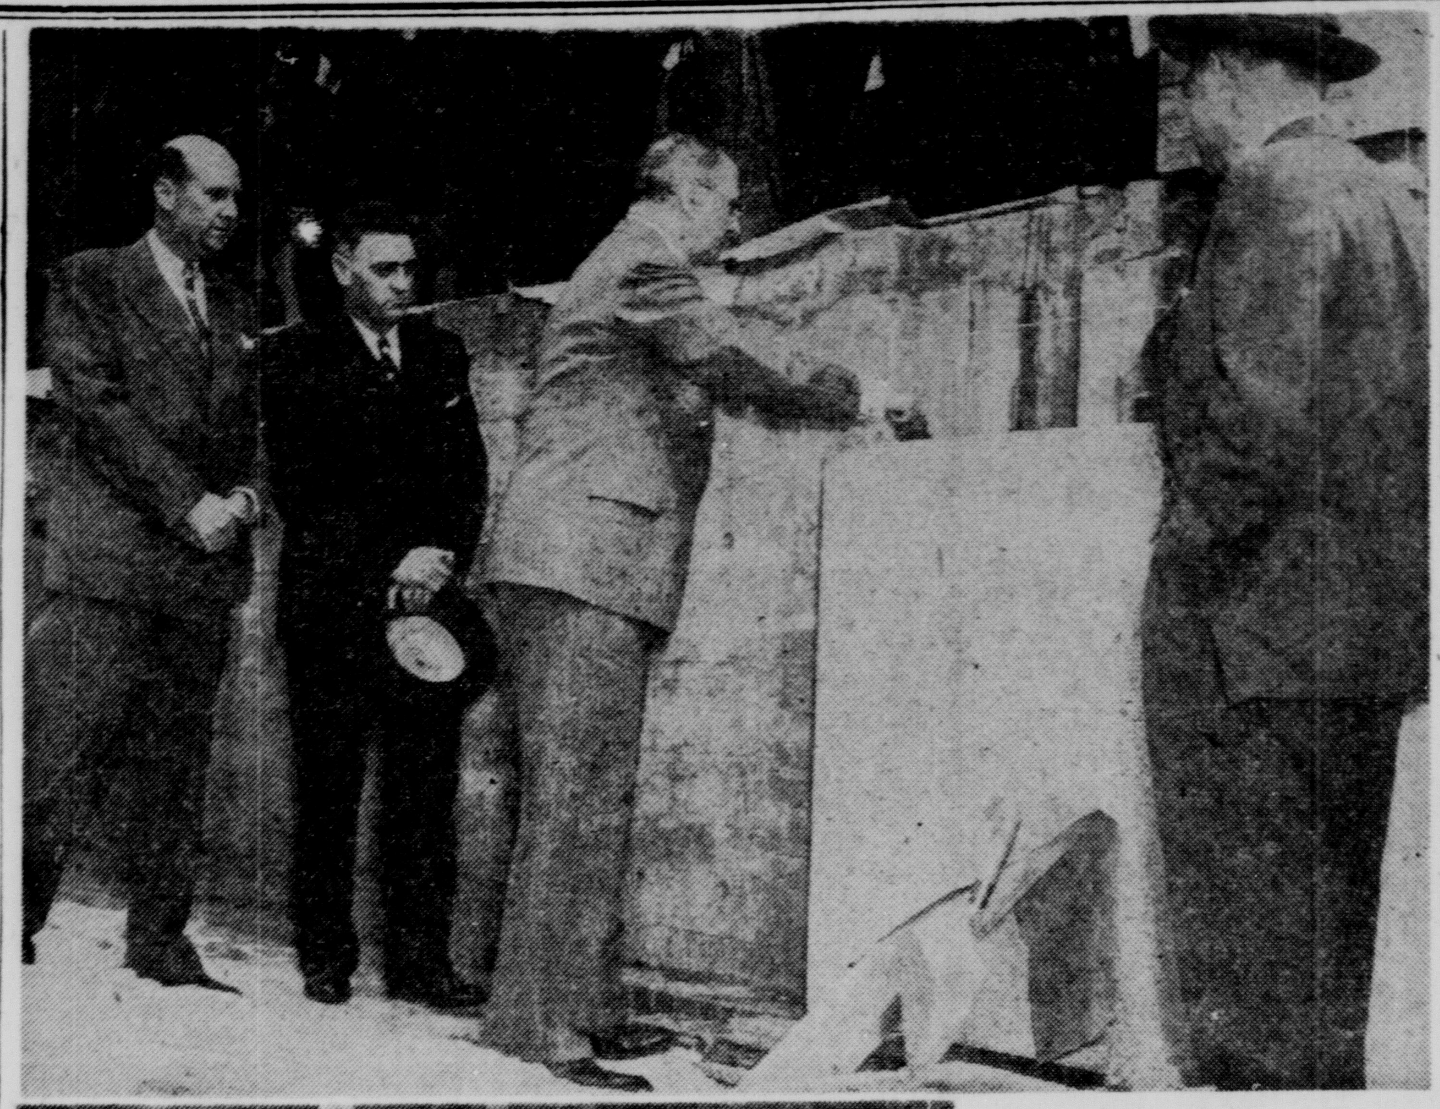
BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital reported the following birth last night:

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Jacobs, 132 Springdale Street, a son.

Allegany Hospital reported the following birth last night:

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Weber, 846 Greene Street, a daughter.



SEAL CORNERSTONE — As Edgar D. Vandegrift, contractor, looks on to see that the job is done properly, Tasker G. Lowndes, director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company (top picture), is putting the finishing touches on the cornerstone laying at the new telephone building yesterday afternoon. Others looking on are H. M. Smith, Cumberland office manager (left), and A. B. Haneke, company vice president and general manager (right). The photo at the left shows those who contributed to a sealed receptacle which was placed within the cornerstone. They are (left to right) E. H. Bender, plant wire chief; R. E. L. Taylor, architect; John J. McMullen, president, Times and Alleganian Company; Haneke, Mrs. Helen C. Johnson, chief operator, and Lowndes.

Hundreds Watch As Cornerstone Is Placed Here

Telephone Executives Take Part In Ceremony

Several hundred persons gathered at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets Monday afternoon to witness the cornerstone laying of Cumberland's new half-million dollar Chesapeake and Potomac telephone office building.

H. M. Smith, manager of the Cumberland office of the C. and P. Telephone Company of Baltimore City, opened the program and introduced Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, who gave the invocation.

Smith then introduced A. B. Haneke, vice president and general manager of the C. and P., Baltimore, who said that "it is a happy occasion for me inasmuch as the local building is a milestone in telephone history for Maryland."

Outside of Baltimore City, Cumberland's new building is the largest in the state and will be equipped with new machinery and trunk lines direct to various points in the country, he continued.

Haneke also thanked all those who have been waiting for telephone service and assured them that "in not too many months their wishes will be granted."

In response to Haneke, Mayor Thomas S. Post spoke briefly, saying, "The thing that strikes me so forcefully is that our city is progressing to such an extent as to outgrow our present facilities."

Rabbi Jacob Aronson, of Beth Jacob Congregation, gave the dedication followed by Tasker G. Lowndes, director of the telephone company, receiving the following from Cumberland citizens to be sealed in a receptacle within the cornerstone:

Copies of the Cumberland newspapers, John J. McMullen, president, The Times and Alleganian Company; the Allegany County telephone directory, Mrs. Helen C. Johnson, chief operator; photographs of architect's drawing of the new building, R. E. L. Taylor, architect; Cumberland telephone history, E. H. Bender, plant wire chief.

The benediction was pronounced by Father Alban Hammel, of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

Cub Pack Plans Indian Project

An organization meeting of the newly formed Cub Pack of Troop 7, which is sponsored by the Cumberland Rotary Club, was held last night at the Scout house on Central Avenue, according to Kenneth E. Jackson, executive of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Albert Kiiffner is cub master of the pack, which now numbers 14 boys. Den mothers are Mrs. Fern Kenney and Mrs. Walter Baker, and den dads are Roy Eaton and Robert Taylor.

Den chiefs, all members of Troop 7, are Richard Shrout, David Ferguson and Ronald Norris.

The boys are planning an "Indian project" for this month. Indian articles which they make will be exhibited at the next regular pack meeting, to be held Monday, May 10.

Den No. 1 members are Franklin and Paul Eaton, Junior Yankie, Harold Counihan, David Abernathy, Robert Adams and Gene Kenney.

Members of Den. No. 2 are John and Calvin Kiiffner, Paul Baker, Larry Smith, Ralph Welsh, David and Joseph Taylor.

Kaylor Did Not Seek Tax Collector Post

Edward P. Kaylor, who was nominated yesterday by Mayor Thomas S. Post for appointment as city tax collector, said last night that he was not an applicant for the position and did not solicit support from any members of the new council.

Kaylor, who is supervisor for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad car department here, said the mayor approached him some time ago with regard to the appointment, but that he did not seek the post.

At that time, Kaylor said, he informed the mayor he doubted whether he could be released from his B. and O. position, and that he could not hold both posts.

"I appreciate the consideration shown me by Mayor Post, who has been a friend of long standing, but I was not an applicant for the position," Kaylor said.

An employe of the B. and O. for a total of 33 years, Kaylor was street superintendent from 1936 to 1939 and a deputy sheriff in 1939 and 1940.

James M. Conway was named tax collector yesterday by a four to one vote.

Race For Mayor Winds Up In Tie

By MRS. EVA B. BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE.—Mayor Nevil J. Miller and his opponent, Vernon Beachy, were tied in yesterday's mayoralty race here with 77 votes each. Date of the run-off election has not been set.

Mayor Miller, a shop foreman at the Grantsville Motor Service Company, is seeking his second two-year term in office. Beachy, who is employed at a local welding shop, is a newcomer to Grantsville politics.

John Hershberger, a farmer, was re-elected to his second term as councilman with 56 votes. Leland Swauger, an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in Cumberland, topped the six council candidates with 59 votes.

The other incumbent councilman, L. B. Schaefer, did not seek reelection.

Defeated councilmanic candidates were N. U. Broadwater, 54 votes; Austin Kamp, 47 votes; William Biddington, 39 votes, and A. A. Hanst, 38 votes.

A total of 159 votes was cast, including four spoiled ballots.

The two councilmen are expected to take office April 12, with Mayor Miller presiding at future sessions until the mayoralty contest is decided.

Polling was held in the Grantsville Fire Hall yesterday from 3 until 8 p. m.

Knights Templar Hold Installation Tonight

Antioch Commandery No. 6, Knights Templar, will install Harry A. Smith as commander tonight at the Masonic Temple.

Commander Smith will be serving as the 41st Knight Templar since the Commandery was chartered January 14, 1873, when Dr. Charles H. Orr, a prominent citizen and mason, at that time was the first commander.

Smith has been affiliated with the Celanese Corporation since 1930. He resides in Park Heights with his wife and daughter.

Arrangements for the installation are under the direction of Grant A. Wiebel, right eminent past grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Maryland. A buffet luncheon will be served as the conclusion of the meeting.

Conway Succeeds Burke As City Tax Collector

Finan To Remain City Solicitor

After organizing for the 1948-50 term, the Mayor and Council yesterday appointed James M. Conway city tax collector and Thomas B. Finan city attorney, both on four to one votes.

Mayor Thomas S. Post was the loser on each ballot. For attorney he voted for Thomas Lohr Richards and for tax collector his selection was Edward P. Kaylor.

Dr. Upchurch Named

Two other appointments and the assignment of the councilmen to their respective positions were unanimous. Dr. C. L. Owens was again named to the Board of Health, while Dr. Burnest C. Upchurch was appointed to the Civil Service Commission to succeed Vincent P. Ingram.

William H. Buchholtz was appointed commissioner of finance and revenue and Edgar Reynolds was named street and public property. William J. Edwards remains as water and light commissioner and William V. Keegan will continue to hold down the police and fire department post.

Mayor Post said the naming of Conway, who served nearly nine years as collector, came as a complete surprise.

"Mr. Conway's name was never mentioned in any of the three caucus sessions," said the mayor. "At our last caucus on Friday the councilmen all said they were going to support Charles F. Burke, Jr., the present collector."

Buchholtz Suggests Conway

Commissioner Buchholtz placed Conway's name in nomination by stating:

"After I was elected, and in anticipation of becoming commissioner of finance and revenue, knowing the tax collector would be under my jurisdiction, I took steps immediately to attempt to select for tax collector a man who would be efficient. I made a thorough investigation and talked to a lot of people. I made a personal investigation of the entire matter. Mr. Burke, the present collector, presented evidence he could again qualify for the post, but he added he did not want the job. I nominate James M. Conway."

After the meeting Commissioner Buchholtz said that Burke had received the support of four councilmen at the caucus session.

Navy Department Says Area Man Lost At Sea

Seaman Cook Was Aboard Cruiser

Seaman First Class Thomas Milton Cook, 24, a former Celanese employe and Army veteran of World War II, was reported lost at sea last Saturday, according to Navy Department telegrams received Sunday morning by his mother, Mrs. William C. Baker, Wiley Ford, W. Va., and his wife, Mrs. Betty Simpson Cook, Bedford Valley, Pa.

The Navy Department gave no details, stating only it would send further information "as received."

Last Thursday Mrs. Cook received a letter written March 24 from her husband, who was then in Greece. The letter said his ship, the USS Manchester, a cruiser, was rumored about to leave that country.

Friday morning Mrs. Baker received a wire from her son, asking about the condition of his wife, who was hospitalized recently.

Seaman Cook has been serving aboard the Manchester since he enlisted in the Navy at Cumberland in September, 1946. He was home on a 20-day leave over the Christmas holidays, and visited his wife on a three-day leave a month later prior to boarding his ship at Boston.

A son of Mrs. Baker and the late Grover Cook, Seaman Cook was employed in the coning department at the Celanese plant both before and after serving in the Army for four years, including 30 months in Europe with the Ninth Armored Division. He received his honorable discharge in December, 1945.

Seaman and Mrs. Cook were married July 11, 1947. Mrs. Cook, a former nurse's aide at Allegany Hospital, is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Simpson, Bedford Valley.

Seaman Cook has a sister, Mrs. Mary Sampson, Stamford, Conn., and one brother, George W. Cook, Route 3, Bedford, Pa.

Area Coal Mines Remain Closed As Strike Continues

Workers Await Order From Lewis

There is no indication in the Upper Potomac and George's Creek Coal Regions that the miners plan to return to work without a direct order from John L. Lewis, and all struck mines remained idle yesterday.

Only a couple of strip mines in this area have been operating and railroads report coal movement still at a minimum. It is estimated there are 2,000 Maryland miners idle, and almost twice that number in nearby West Virginia soft coal fields.

Several hundred Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes here and at Keyser, W. Va., are idle again today as a result of the coal stoppage, with 272 furloughed at the Bolt and Forge plant, 55 at the Rolling Mill, 249 in the car department at Keyser and 100 in the round house there. The railroad had announced a five-day furlough ending April 1, and the men returned to work for four days before the second furlough became effective.

A B. and O. oficial in Baltimore said last night with the coal freight down to a mere trickle because of the miners' continued walkout, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad would lay off a total of 8,500 workers in various departments along the system today.

The railroad reported its coal loadings for the week ended April 3 amounted to only 5,300 cars. For the same week in 1947 they numbered 17,322.

The Western Maryland Railway reported it has not laid off any workers, but many are on reduced shifts. The road is primarily a coal carrier and has been hit hard.

The 2,000 miners in the Western Maryland area went along today with indifference throughout the fields to a government order to end their walkout. No pits in the area were reported open. The miners evidently were waiting for explicit instructions from president John L. Lewis before picking up their tools.

The Maryland Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad said it was affected only slightly by the coal shutdown since little shop work is done in the Free State. However, many employes have been put on extra lists because of a 20 per cent reduction in the number of operating trains.

The B. and O. layoffs will hit maintenance, shop, train and yard crews. Many of them are being laid off for the second time since start of the shutdown on March 15. They had been ordered back April 1, but continuation of the walkout forced more furloughs.

The Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point reported no change in operations since one of its seven blast furnaces was closed down last week.

Buckingham Appointed To Newly Created State Forester Position

Joseph F. Kaylor returned to the post of director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, effective April 1, John M. Nelson, chairman of the State Commission of Forests and Parks, announced yesterday.

At the same time, Nelson announced that H. C. Buckingham, who has acted as head of the department for the past year, was appointed to the newly created position of state forester. His appointment likewise is effective April 1.

Kaylor will be the administrative head of the department and will devote most of his time to parks, recreation and public relations, Nelson said.

Buckingham, who Nelson said also will have a "great deal of administrative responsibility," will be in charge of state forests and personnel.

"Mr. Kaylor is back with the department," Nelson said in making the announcement, "and we are glad to have him."

He added that both Kaylor and Buckingham have had "more work than they could do" and have "done outstanding work."

He termed the two appointments "a team" and said "morale has never been better."

Buckingham, who was district forester with headquarters in Cumberland for 11 years, was appointed acting head of the department when Kaylor was granted a year's leave of absence last April to become assistant executive secretary of the American Forestry Association.

Funds To Survey C. & O. Canal For Parkway Get Committee Approval

Bill Now Awaits House Passage

A scenic parkway along the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between Great Falls and this city came a step nearer yesterday when the House Public Lands Subcommittee approved a $40,000 study of the route.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall said the survey is in line with a bill he introduced in the House of Representatives in January asking that an appropriation for the joint study of the canal be authorized.

If passed, the bill would authorize a joint survey by the Public Roads Administration and the National Park Service. The government acquired the property in 1938 after it was damaged beyond use by the 1924 flood.

Rep. Beall's bill specifically asks that the survey and study be made with the view to making the canal into a parkway and that the report include an estimate of the cost of such a project.

If the parkway is constructed it would connect with the already authorized George Washington Memorial Parkway at Great Falls and with the Blue Ridge Parkway at Harpers Ferry.

At Cumberland the parkway would connect with main highways leading north and west. The distance between Great Falls and Cumberland is 165 miles.

The canal, along whose bed the parkway would run, was started in 1882 when President John Quincy Adams turned the first spadeful of earth in Georgetown.

It was completed to Cumberland in 1850 and continued in use primarily by coal barges until flood damage in 1924. A falling off of traffic at the time made its repair uneconomical.

In introducing the bill Rep. Beall said he is hopeful the survey will result in a parkway being constructed to run the full length of the canal bed.

Jaycees Lay Plans For Annual Spring Clean-Up Drive

Councilman Reynolds Pledges Co-operation

Assured of the co-operation of Commissioner Edgar Reynolds and the City Street Department, a large committee representing the Junior Association of Commerce met last night in the Jaycee offices and made tentative plans for an extensive Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up campaign, according to Jack Hendricks, Jaycee Clean-Up chairman.

Commissioner Reynolds met with the committee and made a number of suggestions to help get the drive underway. He said, "although I just assumed my office today, my past experience as commissioner of streets and public property has led me to believe in these Jaycee Clean-Up campaigns, and by working together, we can help make Cumberland a cleaner, healthier city."

Hendricks said an effort will be made to give the program the widest publicity and to interest everyone in the city. He told the group, "We believe a program of action is more important than a program of mere words and publicity. If we help with the actual work, we can make many improvements and encourage many people to co-operate. Most Cumberlanders are tired of the dirt and rubbish and litter, and are just waiting for some kind of program to start."

The committee reviewed past campaigns and worked out a number of suggestions. It was tentatively decided to conduct a survey of all hazards to health and safety, all unsightly spots and unsanitary conditions on public and private property and to set aside a week for the public to call attention to conditions which need improvement.

Then during a second week immediately following, an actual "at work" effort will be undertaken, to eliminate unsightly spots, unsafe conditions and unhealthy situations. This will include a general "trash" day, in addition to regular waste-paper collections and garbage collections.

This is to be followed, the committee agreed, with a general program of city beautification wherever possible.

Hendricks named a number of sub-committees to work out various details, and said a second meeting will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m.

John M. Groobey Is Transferred

Theodore S. Angradi, 37, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been appointed manager of the Household Finance Corporation office in the Liberty Trust Building here to succeed John M. Groobey, 35, 815 Fayette Street, who has been transferred to Norfolk, Va.

Angradi said yesterday he has been with the company for the past five years in Wilkes-Barre, his home town, prior to which time he worked for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. He is a member of the Rotary Club, is married and has two children. He said he expects to move his family here as soon as he can obtain housing.

Groobey came here March 5, 1946 and opened the local office. The transfer to Norfolk, he added, is to open an office there. Groobey, who has been active in veterans and civic affairs while here, is a native of Norfolk.

YMCA Is Observing World Service Month

The Cumberland Young Men's Christian Association will join other YMCA groups throughout the United States and Canada in observing April as World Service Month, according to Robert L. Sisson, general secretary.

The observance marks the 59th anniversary of the overseas program of the North American YMCAs, which sends trained men to other countries to initiate YMCA activities by training local leaders.

Through the World Service program, Sisson said, the 1,400 YMCAs of North America have banded together to develop "Y" activities in 34 of the 74 countries where the movement is active.

Sisson cited China as an example, stating that the 142 YMCA organizations in that country aided at least two and one-half million persons this year by providnig a variety of services ranging from night schools to food and clothing relief.

Window Reported Broken

Police last night were seeking two South Cumberland youths who reportedly broke a plate glass window in the front of the Emory Barber Shop, Virginia Avenue. Police said they were informed the youths ran after falling against the window and breaking it.

Nutrition Unit To Complete Survey Here This Month

East Side Pupils To Be Studied

A comparative report will be prepared in publication form following the completion this month of a two-year nutrition study in Cumberland schools, according to Dr. Clarence Velat, officer in charge of a unit of the United States Public Health Service which has been conducting the survey.

Dr. Velat said the remainder of April will be spent at East Side School, where approximately 400 children in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be studied.

A survey has already been completed in two local schools, with 256 pupils examined at Columbia Street and 99 at West Side. The latter pupils attended Columbia Street School last year, where they took part in the survey.

A certain number of the children are undergoing Vitamin C therapy to test its effect on gum conditions which medical nutrition specialists believe is indicative of Vitamin C deficiency, Dr. Velat said.

Public health nurses in Allegany County, under the supervision of Miss Helen Rafferty, are assisting the nutrition unit in the survey work.

Dr. Velat said the nurses are being trained in observing signs of malnutrition so that a follow-up program can be carried out when the survey ends.

He also praised the co-operation of school principals and of Mrs. Joseph P. Buday and Mrs. W. M. Faw, Jr., who organized lay workers at Columbia Street and West Side, respectively, to assist in the survey.

Dr. Milicent Hathaway, winner of the Borden Prize in 1947, has been making tests on Vitamin C determination of the blood, assisted by Dr. Freda Meyer, also a biochemist.

Nicholas Barbella is the staff biochemist, assisted by Miss Dorothy Kremen, technician. Tests are made in the laboratory on the third floor of the Public Safety Building.

State nutritionists working with the unit are Miss Mayton Zickefoose and Miss Anne Matthews. Miss Helen Walz, Washington, of the USPHS nutrition section, will return here during the last two weeks of April to continue her secretarial work. Other unit members are Mrs. Denys Manson and Miss Alla Meredith.

Accused of striking Louis Waingold, proprietor of the Alibi Cocktail Lounge, corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic Streets, in the face, Edwin Hansford, 362 Bedford Street, was arrested yesterday afternoon.

Police said he was released on $10 bond last night for a hearing this morning in Police Court on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge. He was arrested at the Alibi yesterday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock by Officer Theodore Rose.

Prisoner's Address Corrected On Docket

Police last night corrected the address of Dorothy Radcliffe, alias Dorothy White, to 223 Maple Street on the police docket, where she is listed as held for investigation in connection with an automobile larceny.

Police said the Radcliffe woman gave her address as 123 Maple Street when arrested Saturday, but residents of the address later informed them that it was incorrect.

1,248 Beginners Are Registered For School Term

Educators Expect Record Enrollment

First grade enrollments for the 1948-1949 Allegany County public school term appeared headed for a record high yesterday with 36 of the 37 first grade teachers reporting a total of 1,248 youngsters registered at the two-day pre-school enrollment.

The figures obtained at the pre-school registration usually represent about 75 per cent of students who will begin school in the fall, Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, declared yesterday.

Based on these figures, and with the Oldtown first grade still to be heard from, Ramey said the indications are that first grade enrollments will exceed 1,300 in September when schools reopen for the fall and winter term.

During the present year, according to Ramey, there are approximately 1,600 first grade students attending public schools in the county. This, however, included a number who were held back from the previous year and is not a good comparison for the present registration figure, Ramey explained.

Last year's pre-school registration figures showed that 1,227 beginner students would attend the public schools' first grades but the figure jumped approximately 25 per cent during the first week of school, according to Ramey.

Of the total registration reported yesterday, 617 were boys and 631 girls. Education officials said the first grade enrollments have been increasing steadily since shortly after the first years of World War II.

In addition to the 23 first grade enrollments reported recently, figures from schools yesterday included:

School	Total	Girls	Boys
Humbird	40	18	22
Flintstone	44	24	20
Gephart	49	22	27
East Side	63	32	31
Johnson Heights	52	31	21
Pennsylvania Ave.	80	46	34
Mt. Savage	23	9	14
Piney Plains	12	5	7
Pekin	4	2	2
Virginia Ave.	54	30	24
Detmold	17	8	9
Luke	9	5	4
Central	29	15	14

Ramey said the registration at Oldtown, only school that has not filed a registration report, is expected to run between 40 and 45 students for the 1948-1949 term.

Unemployment Is Down Slightly In March Figures

Unemployment registration figures at the local office of the Maryland Employment Service declined 56 in March from the 444 total reported in February, Patrick J. Carroll, manager, said yesterday.

While the unemployment registration figures were off slightly, the office was contacted by 9,729 persons in March, an increase of 2,045 over February.

During March the local office referred 259 persons to job situations and was instrumental in placing 195 in positions. It represented four fewer persons referred to jobs and 17 more placed in positions than during February.

A breakdown of the job placements in March shows that 41 non-veteran males were placed, 76 females and 78 veterans. All were increases over February, according to Carroll.

Of the persons filing unemployment applications, 128 were non-veteran males, 153 females and 107 veterans of World War II. The application figures showed declines in the non-veteran male and veteran columns while the female applications were up 15.

Four handicapped veterans were placed in positions in March while five were given positions in February, Carroll declared.

The employment service's total active file as of March 31 showed a decline of 109 over February when 2,464 persons were registered as seeking employment in Allegany County.

The March total of the active file shows 2,355 persons registered with the breakdown representing 509 non-veteran males, 525 females and 1,321 veterans.

Dr. Frantz is being assisted by Dr. William F. McFarland, assistant city and county health officer.

The clinic schedule for the remainder of this week follows:

Date	School	Time

April 9	Penn Avenue	9:30 a. m.
April 9	St. Mary's	1:30 p. m.

Temperature Reading

Be sure to take your raincoat or umbrella to work or shopping today, as ye ol' weatherman is predicting lots of cloudiness with widely scattered showers, but being April, anything can happen, and generally does. A high temperature of 73 was recorded Monday and at 10 o'clock last night it had dropped to 49, with a low of the day set at 42 degrees. The light rain? Well, the weatherman says, it didn't rain enough to even bother measuring.

Engineers To Be Asked To Discuss City Master Plan

Joint Meeting Will Be Held In May

A joint meeting with the Mayor and Council was planned yesterday by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission to seek engineering advice regarding preliminary mapping of a master plan for the future development of Cumberland.

Chairman James Alfred Avirett requested H. W. Smith, secretary, who suggested the meeting, to invite A. Russell Vollmer of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineering firm, to attend the session.

Albert S. Paye of the Small-Paye Engineering Company and City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer will also be invited to attend. The conference will be held either May 3 or 10, whichever is more convenient.

Commission members and the Mayor and Council will also be asked to contribute suggestions at the conference, so that work can be started on the master plan.

The commission voted to request the Mayor and Council to include in the 1948-49 budget a sum not to exceed $4,000, which would allow $3,000 for engineering costs and $1,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

Mayor Thomas S. Post pointed out that as of February 29, only $615.96 had been spent of last year's city planning appropriation of $4,500. However, the balance of $3,884.04 was turned back into the general account when the fiscal year closed March 31.

Smith pointed out that the Small-Paye engineering firm has been mentioned for possible appointment as a liaison agent between the city and Army engineers in the Cumberland flood control project, which is expected to affect future plans for development of the city.

Clarence Griggs renewed a sug-regulate traffic lights on Baltimore gestion made by Rizer last year to Street either by reducing or eliminating walk lights so that motor traffic would not be tied up.

Mayor Post said he would refer the suggestion to Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and to Police Department officials.

Avirett asked the secretary to contact Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission, for information regarding the possibility of state or federal funds for the proposed crosstown viaduct, as well as for suggestions regarding financing the project, such as a toll charge or motor license fees.

Girl's Absence From Home Over Night Is Probed

Circumstances surrounding a 15-year-old girl's all-night absence from her South Keyser, W. Va., home Sunday were being investigated last night by Mineral County authorities who said her "story doesn't go together right."

The girl, who was not identified, was quoted by police as saying she was abducted on Main Street Sunday night at 10 o'clock and forced into a car by two men, both believed to be from Cumberland.

During questioning yesterday morning the girl told a story of being forced into the car and then losing consciousness until 7:30 a. m. yesterday, according to Mayor John Freeland, Keyser.

The juvenile, who was reported missing by her grandmother early yesterday, told police, they said, that she "came to" in a car parked on Mineral Street about 7:30 a. m. and then walked about three-quarters of a mile to a bus stop on Main Street where she got transportation home.

The girl, who police said reportedly was visiting a friend early Sunday night, insisted that she could recall nothing of the night's or early morning's happenings after she was forced into the car.

Mayor Freeland, however, said a check of a Keyser hotel revealed that two youthful girls were registered there over Sunday night by two young men, but explained that the names were believed to be assumed.

Questioned for several hours yesterday morning, Mayor Freeland said the girl could recall only that one man was "six feet, four inches tall," and both claimed to be from Cumberland.

A car in which the girl reportedly was riding was traced from Main Street, Keyser, to the "Y" on the Maryland side of the Potomac River, police said. The time of the trip was estimated to be shortly after 10 p. m. Sunday, Mayor Freeland declared.

Police said relatives of the girl were to be questioned last night and a further check of the quartet who allegedly spent the night at the hotel would be made before the case is presented to county authorities.

Grass Fire Victim In Serious Condition

Steckman was reported to have been burning grass on his property when his clothing caught fire, burning him about the hips, legs and hands.

Charles H. Aldridge, 32, Mt. Savage, was admitted to Memorial hospital this morning for treatment of mashed toes on his left foot.

Memorial Hospital reported the following birth last night:

SEAL CORNERSTONE — As Edgar D. Vandegrift, contractor, looks on to see that the job is done properly, Tasker G. Lowndes, director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company (top picture), is putting the finishing touches on the cornerstone laying at the new telephone building yesterday afternoon. Others looking on are H. M. Smith, Cumberland office manager (left), and A. B. Haneke, company vice president and general manager (right). The photo at the left shows those who contributed to a sealed receptacle which was placed within the cornerstone. They are (left to right) E. H. Bender, plant wire chief; R. E. L. Taylor, architect; John J. McMullen, president, Times and Alleganian Company; Haneke, Mrs. Helen C. Johnson, chief operator, and Lowndes.

Hundreds Watch As Cornerstone Is Placed Here

Telephone Executives Take Part In Ceremony

Several hundred persons gathered at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets Monday afternoon to witness the cornerstone laying of Cumberland's new half-million dollar Chesapeake and Potomac telephone office building.

H. M. Smith, manager of the Cumberland office of the C. and P. Telephone Company of Baltimore City, opened the program and introduced Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, who gave the invocation.

Smith then introduced A. B. Haneke, vice president and general manager of the C. and P., Baltimore, who said that "it is a happy occasion for me inasmuch as the local building is a milestone in telephone history for Maryland."

Outside of Baltimore City, Cumberland's new building is the largest in the state and will be equipped with new machinery and trunk lines direct to various points in the country, he continued.

Haneke also thanked all those who have been waiting for telephone service and assured them that "in not too many months their wishes will be granted."

In response to Haneke, Mayor Thomas S. Post spoke briefly, saying, "The thing that strikes me so forcefully is that our city is progressing to such an extent as to outgrow our present facilities."

Rabbi Jacob Aronson, of Beth Jacob Congregation, gave the dedication followed by Tasker G. Lowndes, director of the telephone company, receiving the following from Cumberland citizens to be sealed in a receptacle within the cornerstone:

Copies of the Cumberland newspapers, John J. McMullen, president, The Times and Alleganian Company; the Allegany County telephone directory, Mrs. Helen C. Johnson, chief operator; photographs of architect's drawing of the new building, R. E. L. Taylor, architect; Cumberland telephone history, E. H. Bender, plant wire chief.

The benediction was pronounced by Father Alban Hammel, of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

The boys are planning an "Indian project" for this month. Indian articles which they make will be exhibited at the next regular pack meeting, to be held Monday, May 10.

Den No. 1 members are Franklin and Paul Eaton, Junior Yankie, Harold Counihan, David Abernathy, Robert Adams and Gene Kenney.

Members of Den. No. 2 are John and Calvin Kiffner, Paul Baker, Larry Smith, Ralph Welsh, David and Joseph Taylor.

Kaylor Did Not Seek Tax Collector Post

Edward P. Kaylor, who was nominated yesterday by Mayor Thomas S. Post for appointment as city tax collector, said last night that he was not an applicant for the position and did not solicit support from any members of the new council.

Kaylor, who is supervisor for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad car department here, said the mayor approached him some time ago with regard to the appointment, but that he did not seek the post.

At that time, Kaylor said, he informed the mayor he doubted whether he could be released from his B. and O. position, and that he could not hold both posts.

"I appreciate the consideration shown me by Mayor Post, who has been a friend of long standing, but I was not an applicant for the position," Kaylor said.

An employe of the B. and O. for a total of 33 years, Kaylor was street superintendent from 1936 to 1939 and a deputy sheriff in 1939 and 1940.

James M. Conway was named tax collector yesterday by a four to one vote.

Race For Mayor Winds Up In Tie

By MRS. EVA B. BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE.—Mayor Nevil J. Miller and his opponent, Vernon Beachy, were tied in yesterday's mayoralty race here with 77 votes each. Date of the run-off election has not been set.

Mayor Miller, a shop foreman at the Grantsville Motor Service Company, is seeking his second two-year term in office. Beachy, who is employed at a local welding shop, is a newcomer to Grantsville politics.

John Hershberger, a farmer, was re-elected to his second term as councilman with 56 votes. Leland Swauger, an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in Cumberland, topped the six council candidates with 59 votes.

The other incumbent councilman, L. B. Schaefer, did not seek reelection.

Defeated councilmanic candidates were N. U. Broadwater, 54 votes; Austin Kamp, 47 votes; William Biddington, 39 votes, and A. A. Hanst, 38 votes.

A total of 159 votes was cast, including four spoiled ballots.

The two councilmen are expected to take office April 12, with Mayor Miller presiding at future sessions until the mayoralty contest is decided.

Polling was held in the Grantsville Fire Hall yesterday from 3 until 8 p. m.

Knights Templar Hold Installation Tonight

Antioch Commandery No. 6, Knights Templar, will install Harry A. Smith as commander tonight at the Masonic Temple.

Commander Smith will be serving as the 41st Knight Templar since the Commandery was chartered January 14, 1873, when Dr. Charles H. Orr, a prominent citizen and mason, at that time was the first commander.

Smith has been affiliated with the Celanese Corporation since 1930. He resides in Park Heights with his wife and daughter.

Arrangements for the installation are under the direction of Grant A. Wiebel, right eminent past grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Maryland. A buffet luncheon will be served as the conclusion of the meeting.

Conway Succeeds Burke As City Tax Collector

Finan To Remain City Solicitor

After organizing for the 1948-50 term, the Mayor and Council yesterday appointed James M. Conway city tax collector and Thomas B. Finan city attorney, both on four to one votes.

Mayor Thomas S. Post was the loser on each ballot. For attorney he voted for Thomas Lohr Richards and for tax collector his selection was Edward P. Kaylor.

Dr. Upchurch Named

Two other appointments and the assignment of the councilmen to their respective positions were unanimous. Dr. C. L. Owens was again named to the Board of Health, while Dr. Burnest C. Upchurch was appointed to the Civil Service Commission to succeed Vincent P. Ingram.

William H. Buchholtz was appointed commissioner of finance and revenue and Edgar Reynolds was named street and public property. William J. Edwards remains as water and light commissioner and William V. Keegan will continue to hold down the police and fire department post.

Mayor Post said the naming of Conway, who served nearly nine years as collector, came as a complete surprise.

"Mr. Conway's name was never mentioned in any of the three caucus sessions," said the mayor. "At our last caucus on Friday the councilmen all said they were going to support Charles F. Burke, Jr., the present collector."

Buchholtz Suggests Conway

Commissioner Buchholtz placed Conway's name in nomination by stating:

"After I was elected, and in anticipation of becoming commissioner of finance and revenue, knowing the tax collector would be under my jurisdiction, I took steps immediately to attempt to select for tax collector a man who would be efficient. I made a thorough investigation and talked to a lot of people. I made a personal investigation of the entire matter. Mr. Burke, the present collector, presented evidence he could again qualify for the post, but he added he did not want the job. I nominate James M. Conway."

After the meeting Commissioner Buchholtz said that Burke had received the support of four councilmen at the caucus session.

Buckingham Appointed To Newly Created State Forester Position

Joseph F. Kaylor returned to the post of director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, effective April 1, John M. Nelson, chairman of the State Commission of Forests and Parks, announced yesterday.

At the same time, Nelson announced that H. C. Buckingham, who has acted as head of the department for the past year, was appointed to the newly created position of state forester. His appointment likewise is effective April 1.

Kaylor will be the administrative head of the department and will devote most of his time to parks, recreation and public relations, Nelson said.

Buckingham, who Nelson said also will have a "great deal of administrative responsibility," will be in charge of state forests and personnel.

"Mr. Kaylor is back with the department," Nelson said in making the announcement, "and we are glad to have him."

He added that both Kaylor and Buckingham have had "more work than they could do" and have "done outstanding work."

He termed the two appointments "a team" and said "morale has never been better."

Buckingham, who was district forester with headquarters in Cumberland for 11 years, was appointed acting head of the department when Kaylor was granted a year's leave of absence last April to become assistant executive secretary of the American Forestry Association.

Navy Department Says Area Man Lost At Sea

Seaman Cook Was Aboard Cruiser

Seaman First Class Thomas Milton Cook, 24, a former Celanese employe and Army veteran of World War II, was reported lost at sea last Saturday, according to Navy Department telegrams received Sunday morning by his mother, Mrs. William C. Baker, Wiley Ford, W. Va., and his wife, Mrs. Betty Simpson Cook, Bedford Valley, Pa.

The Navy Department gave no details, stating only it would send further information "as received."

Last Thursday Mrs. Cook received a letter written March 24 from her husband, who was then in Greece. The letter said his ship, the USS Manchester, a cruiser, was rumored about to leave that country.

Friday morning Mrs. Baker received a wire from her son, asking about the condition of his wife, who was hospitalized recently.

Seaman Cook has been serving aboard the Manchester since he enlisted in the Navy at Cumberland in September, 1946. He was home on a 20-day leave over the Christmas holidays, and visited his wife on a three-day leave a month later prior to boarding his ship at Boston.

A son of Mrs. Baker and the late Grover Cook, Seaman Cook was employed in the coning department at the Celanese plant both before and after serving in the Army for four years, including 30 months in Europe with the Ninth Armored Division. He received his honorable discharge in December, 1945.

Seaman and Mrs. Cook were married July 11, 1947. Mrs. Cook, a former nurse's aide at Allegany Hospital, is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Simpson, Bedford Valley.

Seaman Cook has a sister, Mrs. Mary Sampson, Stamford, Conn., and one brother, George W. Cook, Route 3, Bedford, Pa.

Area Coal Mines Remain Closed As Strike Continues

Workers Await Order From Lewis

There is no indication in the Upper Potomac and George's Creek Coal Regions that the miners plan to return to work without a direct order from John L. Lewis, and all struck mines remained idle yesterday.

Only a couple of strip mines in this area have been operating and railroads report coal movement still at a minimum. It is estimated there are 2,000 Maryland miners idle, and almost twice that number in nearby West Virginia soft coal fields.

Several hundred Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes here and at Keyser, W. Va., are idle again today as a result of the coal stoppage, with 272 furloughed at the Bolt and Forge plant, 55 at the Rolling Mill, 249 in the car department at Keyser and 100 in the round house there. The railroad had announced a five-day furlough ending April 1, and the men returned to work for four days before the second furlough became effective.

A B. and O. official in Baltimore said last night with the coal freight down to a mere trickle because of the miners' continued walkout, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad would lay off a total of 8,500 workers in various departments along the system today.

The railroad reported its coal loadings for the week ended April 3 amounted to only 5,300 cars. For the same week in 1947 they numbered 17,322.

The Western Maryland Railway reported it has not laid off any workers, but many are on reduced shifts. The road is primarily a coal carrier and has been hit hard.

The 2,000 miners in the Western Maryland area went along today with indifference throughout the fields to a government order to end their walkout. No pits in the area were reported open. The miners evidently were waiting for explicit instructions from president John L. Lewis before picking up their tools.

The Maryland Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad said it was affected only slightly by the coal shutdown since little shop work is done in the Free State. However, many employes have been put on extra lists because of a 20 per cent reduction in the number of operating trains.

The B. and O. layoffs will hit maintenance, shop, train and yard crews. Many of them are being laid off for the second time since start of the shutdown on March 15. They had been ordered back April 1, but continuation of the walkout forced more furloughs.

The Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point reported no change in operations since one of its seven blast furnaces was closed down last week.

Funds To Survey C. & O. Canal For Parkway Get Committee Approval

Bill Now Awaits House Passage

A scenic parkway along the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between Great Falls and this city came a step nearer yesterday when the House Public Lands Subcommittee approved a $40,000 study of the route.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall said the survey is in line with a bill he introduced in the House of Representatives in January asking that an appropriation for the joint study of the canal be authorized.

If passed, the bill would authorize a joint survey by the Public Roads Administration and the National Park Service. The government acquired the property in 1938 after it was damaged beyond use by the 1924 flood.

Rep. Beall's bill specifically asks that the survey and study be made with the view to making the canal into a parkway and that the report include an estimate of the cost of such a project.

If the parkway is constructed it would connect with the already authorized George Washington Memorial Parkway at Great Falls and with the Blue Ridge Parkway at Harpers Ferry.

At Cumberland the parkway would connect with main highways leading north and west. The distance between Great Falls and Cumberland is 165 miles.

The canal, along whose bed the parkway would run, was started in 1882 when President John Quincy Adams turned the first spadeful of earth in Georgetown.

It was completed to Cumberland in 1850 and continued in use primarily by coal barges until flood damage in 1924. A falling off of traffic at the time made its repair uneconomical.

In introducing the bill Rep. Beall said he is hopeful the survey will result in a parkway being constructed to run the full length of the canal bed.

Jaycees Lay Plans For Annual Spring Clean-Up Drive

Councilman Reynolds Pledges Co-operation

Assured of the co-operation of Commissioner Edgar Reynolds and the City Street Department, a large committee representing the Junior Association of Commerce met last night in the Jaycee offices and made tentative plans for an extensive Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up campaign, according to Jack Hendricks, Jaycee Clean-Up chairman.

Commissioner Reynolds met with the committee and made a number of suggestions to help get the drive underway. He said, "although I just assumed my office today, my past experience as commissioner of streets and public property has led me to believe in these Jaycee Clean-Up campaigns, and by working together, we can help make Cumberland a cleaner, healthier city."

Hendricks said an effort will be made to give the program the widest publicity and to interest everyone in the city. He told the group, "We believe a program of action is more important than a program of mere words and publicity. If we help with the actual work, we can make many improvements and encourage many people to co-operate. Most Cumberlanders are tired of the dirt and rubbish and litter, and are just waiting for some kind of program to start."

The committee reviewed past campaigns and worked out a number of suggestions. It was tentatively decided to conduct a survey of all hazards to health and safety, all unsightly spots and unsanitary conditions on public and private property and to set aside a week for the public to call attention to conditions which need improvement.

Then during a second week immediately following, an actual "at work" effort will be undertaken, to eliminate unsightly spots, unsafe conditions and unhealthy situations. This will include a general "trash" day, in addition to regular wastepaper collections and garbage collections.

This is to be followed, the committee agreed, with a general program of city beautification wherever possible.

Hendricks named a number of sub-committees to work out various details, and said a second meeting will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m.

YMCA Is Observing World Service Month

The Cumberland Young Men's Christian Association will join other YMCA groups throughout the United States and Canada in observing April as World Service Month, according to Robert L. Sisson, general secretary.

The observance marks the 59th anniversary of the overseas program of the North American YMCAs, which sends trained men to other countries to initiate YMCA activities by training local leaders.

Through the World Service program, Sisson said, the 1,400 YMCAs of North America have banded together to develop "Y" activities in 34 of the 74 countries where the movement is active.

Sisson cited China as an example, stating that the 142 YMCA organizations in that country aided at least two and one-half million persons this year by providnig a variety of services ranging from night schools to food and clothing relief.

Police last night were seeking two South Cumberland youths who reportedly broke a plate glass window in the front of the Emory Barber Shop, Virginia Avenue. Police said they were informed the youths ran after falling against the window and breaking it.

Nutrition Unit To Complete Survey Here This Month

East Side Pupils To Be Studied

A comparative report will be prepared in publication form following the completion this month of a two-year nutrition study in Cumberland schools, according to Dr. Clarence Velat, officer in charge of a unit of the United States Public Health Service which has been conducting the survey.

Dr. Velat said the remainder of April will be spent at East Side School, where approximately 400 children in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be studied.

A survey has already been completed in two local schools, with 256 pupils examined at Columbia Street and 99 at West Side. The latter pupils attended Columbia Street School last year, where they took part in the survey.

A certain number of the children are undergoing Vitamin C therapy to test its effect on gum conditions which medical nutrition specialists believe is indicative of Vitamin C deficiency, Dr. Velat said.

Public health nurses in Allegany County, under the supervision of Miss Helen Rafferty, are assisting the nutrition unit in the survey work.

Dr. Velat said the nurses are being trained in observing signs of malnutrition so that a follow-up program can be carried out when the survey ends.

He also praised the co-operation of school principals and of Mrs. Joseph P. Buday and Mrs. W. M. Faw, Jr., who organized lay workers at Columbia Street and West Side, respectively, to assist in the survey.

Dr. Milicent Hathaway, winner of the Borden Prize in 1947, has been making tests on Vitamin C determination of the blood, assisted by Dr. Freda Meyer, also a biochemist.

Nicholas Barbella is the staff biochemist, assisted by Miss Dorothy Kremen, technician. Tests are made in the laboratory on the third floor of the Public Safety Building.

State nutritionists working with the unit are Miss Mayton Zickefoose and Miss Anne Matthews. Miss Helen Walz, Washington, of the USPHS nutrition section, will return here during the last two weeks of April to continue her secretarial work. Other unit members are Mrs. Denys Manson and Miss Alla Meredith.

Accused of striking Louis Waingold, proprietor of the Alibi Cocktail Lounge, corner of Baltimore and North Mechanic Streets, in the face, Edwin Hansford, 362 Bedford Street, was arrested yesterday afternoon.

Police said he was released on $10 bond last night for a hearing this morning in Police Court on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge. He was arrested at the Alibi yesterday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock by Officer Theodore Rose.

Prisoner's Address Corrected On Docket

Police last night corrected the address of Dorothy Radcliffe, alias Dorothy White, to 223 Maple Street on the police docket, where she is listed as held for investigation in connection with an automobile larceny.

Police said the Radcliffe woman gave her address as 123 Maple Street when arrested Saturday, but residents of the address later informed them that it was incorrect.

1,248 Beginners Are Registered For School Term

Educators Expect Record Enrollment

First grade enrollments for the 1948-1949 Allegany County public school term appeared headed for a record high yesterday with 36 of the 37 first grade teachers reporting a total of 1,248 youngsters registered at the two-day pre-school enrollment.

The figures obtained at the pre-school registration usually represent about 75 per cent of students who will begin school in the fall, Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, declared yesterday.

Based on these figures, and with the Oldtown first grade still to be heard from, Ramey said the indications are that first grade enrollments will exceed 1,300 in September when schools reopen for the fall and winter term.

During the present year, according to Ramey, there are approximately 1,600 first grade students attending public schools in the county. This, however, included a number who were held back from the previous year and is not a good comparison for the present registration figure, Ramey explained.

Last year's pre-school registration figures showed that 1,227 beginner students would attend the public schools' first grades but the figure jumped approximately 25 per cent during the first week of school, according to Ramey.

Of the total registration reported yesterday, 617 were boys and 631 girls. Education officials said the first grade enrollments have been increasing steadily since shortly after the first years of World War II.

In addition to the 23 first grade enrollments reported recently, figures from schools yesterday included:

School	Total	Girls	Boys
Humbird	40	18	22
Flintstone	44	24	20
Gephart	49	22	27
East Side	63	32	31
Johnson Heights	52	31	21
Pennsylvania Ave.	80	46	34
Mt. Savage	23	9	14
Piney Plains	12	5	7
Pekin	4	2	2
Virginia Ave.	54	30	24
Detmold	17	8	9
Luke	9	5	4
Central	29	15	14

Ramey said the registration at Oldtown, only school that has not filed a registration report, is expected to run between 40 and 45 students for the 1948-1949 term.

Unemployment Is Down Slightly In March Figures

Unemployment registration figures at the local office of the Maryland Employment Service declined 56 in March from the 444 total reported in February, Patrick J. Carroll, manager, said yesterday.

While the unemployment registration figures were off slightly, the office was contacted by 9,729 persons in March, an increase of 2,045 over February.

During March the local office referred 259 persons to job situations and was instrumental in placing 195 in positions. It represented four fewer persons referred to jobs and 17 more placed in positions than during February.

A breakdown of the job placements in March shows that 41 non-veteran males were placed, 76 females and 78 veterans. All were increases over February, according to Carroll.

Of the persons filing unemployment applications, 128 were non-veteran males, 153 females and 107 veterans of World War II. The application figures showed declines in the non-veteran male and veteran columns while the female applications were up 15.

Four handicapped veterans were placed in positions in March while five were given positions in February, Carroll declared.

The employment service's total active file as of March 31 showed a decline of 109 over February when 2,464 persons were registered as seeking employment in Allegany County.

The March total of the active file shows 2,355 persons registered with the breakdown representing 509 non-veteran males, 525 females and 1,321 veterans.

Dr. Frantz is being assisted by Dr. William F. McFarland, assistant city and county health officer.

Temperature Reading

Be sure to take your raincoat or umbrella to work or shopping today, as ye ol' weatherman is predicting lots of cloudiness with widely scattered showers, but being April, anything can happen, and generally does. A high temperature of 73 was recorded Monday and at 10 o'clock last night it had dropped to 49, with a low of the day set at 42 degrees. The light rain? Well, the weatherman says, it didn't rain enough to even bother measuring.
